Walker hits 'frill' college classes

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker Thursday charged Illinois community colleges offer too many "frill courses."

The governor's comments on education and community colleges came during an interview with The Herald.

While the governor said state aid to primary, secondary and higher education will increase next year, he said schools must begin tightening their belts.

"It is a certainty that in 1980 enrollment in colleges and universities will decline," Walker said.

"WE ARE GOING to have to get community colleges to cut back on some of the consumer-type courses they are offering," the governor said.

Walker said he read an advertisement recently for one community college offering a refresher class for pilots on FAA regulations.

"I am troubled by the whole idea of community colleges advertising for students," he said.

Walker said community colleges should be confined to two functions—vocational education and educating students who cannot get into a college anywhere else.

Walker said college administrators are trying to get as many students enrolled as possible so their schools can qualify for additional state aid. He rejected the idea that community colleges are mandated to provide a full complement of consumer-oriented courses.

STATE LAW does not provide funds for all continuing education programs offered by community colleges. Most recreational-type courses do not receive any state aid. Tuition fees paid by students finance the entire cost of the course.

Walker said the time has come for all levels of education to begin altering their programs to adjust to declining enrollments. He also said the state should stop offering mutiple graduate school programs at state universities.

"We don't need to offer the same graduate programs at five or six schools. We should limit it to two schools."

The governor also reacted to charges by Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, who blasted Walker for television commercials he is using describing senior citizens' programs.

WALKER SAID he has provided assistance to senior citizens and that he signed legislation creating the Illinois Dept. on Aging.

"I could have vetoed the program. When I sign a program into law and it is a good program, I believe I am entitled to list it as an accomplishment of my administration," he said.

Hartigan called the Walker ad a "lie". The lieutenant governor has campaigned throughout the state contending he did the groundwork to create the department.

Police mum on vote for Calderwood

by JOE SWICKARD

The Arlington Heights chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police met in an emergency closed-door session Thursday night to discuss the growing controversy surrounding the administration of Police Chief L. W. Calderwood.

A vote of confidence was taken on Calderwood's operation of the department, but the position of the organization will not be revealed until Tuesday's special meeting of the village board, called because of accusations leveled by former police Capt. Jack Aldrich.

"We have taken a position on this but we are going to wait for the trustees," said Patrolman Robert Gerth, president of the local FOP.

IT WAS THE second closed-door meeting held by the FOP in six days to discuss the accusations and the group's possible support of the 72-year-old chief.

The FOP meeting came a day after a "rap session" was held by Calderwood and command officers and about 30 patrolmen.

"It was held just to see what people thought about Aldrich's letter. Many of them hadn't seen it. Nothing earthshaking came out of it," said Capt. Maurice English, one of those who attended the meeting.

"Everybody has been talking about what they've read in the papers. It was to get a better understanding of what Aldrich's letter meant," English said.

LAST WEEK, former Trustee Alice Harms delivered Aldrich's letter to a village board budget hearing. In it, Aldrich, now police chief of Barrington Hills, charged that the department was mismanaged and that Calderwood stifles innovative procedures.

The village board voted this week to call a special meeting to discuss the situation with Aldrich and former Capt. Irvin McDougall, who recently left the department to become police chief of Downstate Mendota.

English said the meeting of the men and the command personnel was designed to help ease "anxiety" resulting from the accusations and pending hearings.

"It was a general get-together to discuss what's going on," he said.

A POLICEMAN who attended the meeting described it as a frank airing of thoughts between the men and their commanders.

Calderwood, according to the policeman, took the opportunity to enumer-

Village finance director foresees water rate hike

by BILL HILL

A hike in Arlington Heights water rates is expected this year because of increased maintenance costs for the village's water system.

Finance Director Kenneth Bonder said Thursday that the village's water operation is "just breaking even" this year.

An audit report last summer first recommended an increase in water rates because water system expenditures last year were $165,000 more than water revenues.

"It could reverse itself this year, but if it doesn't, I will earnestly recommend a water rate increase," Bonder said. He predicted such a recommendaton would not occur before September.

WATER RATES in Arlington Heights last were raised in 1970. Residents now are charged 63 cents per 1,000 gallons, up to 50,000 gallons. At that point, the rate drops to 58 cents per 1,000 gallons.

"Based on what I saw last year, the rate increase may be up to 75 cents (per 1,000 gallons)," Bonder said. "It will depend a lot on this year's audit report."

An increase to 75 cents would be a 19 per cent jump, meaning an average yearly water bill of $60 would increase to $71.40.

"Right now our water revenue only pays for the upkeep of our system. It doesn't generate any additional money to be utilized for capital improvements in the system," Bonder said.

"It's not that we've had an unusual amount of maintenance work done, but the costs of the maintenance have skyrocketed," he said.

ONE ALTERNATIVE now being discussed by the village administration, Bonder said, is a proposal from Public Works Director Gene Willroth to apply a "conservation" fee. Under the proposal, a maximum usage level would be set and an additional fee would be charged to any customer going over that level.

"I'm not convinced that is the best route to go. It's only in a preliminary discussion stage," Bonder said.

"When I do recommend an increase in the water rate, I will definitely recommend that we not have a dual rate again. That, to me, is conservation right there," he said.

Patty, mother break down in tears

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst and her mother both succumbed in tears Thursday as the daughter testified she did not contact her family after months of captivity because "I felt my parents wouldn't want to see me again."

Miss Hearst, whose 22nd birthday is Friday, also said she had changed her mind during her kidnaping about marrying Steven Weed and had not tried to see her former fiance since her arrest.

Under cross examination by U.S. Attorney James L. Browning Jr., the bank robbery defendant went again over her sexual intercourse in a tiny closet with SLA member Wille Wolfe whom she had described in a tape as the love of her life and had said that she had a "strong feeling" for him.

"What type of strong feeling?" asked Browning.

"I couldn't stand him," said Miss Hearst.

Browning started out the morning low key, almost bumbling, but in the afternoon session his questions grew sharper as he went into the change in the heiress after her return to the west coast.

The prosecutor put Miss Hearst in a position where 21 times she claimed — outside jury presence — the Fifth Amendment right against self incrimination when he asked her where she was at the time of an April, 1975, bank robbery in Sacramento in

Truck driver dies in dock accident

A 40-year-old truck driver was crushed to death Thursday morning when he was pinned between his truck and the wall of a loading dock at an Elk Grove Village factory. Dead was Ronald Tucker, 40, of 204 Landmeier Rd., Elk Grove Village. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Alexian Brothers Medical Center, Elk Grove Village. Village firefighters said Tucker, an employe of Midaco Corp., 7650 Nicholas Blvd., was behind the truck when it began to roll, pushing up against the dock.

July 4 racing to be reconsidered?

Arlington Park Race Track may ask the Arlington Heights Village Board to reconsider its rejection of Sunday horse racing for July 4. The board rejected the track's request this week in a 5-to-4 vote, but Trustee Alfred Barboro, who cast the deciding vote, says he may reconsider his vote if track officials can show the July 4 race will tie in with village Bicentennial events. A new state racing law gives communities with race tracks the authority to allow Sunday racing.

Thief takes chief's CB radio

Citizens band radios are stolen just about every day but Wheeling Police Lt. Ronald Nelson has a special interest in the theft of one of them — his. The unit was stolen from Nelson's auto, a 1968 Cadillac that was left in a police station parking lot Wednesday night. The car was locked, and the thieves probably used a coat hanger to get inside, Nelson said.

Explosive device found at school

An explosive device was found in the locker of an Elk Grove Village High School student Thursday morning forcing evacuation of about 2,500 students and faculty members. Police later took the student into custody who reportedly lit a candlewick at the top of the device and placed it into a locker. It burned itself out however before it could detonate, school officials said. The student's name was not released by police.

Stackler should resign: Partee

by United Press International

State Sen. Cecil Partee said Thursday his opponent in the Democratic attorney general primary, Ronald Stackler, should be asked to resign from Gov. Daniel Walker's cabinet.

The feud started Wednesday when Stackler, who is on leave as director of the Dept. of Registration and Education, said he had not disciplined doctors who obtained public aid money through fraud, because he could not get their names from Public Aid Director James Trainor.

Trainor angrily replied Stackler "is a liar."

Partee said Stackler's statement "impugned the integrity" of Trainor and his aides, indicated Stackler "didn't do his job" as director of the department, and said Stackler should be fired.

In other political developments Thursday:

- Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, who is seeking reelection, said Walker is running television commercials on aid to senior citizens "filled with half-truths."
- A poll published in Thursday's editions of the Springfield State Journal-Register showed President Ford leading Ronald Reagan in the GOP presidential preference race in Springfield by a 2-1 margin.

The poll showed 47.7 per cent of GOP voters support for Ford, 22.7 per cent for Reagan, and 29.6 per cent undecided.

- Sec. of State Michael Howlett, who is running against Walker in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, charged state service to the handicapped has deteriorated since Walker took office.

He said the DVR has seriously overspent its budget for the current fiscal year, forcing curtailment of services to some handicapped persons and refusal of service to some qualified new applicants.

Ford downplays primary contest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford arrived in New Hampshire Thursday to appeal for votes in Tuesday's first presidential primary, but aides said he believes "one primary means nothing" in his nomination battle against Ronald Reagan.

The President opened the two-day campaign swing armed with word from his political supporters that he is "closing the gap" against Reagan in New Hampshire and a rosy report on the state of the nation's economy.

Ford, in Keene Thursday night, unleashed his toughest attack to date against Ronald Reagan, saying his rival is advocating that America enter a "backdoor to socialism." Reagan had suggested investing Social Security Funds in the stock market.

Reagan, too, was spending a campaign weekend in New Hampshire, where a primary victory is usually coveted for the early "winner's image" it provides.

Nonetheless, just before Ford left the White House Thursday, press secretary Ron Nessen seemed to take pains to downplay the significance of Tuesday's contest — and, by implication, the significance of a Reagan victory.

"One primary decides nothing," he told reporters, saying Ford views it as but one of 31 election year primaries and feels the press has "exaggerated its importance."

"Whatever happens in that state, there will be others," Nessen said. "It's a long way from now to August," when the GOP nominating convention is held in Kansas City.

He said Ford expects to win the nomination there regardless of the outcome of such early primaries as New Hampshire and Florida, where Reagan is given a good chance for victory.

Asked why Ford was making this 11th hour campaign appearance if he thinks the primary has limited significance, Nessen said, "He is anxious to go up there and appeal for votes."

Nessen said Ford would not make any statements Tuesday evening after the New Hampshire vote has been tabulate, but will wait until the following day to assess the results.

In Concord, meantime, a conservative fundraiser who wants Democrats to have an alternative in New Hampshire's primary launched a $30,000 write-in campaign Thursday for Republican John Connally.

It was expected the write-in effort, which Conally has disavowed, would have an impact Tuesday on both the five-man Democratic race and the head-to-head Republican battle betwen President Ford and Ronald Reagan.

ALMOST NOTHING remained standing in Tecpan, Guatemala following the recent earthquake. Alfredo Juixan, 10, his face streaked with dust, however, sits reading a letter. Behind him is the rubble of his home. His family survived. While they went in search of food, Alfredo was left to guard the family's land. A guard is always placed when families leave their homes — even though it may be only a small area of dust and debris, to make sure no one sets up a new house on their land.

which a woman customer was killed.

Browning planned to go on with cross examination Friday with emphasis on why she fired a machinegun at a Los Angeles sporting goods store to rescue SLA members Emily and William Harris.

Trying his first major criminal case, the tall, courtly Browning at first appeared careful not to give the jury the impression he was browbeating a young woman who had been through a terrible ordeal.

But he forced Miss Hearst to acknowledge that she signed an affidavit shortly after her arrest in which she made numerous false statements about how she was treated during 19 months of captivity.

She admitted it was not ture that she was going insane or that she was in a "fog" from the time of the Hibernia bank robbery until her arrest Sept. 18, 1975.

Browning brought her back to the time when she moved into the San Francisco apartment with Wendy Yoshimura, apart from the Harrises.

"What about your parents?" Browning asked. "Did you contact them during that period of time?"

"No. I felt my parents wouldn't want to see me again."

"Well, did you ever think to try and write them a letter to explain what had happened to you?"

"I just didn't think they'd want to hear it."

"And you didn't telephone, did you?"

"No. I mean, I wouldn't have been allowed to, even if I thought I could have."

"How would the Harrises have known about that, Miss Hearst?"

"Because they would have found out because, I mean, my parents would have given the letter to the FBI."

Browning turned to Steven Weed and brought out that they were planning to be married shortly before she was kidnaped from the apartment they were sharing although they had not set a wedding date.

Browning asked whether at the time of her arrest she still wanted to marry Weed.

"Do I want to marry him now?"

"Did you still want to marry him on the date of your arrest?"

"No."

"So I take it that something happened between the time of your kidnap and the time of your apprehension that caused you to change your mind, is that right?"

"I guess so. I mean I hadn't really thought about it."

Browning asked whether she had seen Weed since her arrest.

"No, I haven't," Patty said.

The prosecutor brought out that Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze, the chief of her abductors, had told her about six weeks after the kidnaping that she had the choice of staying with the SLA or going free.

Miss Hearst said DeFreeze told her that, but it wasn't a choice.

"Why not?"

"Because they wouldn't have let me go."

"How do you know that?"

"Well, I mean, maybe I should have taken a chance."

The prosecutor abruptly changed the line of questioning and asked Miss Hearst where she had been during a period in the fall of 1974 when she was in Las Vegas until her capture in San Francisco in September, 1975.

Bailey objected to her answering the question and the jury was excused.

Meanwhile, in Los Angeles, a jury acquitted an SLA member, Russell Little, of assault and attempted murder against a police officer, and said it was deadlocked on the verdict for another member Joseph Remiro.

The two, who previously were convicted of the murder of Oakland schools Supt. Marcus Foster, were on trial for exchanging gunshots with police in Concord, Calif., when they were arrested in January 1974.

Ford's public works veto upheld

President Ford scored another victory on Capitol Hill Thursday as Congress upheld his veto of a $6.2 billion public works bill which Democrats said would create more than 600,000 jobs but which Ford called an election-year "hoax." The House voted 319 to 98 to override his veto, 41 more than the two-thirds necessary. But later in the afternoon the Senate upheld the veto. An override of a veto requires a two-thirds majorities of those present and voting in both houses.

Gulf pleads guilty to pricing violations

Gulf Oil Corp. has pleaded guilty to four counts of deliberately violating government oil price regulations, the Federal Energy Administration said Thursday. An FEA spokesman said U.S. District Judge Daniel Snyder in Pittsburgh, who accepted Gulf's guilty plea, imposed a maximum $20,000 criminal fine on the firm. Gulf was the first oil company to be criminally indicted and fined for such violations.

Economic recovery going well: Greenspan

Alan Greenspan, President Ford's top economic adviser said Thursday the nation's economic recovery is going well with joblessness and inflation on the decline. "While unemployment remains exceptionally high and there is a substantial way to go," more jobs were opening up than the economic experts predicted, he said.

Meantime, the Agriculture Department reported food prices this year will rise at the slowest rate in four years. The forecast said: "Larger supplies of many crop and livestock items are slowing the rise in retail food prices."

Lawmakers clash on cigaret health tax

Sponsors of a proposed health tax on cigarettes clashed Thursday with senators from tobacco-growing states over whether the levy would safeguard the American people's health or simply drive growers off the land. "I want to make it very clear," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., "we're not interested in putting those farmers out of business. What we are interested in is having them grow safe tobacco." But opponents said the impact of the tax would drive tobacco growers out of business and result in damage to economies of tobacco-producing states.

Golda Meir closes Conference on Jewry

Former Israeli Premier Golda Meir closed the World Conference on Soviet Jewry Thursday with an emotional warning to the Soviet Union that Jews "will be free" and compared the struggle of Soviet Jews to emigrate to the biblical Exodus of Jews from Egypt. A final declaration by the conference demanded that the Kremlin "end the campaign of antisemitism" and free its Jews to emigrate to Israel. "We want Jews in the Soviet Union to be masters of their own fate," Mrs. Meir told the final session.

IRA accuses Ireland of 'body snatching'

Ireland diverted a plane carrying the remains of an IRA hunger striker who died in jail from Dublin to Shannon Thursday in an attempt to block a martyr's funeral for him. The IRA accused the government of "body snatching." A group of IRA leaders waited in vain in Dublin to hold an emotional reception for Frank Stagg's flag-draped coffin. Similar to great flu of 1918

Unique virus found in New Jersey

ATLANTA (UPI) — Discovery of a uniquely different influenza virus with characteristics possibly similar to the strain that caused the great flu pandemic of 1918 was announced Thursday by the national Center for Disease Control.

The virus was found during a routine medical investigation of a moderate influenza outbreak last week at Ft. Dix, N. J. Two strains of flu were found. CDC officials said the prevalent A-Victoria type was identified in seven ill military personnel. Four other cases had antigenic characteristics of swine influenza virus, one of which proved fatal, the CDC said.

Symptoms of the three surving Ft. Dix A-swine flu victims were "quite characteristic of flu as we know it," a CDC spokesman said.

Dr. Colette Rasmussen, chief of preventive medicine for the Cook County public health department, said the swine influenca virus has not turned up in the Chicago area.

"The only thing isolated so far is the A-Victoria type," she said.

The CDC said some of the earliest viruses studied had swine characteristics and added, "It has been speculated that viruses of the 1920s and perhaps before were similar."

It said the 1918-19 pandemic "has been a special topic of conjecture because of its high mortality and unusual characteristics." But it added there is no way to be sure whether the swine-type virus was associated with that killer outbreak.

The so-called Spanish flu, that broke out in October, 1918, in this country, took and estimated 20 million lives around the world and caused 500 thousand deaths in the United States.

The concern of the U. S. Public Health Service over the New Jersey findings was underscored by the fact that top officials of the CDC called simultaneous news conferences in Washington and Atlanta to discuss the new swine-type of virus.

"Although the swine-type virus has been found in swine for many years," the CDC said, "this is the first time to our knowledge that it has been associated with an outbreak of influenza in the human population in the United States."

Health officials said it was possible the cluster of cases at Ft. Dix "represent little more than a curiosity. Nevertheless, the findings require careful evaluation and special investigation."

The current outbreak of A-Victoria influenza, meanwhile, was causing its own problems across the nation. The CDC said influenza and pneumonia deaths in 121 major U. S. cities had exceeded the epidemic threshold last week, primarily because of widescale outbreaks in the New England and Middle Atlantic regions.

In Baltimore, Md., Dr. Edward A. Hopf, director of communicable diseases, said the outbreak in that area was the worst in the past 10 years.

He said absentee rates at several Baltimore County schools ranged up to 25 per cent and the system's overall rate was more than double the normal five per cent.

FBI probes bribes of congressmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two congressmen confirmed Thursday the FBI is investigating allegations that they and some other House members took bribes from the South Korean government. Both congressmen denied any wrongdoing.

Reps. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., and Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N. Y., confirmed to the UPI through aides that they talked with Deputy Attorney General Harold R. Tyler, Jr., and he told them the investigation involves them, among "several" members of Congress.

The congressmen's aides said they knew no details of the investigation. But it was speculated the allegations could relate to trade with South Korea, or to military sales from the United States to South Korea.

The Washington Post told of the investigation in Thursday's editions. Addabbo and Leggett said the Post reporter, Maxine Cheshire, told them of the allegations and they called Tyler.

Leggett said Tyler told him the FBI was "pursuing a general investigation of Leggett and several other members of Congress, that Justice recognized the defamatory effect of the publication of the allegations and would attempt to conclude its probe shortly."

The Post said the allegations are that the men accepted "less than $10,000 each."

Leggett told UPI, "Maxine Cheshire is in large part full of hot air."

Leggett said he has "attempted to be a constructive critic of Korea for many years and has urged American troop withdrawals." He said he has "long been interested in sales of rice from his California district to Korea," and that he is aware of "competing factions in Washington" who could be the sources of the "groundless accusations published today."

Leggett said, "The story is woven out of whole cloth. It is untrue in every respect. I am addressing myself of course to the allegation of bribery."

Addabbo said, "No member of Congress likes to have his name linked with allegations of wrongdoing, and I am certainly no exception . . ."

If Gov. Daniel Walker wins reelection in November it won't be on the votes of board members, administrators and teachers in Illinois schools.

The hatchet man, as Walker is being affectionately referred to, has again dropped his ax on school finances and the result is less state aid for schools this spring.

Administrators learned in the last few days that they are not going to get state reimbursement for last year's summer school programs. Well, technically they will be reimbursed — but the money will be deducted from their regular state-aid payments.

SCHOOL PEOPLE are confused and angry. They expected to get their summer school reimbursement over and above their state-aid payments.

For example, Mythical School Dist. 100 was going to get $500,000 in state aid this year. It also expected to get $50,000 for summer school — money that had already been spent last summer. Instead of winding up this June with $550,000, they will only have $500,000.

Fred Bradshaw, finance director for the Illinois Office of Education, said school districts are getting summer school money and their state-aid entitlement. He said the legislature appropriated only so much money for education and each district should have expected "X" amount of money for all funds.

Not so, say local administrators. They maintain that summer school reimbursement has never been handled this way, that they were not aware it would be handled this way and that they may have to charge students the full amount it costs to run summer school so they don't have to rely on the state for funding.

THESE LITTLE surprises in school financing are giving district business managers ulcers.

This school year they have had to cope with Walker's cut in state aid, Walker's cut in special education funding (also money that already has been spent), the summer school funding, inflation and projected budget deficits. Add to this the reality that they are now settling down to prepare next year's budget without the faintest idea of what the governor has in store for them as far as financing in the 1976-77 school year.

Ask your local board member, administrator or teacher who they're going to vote for in November. Let me know if you hear Walker's name mentioned.

Stocks set mark as Dow finishes with 9.52 gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — A rally fueled by optimistic economic forecasts swept prices broadly higher Thursday in the heaviest trading session in New York Stock Exchange history: By the second hour, 1976 volume had surpassed the one-billion mark at the earliest date on record.

Volume totaled 39,210,000 shares, eclipsing the previous daily high set Jan. 30, 1976 when 38,508,470 shares changed hands. Volume so far this year is 1.025 billion shares, the earliest this level has been reached. Last year, volume didn't top the one-billion mark until March 10, the previous year-to-date record. Volume Wednesday was 29,900,000 shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 9.52 points Wednesday to break a three-day losing streak, closed ahead 15.67 to 975.76.

ADVANCES HELD A commanding lead over declines, 1,266 to 365, while 290 were unchanged, among the 1,921 issues crossing the tape.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose 1.56 to 101.41 and the NYSE common stock index 0.87 to 54.26. The average price of a Big Board common share gained 55 cents.

The buying wave was ignited Wednesday when American Telephone & Telegraph, whose stock is the most widely held in the nation, raised its quarterly dividend to 95 cents a share from 85 cents. The company said its action was based on confidence in the economic recovery and the outlook for the utility's business.

The rally gained momentum Thursday after the Business Council consultants predicted a 25 per cent increase in pre-tax corporate profits this year, a drop in inflation to between 6 and 6½ per cent, and lower unemployment to around the 7 per cent mark by year-end.

IN WASHINGTON, chief White House economic adviser Alan Greenspan told President Ford and his cabinet the economic rebound was "fairly solid" with both inflation and unemployment on the wane.

Pan American World Airways led the Big Board actives, off ¼ to 7¼ on 447,300 shares.

Prices closed sharply higher in the fourth heaviest trading in American Stock Exchange history. Volume amounted to 7,584,000 shares, compared with 5,131,000 shares Wednesday. The average price of an Amex common share rose 19 cents.

Barboro may change vote on July 4 horse racing

by JOE SWICKARD

Arlington Heights Trustee Alfred Barboro Jr. said Thursday he will reconsider his negative, deciding vote against July 4 racing at Arlington Park Race Track if race track officials justify the request based on Bicentennial observance.

Arlington Park officials are considering reapplying for the Sunday, July 4 racing because track spokesman Thomas Rivera said the board's denial "all happened so quickly they may not have had the time to consider it."

Barboro, who cast the deciding vote, is a newly-appointed trustee and the vote was taken at his first board meeting. He replaced Alice Harms, who resigned.

THE BOARD rejected the application Monday in a series of 5-4 votes. The unorthodox procedure had the trustees vote against denying the track's petition, then vote against tabling it and finally voting against approving it.

Trustee Alfred Barboro Jr., cast the decisive negative vote after first voting against denying them the date.

Rivera said the track may poll the trustees to see if the matter should be brought before them again, but cautioned, "It's all nebulous at this point."

The track is seeking the Sunday date as part of the Bicentennial celebration with bands and picnic areas. Rivera told the board the track had been negotiating with CBS television for broadcasting rights to the race, the American Derby.

Barboro said, "I'm perfectly willing to reconsider on the basis of the Bicentennial aspects. It has to be justified in those terms."

HE SAID THE additional tax revenues from the extra day of racing would not be of sufficient merit to justify it.

The village can lefy a 10-cents-a-head admission tax on track patrons. It has been estimated the track would generate $3,500 for the village from the Independence Day race.

Trustee Frank Palmatier, who voted against granting the date, said, "At the moment I am still opposed to it, but I will consider anything they have to say."

He said residents living near the track are against the Sunday racing date, and their feelings are unlikely to change.

"The civic associations have already expressed opposition. I would expect that feeling to be intensified rather than diminished," Palmatier said of a rehearing of the question.

VILLAGE PRES. James T. Ryan said he was unaware of the track's possible repetitioning for the date, but said, "If I had to vote on the same set of facts, I would probably vote the same way (in favor of it)."

Ryan said the granting of the July 4 date would not open the door for other Sunday races.

"I clearly believe if we properly set up an agreement there is no way in the world it could be used as a precedent for future Sunday racing," he said.

Under state law, Arlington Park could be granted the Sunday date by a public referendum. However, Rivera said it is unlikely the track would take that step.

'Harvey' debut at Arlington High

A 6 foot, 1½ inch rabbit is the invisible star of an Arlington High School play this month.

"Harvey" will be presented Friday and Saturday and again on Feb. 27 and 28 at 8 p.m. in the school's Bristol Theatre, 502 W. Euclid St., Arlington Heights.

The comedy revolves around a middle-aged man whose best friend is the invisible rabbit Harvey.

Tickets are $1.50 for students and $2 for adults. Lyovonne Trad is directing the production, assisted by Thomas Fiel, technical director.

For April 10 election

Dist. 21 caucus endorses three

Incumbent board member Barbara Farr and newcomers Elaine Bond and Fred Harms have been endorsed for the April 10 school board election by the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 General Caucus.

The three, endorsed from a slate of seven applicants, will run for three available board seats now held by Mrs. Farr, Steven Greenberg and Kenneth Rodeck. Rodeck, currently board president, did not seek caucus endorsement but intends to run for another three-year term.

Greenberg, 35, of 3138 Wilshire Ln., Arlington Heights, a caucus endorsed-candidate in 1973 in his first run for the board, failed to gain caucus approval this time.

"GREENBERG DID NOT get the caucus endorsement primarily because of his absentee recored as a board member," James Gartner, caucus president, said Thursday.

Caucus figures show Greenberg has been absent from board meetings nine times out of 22 meetings in 1974 and five times out of 22 meetings in 1975. Caucus members also objected to the number of times Greenberg has been tardy to board meetings he did attend.

Two other caucus candidates who were not endorsed, Linda Sprechman, 30, of 318 W. Hackberry Ln., Arlington Heights, and Barbara Floyd, 36, of 923 Greenridge Rd., Buffalo Grove, say they will run as independents. Herbert Kessel, 3127 N. Wilshire Ln., Arlington Heights, another caucus candidate who did not receive endorsement, said he will not run for a board seat.

Mrs. Farr, 48, of 60 E. Jeffery Ave., Wheeling, has served on the school board six months since her appointment to the vacancy created by Edwin Smith's resignation. A history professor at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle, she feels there is a need for better education in elementary schools.

MRS. FARR FAVORS reemphasizing the basics — reading, writing, arithmetic — in education. To head off an impending $1 million deficit in Dist. 21 next year, Mrs. Farr advocates eliminating non-education items first.

Mrs. Bond, 39, 810 W. Tanglewood Dr., Arlington Heights, is a business teacher at Forest View High School. She has been active in Poe School activities. She stresses individualized instruction in the schools and the hiring of more experienced teachers.

Harms, 30, of 207 E. Hackberry Dr., Arlington Heights, is vice president-management consultant of an executive search firm. Harms was not present at this week's final caucus endorsement session, but said in a letter that he believes parents should dictate the needs of the schools.

The caucus plans to campaign for its three endorsed candidates, said William Engebretson, chairman of the caucus campaign committee. Engebretson said he hopes to meet with the candidates over the weekend to plan the campaign.

Cops mum on vote for Calderwood

ate innovations he has brought to the force during his 18 years of command.

Among those innovations were the area's first juvenile bureau, introduction of the Central Dispatch System and recent increased participation of the rank-and-file in departmental decision making.

THE MAJOR ROLE played by the FOP in preparing the department's budget requests for the upcoming fiscal year was used as an example of increased "blue shirt" (patrolman) involvement.

The meeting, lasting more than two hours and attended by more than half the members of the 80-member force, is only the second one of its kind.

A similar open question-and-answer meeting was held several years ago with Village Finance Director Kenneth Bonder to explain budgetary considerations and priorities.

English said the meeting Wednesday was successful.

"ANYTIME PEOPLE can discuss things like that it's helpful. Even if you don't agree with a person, you gain a better understanding of that person's viewpoint," he said.

Calderwood reportedly restated his open-door policy and willingness to listen to problems and complaints from patrolmen.

In his letter to the village board, Aldrich said morale in the department "is at the lowest ebb in 24 years."

He said he resigned "because of a frustration about the indirection of the agency."

Officials to rule in March on Civil Defense funding

A decision on funding the Arlington Heights Civil Defense unit will be made next month.

The decision should be made by the village board before the 1976-77 budget is approved, Village Pres. James T. Ryan said at a meeting Thursday between village and Civil Defense officials.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said the budget is scheduled for board approval either March 15 or April 5.

THE CIVIL DEFENSE unit did gain some ground Thursday in its uphill battle with the village administration to gain village funding when Ryan directed the administration to develop three disaster plans with varying degrees of funding for the Civil Defense.

"I think we can utilize some of the volunteer personnel from the Civil Defense, but it's a matter of cost-ratio benefit," Ryan said. "Each of these three alternatives should be optimum plans with alternate budget situations. The village board then can make value judgments," he said.

Thursday's meeting was called because of complaints from Jack Sayles, head of the Civil Defense radio volunteers, that the lack of village funding would cause the group to discontinue such activities as tornado watch networks.

The village's Civil Defense program lost its state accreditation a year ago because it had not updated its disaster plan. Alternative programs have since been discussed by administrative officials.

THE ROLE THAT Civil Defense volunteers should have in the village's disaster plans is a matter of priorities and budgetary considerations, Assistant Village Mgr. Frank Charlton said.

"Right now we are looking at our present capabilities within our own organization, plus our mutual aid agreements," Charlton said.

The village does not need an accredited Civil Defense unit, but only a disaster plan, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said. "We don't really need another agency involved."

"There is such a thing as having too much help," Charlton said.

Fire Chief John Hayden agreed, saying "my biggest concern is how to control volunteers."

SAYLES ARGUED that the village should work to integrate them into the system. "Civil Defense is not a bunch of ambulance chasers in white hats; it is village government in operation. The administration needs to coordinate these volunteers, because inevitably they are going to be needed," he said.

Sayles submitted budget requests totaling $3,540. Most of the funds were requested to repair the units' radio equipment and weather teletype machines needed for the group's tornado watch network.

For the past three years, all equipment and repairs have been paid for with private funds, Sayles said.

"Because no funds have been made available, the group has dwindled. If none are available this year, there will be no volunteers," he said.

Slide show Sunday at public library

A free sound and slide show on Greece, Israel and Egypt will be presented at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 N. Dunton St.

The hosts of the presentation will be George Makas, head of Harper College's music department, and his wife, Jean.

Society to donate state flag to Alamo

The Arlington Heights Historical Society is donating an Illinois flag to the Alamo to commemorate Jonathan Lindley.

Lindley was the only man from Illinois to die for the Texas Republic at the Alamo in 1836. The society honored him this summer.

Presenting the state flag will be Barbara Dee Wilson, a senior at Forest View High School, and Kevin Young of Arlington Heights, now attending college in Texas. The flag was donated by State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, and Robert Teichert, Mount Prospect village president.

Scouting news

Boy Scout Troop 166 will have a scrap paper drive Saturday in an area bounded by Arlington Heights Road on the west, Palatine Road on the north, Waterman Avenue on the east and Northwest Highway on the south.

For special pickup of large quantities of papers or if curbside bundles are missed, call 255-0895 or 253-4624.

Proceeds from the sale of the paper will be used for various scouting projects, including trips to a summer camp in Wisconsin.

Stress workshop starts for parents

A self-image counseling workshop for parents of teenagers has been started by the Arlington Heights Counseling Center, a division of Omni-House: Youth Services Bureau.

The workshop is conducted on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. A commitment of 10 weeks at a fee of $50 is requested.

The purpose of the workshop is to improve self-image and reduce anxiety during stress situations caused by teenagers.

Workshop leaders are Lee Schaefer and Russell Getz.

For more information, call 255-4767 or 398-2439.

Fur, jewelry theft under investigation

Arlington Heights police are investigating a burglary in which about $520 worth of items was reported stolen Monday night from the Adonna Anderson apartment, 1215 N. Waterman Ave.

Reported taken were a rabbit coat, an opal ring and a gold chain necklace with an opal, police said.

No signs of forced entry to the apartment could be found, police reported.

Meyers to study in England

Patricia B. Meyers, a Michigan State University sophomore from Arington Heights, will land in London, England, next month to continue her studies.

A retailing major, Miss Meyers will study English humanities and society along with some 50 other MSU students.

The classes will last 10 weeks, from March through June.

Miss Meyers is the daughter of Kenneth W. Meyers, 115 S. Kaspar.

ARE GETTING STRICTER

Time was when things were fairly simple. Your doctor examined you, determined what was wrong and gave you a prescription to bring to your pharmacist to be compounded.

Nowadays it is getting more complicated to fill prescriptions. Such terms as Bioavailability, adverse drug reactions and patient medication profiles have come into the picture. Then, in addition, there are many new labeling requirements, special containers, and in a large number of cases complex paper work. The time our pharmacists save in preparing a prescription is more than taken up by all the new requirements they have to follow.

"HARVEY," AN AMERICAN comedy, will be presented by Arlington High School today, Saturday and Feb. 27-28 at 8 p.m. in the Bristol Theater, 502 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights. Elwood P. Dowd, played by Rick Mensch, gets advice from Dr. Sanderson, played by Chris Carpenter, and Nurse Kelly, played by Beth Martin, about his best friend Harvey, the 6-foot rabbit who is only visible to him.

Barboro may change vote on July 4 horse racing

by JOE SWICKARD

Arlington Heights Trustee Alfred Barboro Jr. said Thursday he will reconsider his negative, deciding vote against July 4 racing at Arlington Park Race Track if race track officials justify the request based on Bicentennial observance.

Arlington Park officials are considering reapplying for the Sunday, July 4 racing because track spokesman Thomas Rivera said the board's denial "all happened so quickly they may not have had the time to consider it."

Barboro, who cast the deciding vote, is a newly-appointed trustee and the vote was taken at his first board meeting. He replaced Alice Harms, who resigned.

THE BOARD rejected the application Monday in a series of 5-4 votes. The unorthodox procedure had the trustees vote against denying the track's petition, then vote against tabling it and finally voting against approving it.

Trustee Alfred Barboro Jr., cast the decisive negative vote after first voting against denying them the date.

Rivera said the track may poll the trustees to see if the matter should be brought before them again, but cautioned, "It's all nebulous at this point."

The track is seeking the Sunday date as part of the Bicentennial celebration with bands and picnic areas. Rivera told the board the track had been negotiating with CBS television for broadcasting rights to the race, the American Derby.

Barboro said, "I'm perfectly willing to reconsider on the basis of the Bicentennial aspects. It has to be justified in those terms."

HE SAID THE additional tax revenues from the extra day of racing would not be of sufficient merit to justify it.

The village can lefy a 10-cents-a-head admission tax on track patrons. It has been estimated the track would generate $3,500 for the village from the Independence Day race.

Trustee Frank Palmatier, who voted against granting the date, said, "At the moment I am still opposed to it, but I will consider anything they have to say."

He said residents living near the track are against the Sunday racing date, and their feelings are unlikely to change.

"The civic associations have already expressed opposition. I would expect that feeling to be intensified rather than diminished," Palmatier said of a rehearing of the question.

VILLAGE PRES. James T. Ryan said he was unaware of the track's possible repetitioning for the date, but said, "If I had to vote on the same set of facts, I would probably vote the same way (in favor of it)."

Ryan said the granting of the July 4 date would not open the door for other Sunday races.

"I clearly believe if we properly set up an agreement there is no way in the world it could be used as a precedent for future Sunday racing," he said.

Under state law, Arlington Park could be granted the Sunday date by a public referendum. However, Rivera said it is unlikely the track would take that step.

'Harvey' debut at Arlington High

A 6 foot, 1½ inch rabbit is the invisible star of an Arlington High School play this month.

"Harvey" will be presented Friday and Saturday and again on Feb. 27 and 28 at 8 p.m. in the school's Bristol Theatre, 502 W. Euclid St., Arlington Heights.

The comedy revolves around a middle-aged man whose best friend is the invisible rabbit Harvey.

Tickets are $1.50 for students and $2 for adults. Lyovonne Trad is directing the production, assisted by Thomas Fiel, technical director.

Fur, jewelry theft under investigation

Arlington Heights police are investigating a burglary in which about $520 worth of items was reported stolen Monday night from the Adonna Anderson apartment, 1215 N. Waterman Ave.

Reported taken were a rabbit coat, an opal ring and a gold chain necklace with an opal, police said.

No signs of forced entry to the apartment could be found, police reported.

Meyers to study in England

Patricia B. Meyers, a Michigan State University sophomore from Arington Heights, will land in London, England, next month to continue her studies.

A retailing major, Miss Meyers will study English humanities and society along with some 50 other MSU students.

The classes will last 10 weeks, from March through June.

Miss Meyers is the daughter of Kenneth W. Meyers, 115 S. Kaspar.

For April 10 election

Dist. 21 caucus endorses three

Incumbent board member Barbara Farr and newcomers Elaine Bond and Fred Harms have been endorsed for the April 10 school board election by the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 General Caucus.

The three, endorsed from a slate of seven applicants, will run for three available board seats now held by Mrs. Farr, Steven Greenberg and Kenneth Rodeck. Rodeck, currently board president, did not seek caucus endorsement but intends to run for another three-year term.

Greenberg, 35, of 3138 Wilshire Ln., Arlington Heights, a caucus endorsed-candidate in 1973 in his first run for the board, failed to gain caucus approval this time.

"GREENBERG DID NOT get the caucus endorsement primarily because of his absentee recored as a board member," James Gartner, caucus president, said Thursday.

Caucus figures show Greenberg has been absent from board meetings nine times out of 22 meetings in 1974 and five times out of 22 meetings in 1975. Caucus members also objected to the number of times Greenberg has been tardy to board meetings he did attend.

Two other caucus candidates who were not endorsed, Linda Sprechman, 30, of 318 W. Hackberry Ln., Arlington Heights, and Barbara Floyd, 36, of 923 Greenridge Rd., Buffalo Grove, say they will run as independents. Herbert Kessel, 3127 N. Wilshire Ln., Arlington Heights, another caucus candidate who did not receive endorsement, said he will not run for a board seat.

Mrs. Farr, 48, of 60 E. Jeffery Ave., Wheeling, has served on the school board six months since her appointment to the vacancy created by Edwin Smith's resignation. A history professor at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle, she feels there is a need for better education in elementary schools.

MRS. FARR FAVORS reemphasizing the basics — reading, writing, arithmetic — in education. To head off an impending $1 million deficit in Dist. 21 next year, Mrs. Farr advocates eliminating non-education items first.

Mrs. Bond, 39, 810 W. Tanglewood Dr., Arlington Heights, is a business teacher at Forest View High School. She has been active in Poe School activities. She stresses individualized instruction in the schools and the hiring of more experienced teachers.

Harms, 30, of 207 E. Hackberry Dr., Arlington Heights, is vice president-management consultant of an executive search firm. Harms was not present at this week's final caucus endorsement session, but said in a letter that he believes parents should dictate the needs of the schools.

The caucus plans to campaign for its three endorsed candidates, said William Engebretson, chairman of the caucus campaign committee. Engebretson said he hopes to meet with the candidates over the weekend to plan the campaign.

Scouting news

Boy Scout Troop 166 will have a scrap paper drive Saturday in an area bounded by Arlington Heights Road on the west, Palatine Road on the north, Waterman Avenue on the east and Northwest Highway on the south.

For special pickup of large quantities of papers or if curbside bundles are missed, call 255-0895 or 253-4624.

Proceeds from the sale of the paper will be used for various scouting projects, including trips to a summer camp in Wisconsin.

ate innovations he has brought to the force during his 18 years of command.

Among those innovations were the area's first juvenile bureau, introduction of the Central Dispatch System and recent increased participation of the rank-and-file in departmental decision making.

THE MAJOR ROLE played by the FOP in preparing the department's budget requests for the upcoming fiscal year was used as an example of increased "blue shirt" (patrolman) involvement.

The meeting, lasting more than two hours and attended by more than half the members of the 80-member force, is only the second one of its kind.

A similar open question-and-answer meeting was held several years ago with Village Finance Director Kenneth Bonder to explain budgetary considerations and priorities.

English said the meeting Wednesday was successful.

"ANYTIME PEOPLE can discuss things like that it's helpful. Even if you don't agree with a person, you gain a better understanding of that person's viewpoint," he said.

Calderwood reportedly restated his open-door policy and willingness to listen to problems and complaints from patrolmen.

In his letter to the village board, Aldrich said morale in the department "is at the lowest ebb in 24 years."

He said he resigned "because of a frustration about the indirection of the agency."

Officials to rule in March on Civil Defense funding

A decision on funding the Arlington Heights Civil Defense unit will be made next month.

The decision should be made by the village board before the 1976-77 budget is approved, Village Pres. James T. Ryan said at a meeting Thursday between village and Civil Defense officials.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said the budget is scheduled for board approval either March 15 or April 5.

THE CIVIL DEFENSE unit did gain some ground Thursday in its uphill battle with the village administration to gain village funding when Ryan directed the administration to develop three disaster plans with varying degrees of funding for the Civil Defense.

"I think we can utilize some of the volunteer personnel from the Civil Defense, but it's a matter of cost-ratio benefit," Ryan said. "Each of these three alternatives should be optimum plans with alternate budget situations. The village board then can make value judgments," he said.

Thursday's meeting was called because of complaints from Jack Sayles, head of the Civil Defense radio volunteers, that the lack of village funding would cause the group to discontinue such activities as tornado watch networks.

The village's Civil Defense program lost its state accreditation a year ago because it had not updated its disaster plan. Alternative programs have since been discussed by administrative officials.

THE ROLE THAT Civil Defense volunteers should have in the village's disaster plans is a matter of priorities and budgetary considerations, Assistant Village Mgr. Frank Charlton said.

"Right now we are looking at our present capabilities within our own organization, plus our mutual aid agreements," Charlton said.

The village does not need an accredited Civil Defense unit, but only a disaster plan, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said. "We don't really need another agency involved."

"There is such a thing as having too much help," Charlton said.

Fire Chief John Hayden agreed, saying "my biggest concern is how to control volunteers."

SAYLES ARGUED that the village should work to integrate them into the system. "Civil Defense is not a bunch of ambulance chasers in white hats; it is village government in operation. The administration needs to coordinate these volunteers, because inevitably they are going to be needed," he said.

Sayles submitted budget requests totaling $3,540. Most of the funds were requested to repair the units' radio equipment and weather teletype machines needed for the group's tornado watch network.

For the past three years, all equipment and repairs have been paid for with private funds, Sayles said.

"Because no funds have been made available, the group has dwindled. If none are available this year, there will be no volunteers," he said.

Slide show Sunday at public library

A free sound and slide show on Greece, Israel and Egypt will be presented at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 N. Dunton St.

The hosts of the presentation will be George Makas, head of Harper College's music department, and his wife, Jean.

Society to donate state flag to Alamo

The Arlington Heights Historical Society is donating an Illinois flag to the Alamo to commemorate Jonathan Lindley.

Lindley was the only man from Illinois to die for the Texas Republic at the Alamo in 1836. The society honored him this summer.

Presenting the state flag will be Barbara Dee Wilson, a senior at Forest View High School, and Kevin Young of Arlington Heights, now attending college in Texas. The flag was donated by State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, and Robert Teichert, Mount Prospect village president.

Stress workshop starts for parents

A self-image counseling workshop for parents of teenagers has been started by the Arlington Heights Counseling Center, a division of Omni-House: Youth Services Bureau.

The workshop is conducted on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. A commitment of 10 weeks at a fee of $50 is requested.

The purpose of the workshop is to improve self-image and reduce anxiety during stress situations caused by teenagers.

Workshop leaders are Lee Schaefer and Russell Getz.

PRESCRIPTION REGULATIONS
ARE GETTING STRICTER
Time was when things were fairly simple. Your doctor examined you, determined what was wrong and gave you a prescription to bring to your pharmacist to be compounded.
Nowadays it is getting more complicated to fill prescriptions. Such terms as Bioavailability, adverse drug reactions and patient medication profiles have come into the picture. Then, in addition, there are many new labeling requirements, special containers, and in a large number of cases complex paper work. The time our pharmacists save in preparing a prescription is more than taken up by all the new requirements they have to follow.
A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Hypoglycemia might not be her trouble

I have low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). The first doctor I went to says I'll never be completely cured, but my symptoms would become less severe. I've just gone to another doctor who says it can be cured. Who am I to believe?

The first 5-hour test showed blood sugar levels at 60 and the second test at 75 which I was told was in the normal range.

Am I cured or just under control? I also suffered from numbness first starting in my upper lip and spreading to my hands and feet until my whole body was numb, but I never fainted. Was this hyperventilation or was it caused by the insulin level being too high at that time? My big attacks only happened when I was driving. The first doctor said I should see a psychiatrist. Will this help?

Also, I have heard that hypoglycemia is not a diagnosis, but a condition. There are three different types of low blood sugar and I have the functional type. Why didn't my doctors find the cause? I would appreciate any literature on the subject you might advise me to read.

First things first. I'm not at all sure you ever had hypoglycemia. A report in the New England Journal of Medicine in 1974 pointed out that 23 per cent of a normal population had blood glucose levels below 50 and had no symptoms at all. Other studies note that 42 per cent of normal people have such levels and values as low as 34 and 37 have been noted by several different investigators in perfectly normal people with no symptoms whatsover of low blood sugar.

Your value of 60 doesn't impress me. No diagnosis of low blood sugar or hypoglycemia should be made unless the low blood sugar can be demonstrated at the time symptoms are observed and the symptoms can be corrected by raising the blood sugar. Anxiety and hyperventilation (which may be caused by anxiety) cause symptoms similar to those noted in hypoglycemia. That is probably why the first doctor suggested that you see a psychiatrist. If you have anxiety, that would not be a bad idea, not to cure low blood sugar problems but for the proper treatment of anxiety.

For more information on low blood sugar send 50 cents for The Health Letter, Number 3-9 Low Blood Sugar; Hypoglycemia. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551 Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WHETHER OR NOT you cure low blood sugar depends on if you have it in the first place and what causes it. If it is caused by a tumor of the pancreas producing too much insulin, removal of the tumor cures it. If low blood sugar is a response to diet and rapid emptying of the stomach, a proper diet may control it.

The problem with blood glucose values is that they do not give information on the levels of glucose inside the body cells, particularly the vital brain cells. The blood sugar may be high and the level inside the cells low, causing symptoms. This can happen to a diabetic. Insulin helps transport glucose into the cells. Without enough insulin the blood sugar may go up and the amount inside the cells go down.

On the other hand if the sugar is so low that not much is getting into the cells, you will have the same problem. This is why diabetics and people with significant low blood glucose often have the same symptoms, such as fatigue. Energy comes from the breakdown of glucose inside the cells not in the blood stream. If the cell level is low from any cause, the person will be tired.

How to remove stain from oiled furniture

Dear Dorothy: You've had many queries on how to get stains off wood furniture but I've never seen a question on how to get a stain off furniture that has an oiled finish. Do you have an answer for such a mark? — Pat Adam

Louie Misiano, the best refinisher I know about, says that if it's a milky white stain, it should be sponged with a cotton ball, dampened with household alcohol with all the excess squeezed out. After sponging, count four seconds and sponge again. Follow this routine until the whole area has the same coloring.

If all turns out well, you can give it the regular boiled linseed oil treatment. If the treatment does not work, you'll have to have a professional work on the stain. For those who do not know about boiled linseed oil, one buys it that way — pretreated at the factory.

Dear Dorothy: Reading about the person who rinsed out coffee filters to get double use out of them, we thought, we'd tell you what we do. While abroad, we found paper filters scarce, expensive and hard to find in the right size. So we cut good grade white cloth ones a little larger so as to drop a bit over the cone edge and found they work fine. Rinse soon after use and launder as you would any white cloth — using no bleach. — Laura and Stan Johnstone

Dear Dorothy: Reading about the person who rinsed out coffee filters to get double use out of them, we thought, we'd tell you what we do. While abroad, we found paper filters scarce, expensive and hard to find in the right size. So we cut good grade white cloth ones a little larger so as to drop a bit over the cone edge and found they work fine. Rinse soon after use and launder as you would any white cloth — using no bleach. — Laura and Stan Johnstone

Palos Hills Forest Preserve

Radiation found in well water

by KURT BAER

Low Levels of radiation have been detected in well water at the Palos Hills Forest Preserve near a site where radioactive material from the World War II Manhattan Project is buried.

The Energy Research and Development Administration will conduct tests to determine if the tritium, a radioactive form of hydrogen, that has been found in the water is coming from the burial dump.

ERDA officials say the radiation levels are not dangerous. The maximum level was less than 2 per cent of the federal safety limit for drinking water, they say.

ARTHUR L. JANURA, general superintendent of the Cook County Forest Preserve District, said Thursday he approves of the tests and is confident that the radiation is not hazardous.

There are no plans to close off the burial area, or discontinue use of the wells because of the radiation readings, he said. Low-level radioactivity also has been found in soil samples.

The Palos Hills Forest Preserve is located south of the Tri-State Tollway at U.S. Rte. 45.

Scientists from the Argonne National Laboratory will conduct the tests aimed at determining whether the buried radioactive material is the source of the radioactivity.

THE MOTION OF ground water in the area, surface soil samples and soil borings will be studied. Surface water runoff will be measured for radioactivity.

Monitoring of the sites began in 1954, and 10 tests were made between 1954 and 1973, ERDA officials said.

In 1973 monthly tests was started, including sampling of water from forest preserve wells which was not tested earlier.

History of the Palos Hills area as an atomic site dates to 1942 when the Cook County Forest Preserve District leased 1,000 acres in the preserve to the Army Corps of Engineers.

THE LAND BECAME part of the Manhattan Project, code name for the secret effort to develop an atomic bomb. The world's first nuclear reactor, Chicago Pile-1, was moved to Palos Hills from the University of Chicago's Stagg field in 1943. Later, a heavy water-moderated reactor also was built and operated at the site. Other structures, including laboratories, research facilities and animal quarters were built as well.

The federal government returned most of the land to the forest preserve district in 1947, in accord with the terms of the lease. But the Atomic Energy Commission retained control of 20 acres where the reactors stood and a second area approximately 150 by 150 feet where radioactive wastes were buried.

Between 1947 and 1956, the reactors were shut down. Radioactive fuel and other highly contaminated material were removed. Other components, including the reactor vessel were encased in concrete and buried on the site.

Some radioactive material was dug up and removed. But a substantial amount of contaminated trash, animal carcasses and other material remained buried to a depth of six feet.

THE AREA WAS WALLED with concrete down to eight feet. A thick concrete slab was poured over the top, creating an inverted concrete box around the radioactive waste. The area was filled and landscaped. Markers were put up identifying the site and cautioning against digging in the area.

Janura said that he has complete confidence in federal reports that say the radition levels in the forest preserve well and ground are not dangerous.

"Two per cent of the federal limits means there is a 98 per cent leeway before the water could be considered hazardous. There may be more radiation than that in other water throughout the county, or from the dial of a watch. I don't know," he said.

"We have been meeting with ERDA people on this. They assure us the area is not hazardous, and we see no reason to close this area off," he said.

Moore hits Howlett for 'half truth'

A candidate for Cook County State's Attorney charged Thursday that Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett did not tell the whole truth about the relationship of Sun Steel's parent company with the State of Illinois.

Donald Page Moore, former director of Gov. Daniel Walker's Office of Special Investigations, said the firm which owns Sun Steel also owns Anthony Body Co., which does business with the state.

Hoqlett held a $15,000 a year job with Sun Steel for 15 years while he was in state office, and has said repeatedly there was no conflict of interest because Sun Steel did no business with the state.

Metropolitan briefs

Medicaid restrictions told

Mercy Hospital on Chicago's near west side Thursday announced new restrictions on the number of Medicaid patients it will accept.

Medicaid (public aid) patients will be accepted only if they reside within an area bounded by Lake Mighigan, 12th Street to 39th Street, and west to Halsted Street, or Damen Avenue.

The hospital's board announced the cutback because it said the state's policy of freezing hospital and clinic rates it pays for Medicaid patients at the June 30, 1975 level is causing a projected loss for Mercy of $1.2 million a year.

Area gas prices drop

The average price of regular gasoline has dipped below 60 cents in the Chicago area for the first time since last June, the Chicago Motor Club said Thursday.

The club said its weekly survey showed regular gas in Chicago and Cook County was averaging 59.5 cents a gallon, a one-tenth of a cent drop from the previous week. Premium averaged 64.7 cents a gallon, a two-tenths of a cent drop.

Long jail term for Lindsey

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Early Strayhorn Thursday sentenced Lloyd Lindsey, 18, to 40 to 80 years in prison for the arson murders of four children on Chicago's South Side.

A jury found Lindsey guilty of murder Dec. 11 in the deaths of Carolyn Horace, 17, two sisters, Beatrice, 14, and Cathy, 11, and a brother, Maurice, 6.

Environment has 'good, bad guys'

by LEA TONKIN

The Northwest and North suburbs can claim representatives in the top environmental legislators for 1975 and the "bakers dirty dozen" with the poorest environmental voting records, said the Illinois Environmental Council.

The council said the "good guys" include State Rep. Richard Muglian, D-Palatine; State Rep. Aaron Jaffe, D-Skokie; State Rep. Daniel Pierce, D-Highland Park; and State Sen. Bradley Glass, R-Northbrook.

The "black hats" include State Rep. Donald Totten, R-Schaumburg. The council rated the legislators' votes on bills ranging from land use to solar energy issues. "Our purpose in making these awards is to give credit to those legislators who have been working hard in behalf of the environment and to indicate those with the poorest voting records," said Judith Joy, IEC president.

"Good guys" selected by IEC include Sen. Dawn Clark Netsch, D-Chicago; State Sen. Vivian Hickey, D-Rockford; State Sen. Don Wooten, D-Rock Island; State Rep. Richard Kelly, D-Hazel Crest; State Rep. Joseph Lundy, D-Chicago; State Rep. James Houlihan, D-Chicago; State Rep. Alan Greiman, D-Skokie; State Rep. Robert Downs, D-Chicago; State Rep. Robert Mann, D-Chicago; State Rep. J. Glenn Schneider, D-Wheaton and State Rep. Paul Stone, D-Sullivan.

The way we see it

Justice reform is U.S. 'must'

It is often claimed that our legal and judicial systems actually hinder justice in our nation.

That charge comes from a growing number of influential critics who contend that we must reform our system of justice from top to bottom.

We believe their criticism isn't far from the mark. In courtrooms across our land, overworked judges are frequently criticized as indifferent and apathetic towards their responsibilities.

Lawyers and others in the legal system don't fare much better. Often you need to possess wealth and Job-like patience if you seek a legal remedy.

Earlier this week two of the most important legal figures in our nation added their voices to the chorus of Americans calling for changes in our justice system.

- Chief Justice Warren E. Burger of the U.S. Supreme Court told the annual meeting of the American Bar Assn. that our system of justice must be restructured in a comprehensive and fundamental way.

He compared the system to the automobile industry, which he said "finally" began producing smaller, cheaper cars "in response to a public demand of at least 20 years standing."

A meeting of federal and state judges is scheduled in April to consider Burger's reform proposals. It deserves the support of all Americans.

- The president-elect of the ABA, Justin A. Stanley, told the United Press International he is troubled by the problems of an overburdened court system, including a shortage of legal services.

He would like to expand small claims courts, where arguments can be settled without lawyers, and provide legal clinics for problems a lawyer can easily solve. Implicit in his ideas is a sweeping redefinition of just how the courts and the lawyers are to serve the public.

Both men sense a growing public impatience with the system. Like them, we believe changes are needed, and soon, that will make our judicial system more responsive, efficient and just.

Cover-up makes sense

There are reasonable steps for our communities to take to control so-called "adult" magazines — and the City of Des Plaines has just taken one of those steps.

The Des Plaines City Council Monday night passed a law that requires merchants to cover up adult books, magazines, newspapers or other materials that depict nudity.

What the law means is that Playboy, Oui, Penthouse or other magazines which feature nudity on their covers must be covered from public view.

We have always argued that adults have the right to read whatever they choose. But we also believe that children deserve some protection against "adult" magazines. The new Des Plaines "cover-up" law provides that protection, and we commend the city council for passing it.

Tax should be ended

Arlington Heights' controversial utility tax, which costs the average resident about $75 annually, should be eliminated by the end of the year.

Arlington Heights Finance Director Kenneth Bonder says all obligations on projects funded by the tax will be completed by Dec. 31. On that date the utility tax should be repealed.

All too often we have heard promises that this tax will be eliminated, and what was started in 1970 as a "temporary tax" has been around ever since. The 5 per cent tax is levied on telephone, gas and electrical bills, and utility companies act as the collection agencies.

As Village Pres. James T. Ryan says: "It just isn't a fair way to collect money. It's an unfair burden on the single family homeowner. Plus, it's not deductible."

We agree, and we believe Dec. 31 is the right time to remove this burden from the people of Arlington Heights and instead charge them more directly for municipal services.

Supports fire law enforcement

In response to your editorial, "Let's Prevent Fire Tragedies" of Monday, Feb. 9, I say "right on." The fire inspectors of Illinois have been screaming for years to be able to enforce the Life Safety Code already in existence and attending to things such as sprinkling nursing homes, but it goes much further than that — it covers hospitals, schools, churches, condominiums and all other buildings on all life safety hazards such as sufficient exits, (also a problem — learned in the Coconut Grove fire in Boston in 1942) sprinklers and distance of travel to an exit.

Fire is and has been an acute problem in this country since its beginning. While cities have burned and hundreds have perished and each time cries go out for laws to be passed. Laws or codes have been passed and are on the books in many communities and as inspectors try to enforce them, they get hung up in the court systems or as in some communities — not adopted for enforcement.

More laws could be passed, but the jurisdiction to enforce what we already have must also be given for fire safety to become a reality.

Training has been done in many communities, but public apathy towards their own safety is phenomenal. A total of 1,600 homes a day are destroyed in this country. Where is the concern for the big killer, private home fires?

Let's put into effect what we have on the books, uniformly across the state and nation, in nursing homes and schools, churches, hospitals, hotels, apartments and places of assembly.

Local communities, especially the Northwest suburbs, have adopted codes and ordinances and have implemented them years ago in an effort to eliminate these tragedies.

Why do we have to wait for the catastrophe principle to come into effect before we start sounding an alarm. If you really want to help, approach your local fire prevention bureau and join with them in destroying the title, "America, Number One Leader in Fire Destruction."

He's a backer of Bicentennial parade

We as citizens of Arlington Heights need to pause and review what our part is in a municipality that has changed from a farming community to part of a large urban complex in less than a quarter century. There are a large number of us that will spend only a short number of years here and then move on to another community in our great nation. It is to each of you that this little epistle is directed and dedicated with forethought for community, state and nation.

This is a very special period of history for each of us and looking at an overview of our nations, part should make every individual proud to be a citizen of our wonderful United States. Certainly there will always be a number of individuals that we vote into a position that taint their office, however it must also always be remembered that control of our officials is by those that are active from the grass roots locally to the highest level of political activity, in short the citizen.

It must also always be remembered that our freedoms will only remain valid as long as we vote, express our views and participate in political activity of our choice to the best of each individual's ability. The activity of each individual from a grassroots level through the Presidency of our United States of America requires singular individual self-sacrifice to pursue our liberties for benefit of our nation of peoples as a whole. "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness." We are all aware of this sentence in this nation's Declaration of Independence in the Congress of July 4, 1776 and it is in these truths that each of us should take stock and celebrate the 200 years of our great nation, these United States of America.

Your community of Arlington Heights has planned "Festival-76" that commences on June 30 and will continue through July 5. There will be a need for participation by each of you during this period; some will be personally called upon and those who are not called upon are requested to offer their time. Many community organizations are dedicating their groups to make this an event of celebration by participation of all of their members. It is necessary that all of us recognize this period to give thanks and show that we are as interested in these self-evident truths as the pilgrims that preceded our forefathers. Let our community be known as a citizenry that will answer the call in a country that has the best form of government in the entire world and that you are interested in the freedoms for which it stands.

The highlight of our Bicentennial celebration is a very special parade on July 3. This has been delegated by your Arlington Heights Bicentennial Commission to the local American Legion Merle Guild Post No. 208 as their responsibility. LeRoy Leister, Post No. 208 commander, is a man who has the fever of our "self-evident truths" with a great zeal for community, state and nation. His fever is spreading rapidly through Merle Guild membership and making one extra proud to be a member of the American Legion.

It is indeed of such great importance that we celebrate these "Self-Evident Truths" endowed by the Creator and do so in unison as a community (notwithstanding of the nation's participation in other areas) to show the world that we are all for community, state and nation.

Let it be known that I as a citizen of the municipality of Arlington Heights, Illinois do hereby pledge my time and efforts, as may be practical, to the celebration of our nation's "Self-Evident Truths" within my community to emphasize to the world that these past 200 years following the Declaration of Independence have been a good common bond for community, state and nation and to show that I am proud to be a citizen of these United States of America.

Unsafe processions

I wonder how many people feel safe while driving along with a funeral; when other cars on the street keep cutting in and out of the funeral line. The cars cutting in can't see the window sticker on the front of the funeral cars; and many cars on the street keep their lights on these days.

One funeral home didn't use any stickers and didn't take any precautions with the traffic when the cars came out of their parking lot, therfore, we, and several other cars, were left behind, not knowing the way to the church. Then, one day we attended a funeral in Wheeling, at the Kolssak Funeral Home, and we were very impressed at the courtesy given to all the people and the safety precaution, by putting funeral window stickers on the front and back of all cars. Why can't all funeral homes do this for safety?

Hits fund cut

Recently the Palatine Village Board voted $2,000 to designate 40 buildings in Palatine as historic landmarks. This being the Bicentennial year, I was glad that they took an interest in preserving some of Palatine's past history. Now I learn that the Palatine Village Board is cutting off funds to the senior citizen's council. This is outrageous. Although I still believe the board should take an active role in preserving Palatine's history, don't the senior citizens of Palatine represent a more important part of our past and our future!

Questions victory salute

With sirens screaming, lights flashing and speakers chattering, our "city" ambulance rode through the night proclaiming incorporation victory for Prospect Heights.

Somehow, such action did not seem quite proper or appropriate for the occasion.

It is our opinion that this very costly ambulance should be employed as an emergency vehicle only.

This was no emergency. The news media was most prompt in reporting the referendum results.

We certainly hope that this episode is not indicative of the behavior that our soon-to-be-elected officials will exhibit as the governing body of our new city.

The way we see it

Justice reform is U.S. 'must'

It is often claimed that our legal and judicial systems actually hinder justice in our nation.

That charge comes from a growing number of influential critics who contend that we must reform our system of justice from top to bottom.

We believe their criticism isn't far from the mark. In courtrooms across our land, overworked judges are frequently criticized as indifferent and apathetic towards their responsibilities.

Lawyers and others in the legal system don't fare much better. Often you need to possess wealth and Job-like patience if you seek a legal remedy.

Earlier this week two of the most important legal figures in our nation added their voices to the chorus of Americans calling for changes in our justice system.

- Chief Justice Warren E. Burger of the U.S. Supreme Court told the annual meeting of the American Bar Assn. that our system of justice must be restructured in a comprehensive and fundamental way.

He compared the system to the automobile industry, which he said "finally" began producing smaller, cheaper cars "in response to a public demand of at least 20 years standing."

A meeting of federal and state judges is scheduled in April to consider Burger's reform proposals. It deserves the support of all Americans.

- The president-elect of the ABA, Justin A. Stanley, told the United Press International he is troubled by the problems of an overburdened court system, including a shortage of legal services.

He would like to expand small claims courts, where arguments can be settled without lawyers, and provide legal clinics for problems a lawyer can easily solve. Implicit in his ideas is a sweeping redefinition of just how the courts and the lawyers are to serve the public.

Both men sense a growing public impatience with the system. Like them, we believe changes are needed, and soon, that will make our judicial system more responsive, efficient and just.

"What event is this?"

Joe Burlini doesn't work, he just has fun

JOE BURLINI

Mike Klein's people

Hundreds of years ago, artists were presumed to eke out meager existences from crumbling workshops while loved ones struggled along in the family hovel.

Now, we've decided they are eccentric creatures who reside on Chicago's Near North Side and grow wild beards. They also romp around preaching idealism, beauty and other dangerous concepts.

This means that Joe Burlini must be lost.

Why, he's not even the least bit wild-eyed!

And Joe gives every indication that life is quite comfortable for his wife, Sue, and their three children who reside just a few blocks from his north Arlington Heights studio.

THAT'S WHERE Joe Burlini is busy carving himself a tremendous niche among metal working sculptors. Much of his material is abstract, yet he would convey simplistic ideas.

Joe is found bent over a work bench, soldering spokes to a piece of round tubular steel. This will be a wheel, his continuing passion. It seems that everything comes up wheels.

The first-time visitor is taken back. Do you initially wonder about the ridiculous looking "Flying Go Nowhere Machines" or his whimsical "Butterfly People?"

Burlini shows the "Flying Go Nowhere Machines" in evidence that his metal sculpture was designed for fun. He says it's like making toys everyday.

Wings flap, but four wheels go no place.

"It all appears very impressive, very busy, but it doesn't get anywhere," Joe said. "That's very symbolic of my things. They're just for fun."

"Butterfly People" are men and women who have not arms, but wings. They are among his recent creations.

"Think how wonderful it would be to fly. So I've made people who can do that," Joe said. But he has placed them inside little boxes and the "Butterfly People" cannot fly very far.

AN HOUR HAS passed before you even notice the huge gumball dispenser, perhaps 6 feet tall, which Burlini fashioned from tubular steel. It does not, of course, actually dispense gumballs.

Eventually, you come to see the hurdy-gurdy which Burlini purchased because he enjoys novelties. You are shown the vintage 1940s era Walt Disney windup toy train which Sue Burlini gave her husband last Christmas.

Potloads of plants which Joe's father, Alfred, has let him keep during the winter months are nearing death.

And you are taken back by the strangest washroom you've ever seen. Its walls and ceiling are covered with paper depicting circus people.

Joe soon tells you that not many people are happy. That's why he is intrigued with those circus people. Joe figures they are bored.

"Actually, I don't even like the circus. I just like its fantasy. Circus people don't seem to enjoy what they're doing but they don't have a choice," he said.

"You have to look beneath their costumes to see that. I suppose my son (6-year-old Christopher) would disagree with me on that. He thinks it's great."

BURLINI IS 38. Ten years ago, he escaped the security of designing toys for a major retail store chain. The job paid well, but he couldn't stand it.

Joe had become desperate.

"A lot of people have the same feeling, I'm sure, but they're unable to make it," he said.

His new career started with fashioning metal birds, fish and other creatures which are sold in funiture stores. Then his luck improved. Joe began lecturing on metal sculpture at the Illinois Institute of Technology . . . which once refused him admittance.

One success led to another and pretty soon Joe Burlini, the kid who hadn't been anything too great at St. George High School in Evanston, had earned his own shows in Chicago art galleries.

The Art Institute of Chicago accepted Burlini's "Circus Show" for a special showing. Clients developed. Corporations, shopping centers and special interest groups all commissioned Burlini for spcial projects.

Private buyers have included Studs Terkel, Rod McKuen, Ray Kroc, Wiliam Shatner and more. But Joe points out softy, "They're really not any more important than anybody else . . . right."

BURLINI DESIGNED a mechanical chicken which was presented to Colonel Sanders.

"The wings flap, the head moves, the tail moves and it lays the golden egg!" Burlini joked.

Suddenly, he had become successful. There was a market for people with wings and for going nowhere machines, for wire men on unicycles and for circus designs.

Always, Burlini incorporates the wheel. That's his main theme. It follows him everyplace.

"Man In A Box" suggested the impersonality of mankind plus our dependence upon the wheel and all its accompanying frustrations.

None of these men have faces.

"They have shields," Joe said. "That's because we don't care about each other anymore. When you look in the shield, you only see yourself."

But the series finally overcame Burlini. He became engrossed in depression.

"I had to end it by crucifying the last man," Joe said. "Actually, I'm probably very depressed and I'm fighting it by working the other way."

BURLINI WANDERS. You do not interview him. You just listen to his stories. They all come out, such as the "Spider Machine" which the art galleries don't want because, "It rolls around and bangs up their walls."

You remember something which Joe said very early, just after you had entered his shop. He alluded to an idea expressed by Henry David Thoreau who said, "The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation."

Now, that seems very appropriate.

"Oh, yeah, I'm eccentric," Joe agreed. "How many people can go play with toys all day and say they're not eccentric?

"How many people can really say they love to come to work? That's the thing," Joe said. "I don't work."

Congressional wrapup

Mikva, Crane at odds on gas price controls

From the Roll Call Report

U.S. HOUSE: Here is how members of the Illinois delegation in the U.S. House voted on issues recently.

NATURAL GAS: The House voted, 230-184, on a move to break a parliamentary logjam over the debate on deregulation of natural gas prices.

Supporters of the effort, who generally favor deregulation, favored calling the bill to the House floor and circumventing the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which could slow down action.

Opponents of the move, who supported continued regulation, charged the effort was an outrageous abuse of power by the House Rules committee and created a bad precedent for other committee action.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, Anderson, O'Brien, Michel, Findley, Madigan and Shipley.

NO: Mikva, Russo, Fary, Collins, Yates, Annunzio, Hall, Price and Simon.

Metcalfe, Murphy, Rostenkowski and Railsback did not vote.

CIA REPORT: The House voted, 246-124, to bar publication of the highly controversial report on CIA activities.

Supporter of the move to block publication said the White House agreed to furnish certain classified information with the assurance President Gerald R. Ford could rule out disclosure of the information. Ford did not want the report, which was printed in great detail in the New York weekly, The Village Voice.

Opponents said the executive branch of government frequently had used the security classification system to suppress embarrassing information.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Fary, Hyde, Rostenkowski, McClory, Erlenborn, Hall, Anderson, O'Brien, Michel, Railsback and Findley.

NO: Mikva, Murphy, Collins, Yates, Annunzio, Shipley, Price and Simon.

Metcalfe and Madigan did not vote.

JOBS: The House passed, 321-80, a bill aimed at cutting unemployment. The legislation, which carries a $6.1 billion price tag, is designed to create 600,000 jobs. President Ford already has voted the measure and the House is scheduled to attempt to override the veto soon.

Supporters said that with the billions the government is spending on unemployment compensation, it made no sense not to spend money on new jobs.

Opponents called the bill a new version of the election year political pork barrel. President Ford charged the legislation would create only about 125,000 jobs.

The measure received bipartisan support from the Illinois delegation.

YES: Mikva, Murphy, Russo, Derwinski, Fary, Hyde, Collins, Rostenkowski, Yates, Annunzio, McClory, Hall, Anderson O'Brien, Rilsback, Shipley, Price and Simon.

NO: Crane, Erlenborn, Michel and Findley.

Metcalfe and Madigan did not vote.

SCHOOL MONEY: The house rejected, 134-267, an amendment to cut $97.3 million from the fiscal 1976 appropriation for impacted school aid. The aid is designed to help school districts that must spend additional funds educating children because of a federal activity.

Amendment supporters said the cut would prevent the beginning of a new type of impacted aid for schools that educate students who reside in federally assisted housing facilities.

Opponents said the budget cuts would hurt school districts that educate children who reside in military facilities.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, O'Brien, Michel, Railsback, Findley and Madigan.

NO: Mikva, Metcalfe, Murphy, Russo, Fary, Collins, Rostenkowski, Yates, Annunzio, Hall, Shipley, Price and Simon.

Anderson did not vote.

SENATE: Here is how U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., voted on issues recently.

DAY CARE: The Senate rejected 37-54, an amendment to eliminate government requirements on staff quality at day care centers receiving federal aid.

Supporters of the amendment said government standards are difficult to administer and arbitrary. Opponents said the requirements were justified for child safety at the centers.

Percy and Stevenson both voted no.

MILK SUPPORTS: The Senate failed, 37-51, to override Ford's veto of a bill raising milk price supports to 85 per cent of parity and required quarterly adjustments of the supports.

The vote sustaining the veto means the present 80 per cent parity level will be retained. Parity, the price support level, is used by the government to give farmers increased buying power.

Supporters of the measure charged the current support level gave the farmer less than the minimum wage for his work.

Opponents agreed with Ford's view that the measure would have increased government spending, boosted consumer prices and encouraged overproduction.

Percy and Stevenson voted no.

C&NW reports 1975 net loss

The Chicago and North Western Transportation Co. has reported a net loss of $8,301,000 for 1975.

The results compare to net income of $14.4 million or $3.24 a share in 1974. Full operating revenues for the year totaled $458,990,000 compared to $484,901,000 the previous year.

The railway's net income for the fourth quarter of the year was $5,252,000 or $1.18 a share. For the same quarter in 1974, net income was $2,656,000 or 60 cents a share.

Fourth quarter operating revenues totaled $123,939,000 in 1975 compared to $123,347,000 the same period a year earlier.

Larry S. Provo, Chicago and North Western Ry. president, said fourth quarter results reflect "a vigorous and successful cost-cutting effort throughout our system and improved freight traffic volume compared to depressed levels earlier in the year."

Provo said January 1976 results include a $600,000 loss compared to a $4.4 million loss in January 1975. "We expect to be profitable in the first quarter, traditionally the weakest of the year," he said. The company had a net loss of $8,541,000 the first quarter of 1975.

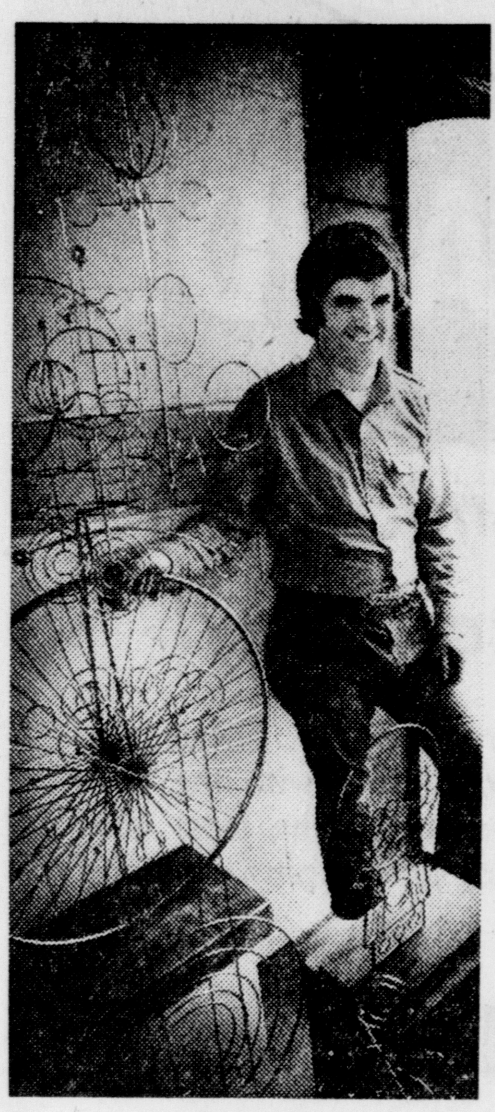
Joe Burlini doesn't work, he just has fun



JOE BURLINI

Hundreds of years ago, artists were presumed to eke out meager existences from crumbling workshops while loved ones struggled along in the family hovel.

Now, we've decided they are eccentric creatures who reside on Chicago's Near North Side and grow wild beards. They also romp around preaching idealism, beauty and other dangerous concepts.

This means that Joe Burlini must be lost.

Why, he's not even the least bit wild-eyed!

And Joe gives every indication that life is quite comfortable for his wife, Sue, and their three children who reside just a few blocks from his north Arlington Heights studio.

THAT'S WHERE Joe Burlini is busy carving himself a tremendous niche among metal working sculptors. Much of his material is abstract, yet he would convey simplistic ideas.

Joe is found bent over a work bench, soldering spokes to a piece of round tubular steel. This will be a wheel, his continuing passion. It seems that everything comes up wheels.

The first-time visitor is taken back. Do you initially wonder about the ridiculous looking "Flying Go Nowhere Machines" or his whimsical "Butterfly People?"

Mike Klein's people

Burlini shows the "Flying Go Nowhere Machines" in evidence that his metal sculpture was designed for fun. He says it's like making toys everyday.

Wings flap, but four wheels go no place.

"It all appears very impressive, very busy, but it doesn't get anywhere," Joe said. "That's very symbolic of my things. They're just for fun."

"Butterfly People" are men and women who have not arms, but wings. They are among his recent creations.

"Think how wonderful it would be to fly. So I've made people who can do that," Joe said. But he has placed them inside little boxes and the "Butterfly People" cannot fly very far.

AN HOUR HAS passed before you even notice the huge gumball dispenser, perhaps 6 feet tall, which Burlini fashioned from tubular steel. It does not, of course, actually dispense gumballs.

Eventually, you come to see the hurdy-gurdy which Burlini purchased because he enjoys novelties. You are shown the vintage 1940s era Walt Disney windup toy train which Sue Burlini gave her husband last Christmas.

Potloads of plants which Joe's father, Alfred, has let him keep during the winter months are nearing death.

And you are taken back by the strangest washroom you've ever seen. Its walls and ceiling are covered with paper depicting circus people.

Joe soon tells you that not many people are happy. That's why he is intrigued with those circus people. Joe figures they are bored.

"Actually, I don't even like the circus. I just like its fantasy. Circus people don't seem to enjoy what they're doing but they don't have a choice," he said.

"You have to look beneath their costumes to see that. I suppose my son (6-year-old Christopher) would disagree with me on that. He thinks it's great."

BURLINI IS 38. Ten years ago, he escaped the security of designing toys for a major retail store chain. The job paid well, but he couldn't stand it.

Joe had become desperate.

"A lot of people have the same feeling, I'm sure, but they're unable to make it," he said.

His new career started with fashioning metal birds, fish and other creatures which are sold in funiture stores. Then his luck improved. Joe began lecturing on metal sculpture at the Illinois Institute of Technology . . . which once refused him admittance.

One success led to another and pretty soon Joe Burlini, the kid who hadn't been anything too great at St. George High School in Evanston, had earned his own shows in Chicago art galleries.

The Art Institute of Chicago accepted Burlini's "Circus Show" for a special showing. Clients developed. Corporations, shopping centers and special interest groups all commissioned Burlini for spcial projects.

Private buyers have included Studs Terkel, Rod McKuen, Ray Kroc, Wiliam Shatner and more. But Joe points out softy, "They're really not any more important than anybody else . . . right."

BURLINI DESIGNED a mechanical chicken which was presented to Colonel Sanders.

"The wings flap, the head moves, the tail moves and it lays the golden egg!" Burlini joked.

Suddenly, he had become successful. There was a market for people with wings and for going nowhere machines, for wire men on unicycles and for circus designs.

Always, Burlini incorporates the wheel. That's his main theme. It follows him everyplace.

"Man In A Box" suggested the impersonality of mankind plus our dependence upon the wheel and all its accompanying frustrations.

None of these men have faces.

"They have shields," Joe said. "That's because we don't care about each other anymore. When you look in the shield, you only see yourself."

But the series finally overcame Burlini. He became engrossed in depression.

"I had to end it by crucifying the last man," Joe said. "Actually, I'm probably very depressed and I'm fighting it by working the other way."

BURLINI WANDERS. You do not interview him. You just listen to his stories. They all come out, such as the "Spider Machine" which the art galleries don't want because, "It rolls around and bangs up their walls."

You remember something which Joe said very early, just after you had entered his shop. He alluded to an idea expressed by Henry David Thoreau who said, "The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation."

Now, that seems very appropriate.

"Oh, yeah, I'm eccentric," Joe agreed. "How many people can go play with toys all day and say they're not eccentric?

"How many people can really say they love to come to work? That's the thing," Joe said. "I don't work."

Congressional wrapup

Mikva, Crane at odds on gas price controls

From the Roll Call Report

U.S. HOUSE: Here is how members of the Illinois delegation in the U.S. House voted on issues recently.

NATURAL GAS: The House voted, 230-184, on a move to break a parliamentary logjam over the debate on deregulation of natural gas prices.

Supporters of the effort, who generally favor deregulation, favored calling the bill to the House floor and circumventing the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which could slow down action.

Opponents of the move, who supported continued regulation, charged the effort was an outrageous abuse of power by the House Rules committee and created a bad precedent for other committee action.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, Anderson, O'Brien, Michel, Findley, Madigan and Shipley.

NO: Mikva, Russo, Fary, Collins, Yates, Annunzio, Hall, Price and Simon.

Metcalfe, Murphy, Rostenkowski and Railsback did not vote.

CIA REPORT: The House voted, 246-124, to bar publication of the highly controversial report on CIA activities.

Supporter of the move to block publication said the White House agreed to furnish certain classified information with the assurance President Gerald R. Ford could rule out disclosure of the information. Ford did not want the report, which was printed in great detail in the New York weekly, The Village Voice.

Opponents said the executive branch of government frequently had used the security classification system to suppress embarrassing information.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Fary, Hyde, Rostenkowski, McClory, Erlenborn, Hall, Anderson, O'Brien, Michel, Railsback and Findley.

NO: Mikva, Murphy, Collins, Yates, Annunzio, Shipley, Price and Simon.

Metcalfe and Madigan did not vote.

JOBS: The House passed, 321-80, a bill aimed at cutting unemployment. The legislation, which carries a $6.1 billion price tag, is designed to create 600,000 jobs. President Ford already has voted the measure and the House is scheduled to attempt to override the veto soon.

Supporters said that with the billions the government is spending on unemployment compensation, it made no sense not to spend money on new jobs.

Opponents called the bill a new version of the election year political pork barrel. President Ford charged the legislation would create only about 125,000 jobs.

The measure received bipartisan support from the Illinois delegation.

YES: Mikva, Murphy, Russo, Derwinski, Fary, Hyde, Collins, Rostenkowski, Yates, Annunzio, McClory, Hall, Anderson O'Brien, Rilsback, Shipley, Price and Simon.

NO: Crane, Erlenborn, Michel and Findley.

Metcalfe and Madigan did not vote.

SCHOOL MONEY: The house rejected, 134-267, an amendment to cut $97.3 million from the fiscal 1976 appropriation for impacted school aid. The aid is designed to help school districts that must spend additional funds educating children because of a federal activity.

Amendment supporters said the cut would prevent the beginning of a new type of impacted aid for schools that educate students who reside in federally assisted housing facilities.

Opponents said the budget cuts would hurt school districts that educate children who reside in military facilities.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, O'Brien, Michel, Railsback, Findley and Madigan.

NO: Mikva, Metcalfe, Murphy, Russo, Fary, Collins, Rostenkowski, Yates, Annunzio, Hall, Shipley, Price and Simon.

Anderson did not vote.

SENATE: Here is how U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., voted on issues recently.

DAY CARE: The Senate rejected 37-54, an amendment to eliminate government requirements on staff quality at day care centers receiving federal aid.

Supporters of the amendment said government standards are difficult to administer and arbitrary. Opponents said the requirements were justified for child safety at the centers.

Percy and Stevenson both voted no.

MILK SUPPORTS: The Senate failed, 37-51, to override Ford's veto of a bill raising milk price supports to 85 per cent of parity and required quarterly adjustments of the supports.

The vote sustaining the veto means the present 80 per cent parity level will be retained. Parity, the price support level, is used by the government to give farmers increased buying power.

Supporters of the measure charged the current support level gave the farmer less than the minimum wage for his work.

Opponents agreed with Ford's view that the measure would have increased government spending, boosted consumer prices and encouraged overproduction.

Percy and Stevenson voted no.

Walker opens TV campaign blitz

Gov. Daniel Walker's television campaign got under way this week in Chicago and a full-scale media campaign is forecast for all of the other Walker-backed candidates in the near future.

David Garth and Associates, a New York-based advertising firm, has prepared television commercials for Walker and Joanne Alter, a candidate for Lieutenant governor; Ronald Stackler, who is running for attorney general; State Sen. Vince Demuzio, D-Carlinville, a candidate for secretary of state; and Roland Burris, a candidate for comptroller.

The media campaign also will be used for Donald Page Moore, who is running for Cook County State's Attorney, and Leonard Nowakowski, a candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Walker's media budget has not been revealed, but several other candidates have said they plan to spend at least $100,000 in television time.

Demuzio and Alter have said the bulk of their campaign costs will come from media costs.

Mrs. Alter also plans to devote advertising funds to radio commercials. Her aides suggest more women's votes might be gained because women devote more time listening to the radio.

Nowakowski, who has received the backing of the Polish-American Congress in Chicago, plans to concentrate his media attention on WCIU, Channel 26, which broadcasts a number of Polish-language programs and has wide appeal in the Polish community.

Nowakowski said he also has made a television commercial supporting Walker's campaign.

Moore revealed the production costs of his media campaign alone were $15,000.

A number of the candidates opposing the Walker-backed ticket said they do not plan an television advertising before the March 16 primary.

Political briefs

IVI endorses Terry Ayers

Terry Ayers, a Republican candidate for the Illinois Senate from the 2nd Legislative District, has obtained the endorsement of the Independent Voters of Illinois.

Ayers is running against State Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, in the primary.

Ayers cited his stand on several consumer issues as a key reason for the IVI endorsement.

He also announced he has received the endorsement of State Rep. Giddy Dyer, R-Hinsdale, in the campaign.

Ayers said he will have a fund-raising brunch on Sunday at the Indian Lakes Country Club, and Dyer will be a featured speaker. Tickets for the event can be obtained by calling 893-0230.

Reagan to stump Downstate

Supporters of Republican presidential challenger Ronald Reagan announced the candidate will make a threeday Downstate campaign "blitz" next week.

Included in Reagan travel plan is a visit to his home town, Tampico. Stops on the trip include Quincy, Peoria, Sterling, Dixon, Rockford and Mattoon. Reagan worked his way through several suburban Cook County appearances last week.

The Reagan group also announced the candidate's nephew Barton Hegler of Danville, will serve as the chairman of Illinois Youth for Reagan.

Howlett volunteers sought

The Elk Grove Township Citizens for Michael Howlett is seeking volunteers to work in Howlett's campaign for governor. Former Township Democratic Committeeman Chet Chesney is heading the effort. Persons interested in working on the campaign can call 392-4373 for details.

Walker opens TV campaign blitz

Gov. Daniel Walker's television campaign got under way this week in Chicago and a full-scale media campaign is forecast for all of the other Walker-backed candidates in the near future.

David Garth and Associates, a New York-based advertising firm, has prepared television commercials for Walker and Joanne Alter, a candidate for Lieutenant governor; Ronald Stackler, who is running for attorney general; State Sen. Vince Demuzio, D-Carlinville, a candidate for secretary of state; and Roland Burris, a candidate for comptroller.

The media campaign also will be used for Donald Page Moore, who is running for Cook County State's Attorney, and Leonard Nowakowski, a candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Walker's media budget has not been revealed, but several other candidates have said they plan to spend at least $100,000 in television time.

Demuzio and Alter have said the bulk of their campaign costs will come from media costs.

Mrs. Alter also plans to devote advertising funds to radio commercials. Her aides suggest more women's votes might be gained because women devote more time listening to the radio.

Nowakowski, who has received the backing of the Polish-American Congress in Chicago, plans to concentrate his media attention on WCIU, Channel 26, which broadcasts a number of Polish-language programs and has wide appeal in the Polish community.

Nowakowski said he also has made a television commercial supporting Walker's campaign.

Moore revealed the production costs of his media campaign alone were $15,000.

A number of the candidates opposing the Walker-backed ticket said they do not plan an television advertising before the March 16 primary.

Political briefs

IVI endorses Terry Ayers

Terry Ayers, a Republican candidate for the Illinois Senate from the 2nd Legislative District, has obtained the endorsement of the Independent Voters of Illinois.

Ayers is running against State Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, in the primary.

Ayers cited his stand on several consumer issues as a key reason for the IVI endorsement.

He also announced he has received the endorsement of State Rep. Giddy Dyer, R-Hinsdale, in the campaign.

Ayers said he will have a fund-raising brunch on Sunday at the Indian Lakes Country Club, and Dyer will be a featured speaker. Tickets for the event can be obtained by calling 893-0230.

Reagan to stump Downstate

Supporters of Republican presidential challenger Ronald Reagan announced the candidate will make a three-day Downstate campaign "blitz" next week.

Included in Reagan travel plan is a visit to his home town, Tampico. Stops on the trip include Quincy, Peoria, Sterling, Dixon, Rockford and Mattoon. Reagan worked his way through several suburban Cook County appearances last week.

The Reagan group also announced the candidate's nephew Barton Hegler of Danville, will serve as the chairman of Illinois Youth for Reagan.

Howlett volunteers sought

The Elk Grove Township Citizens for Michael Howlett is seeking volunteers to work in Howlett's campaign for governor. Former Township Democratic Committeeman Chet Chesney is heading the effort. Persons interested in working on the campaign can call 392-4373 for details.

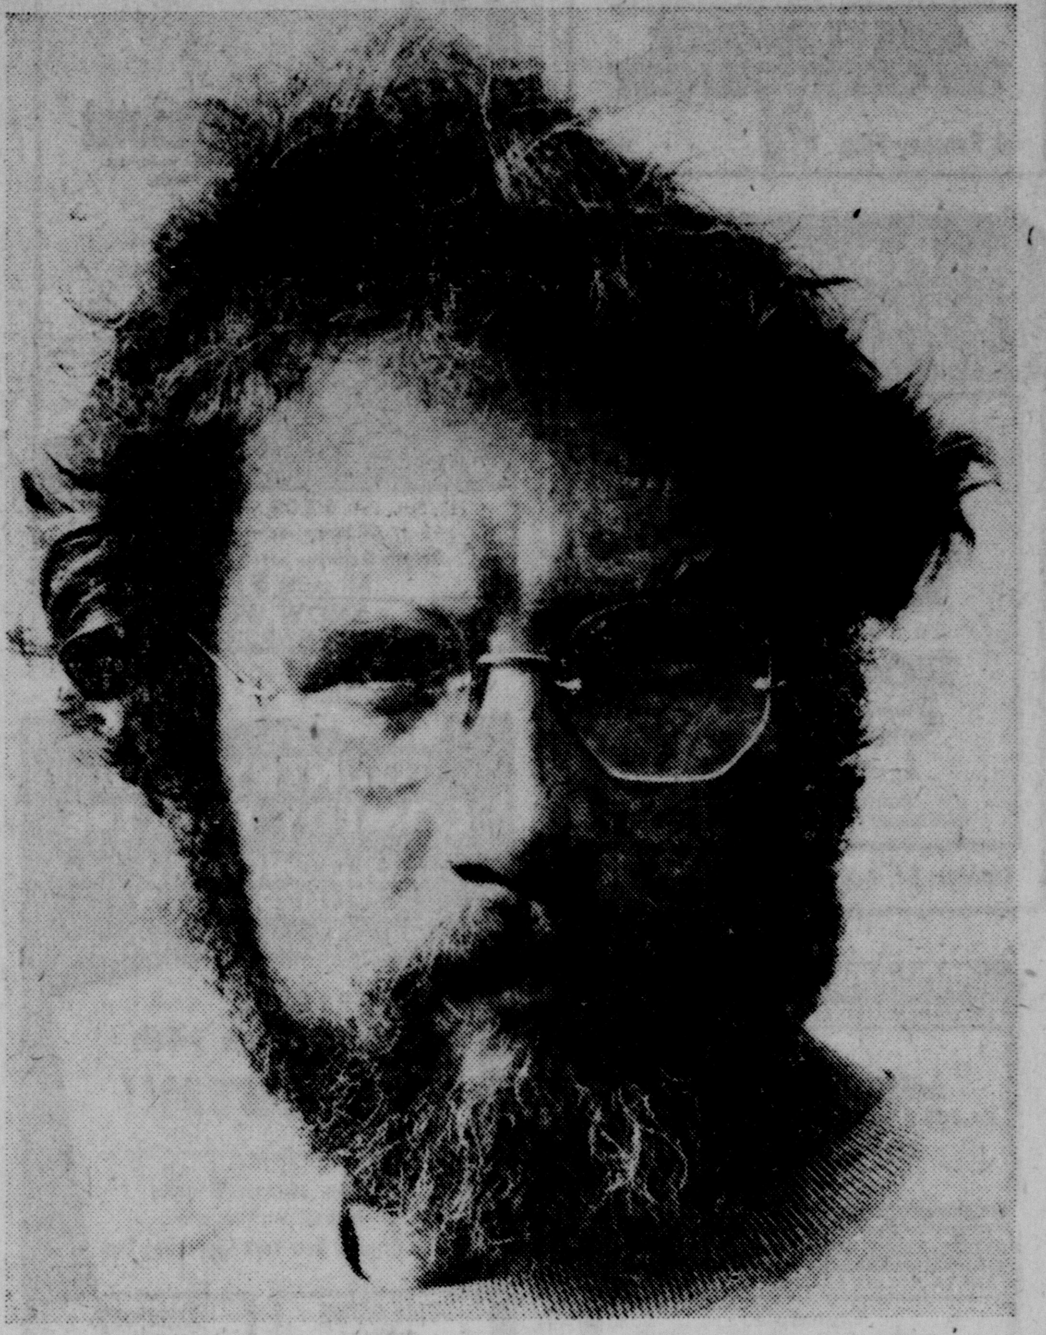
801 E. RAND ★ MT. PROSPECT ★ 394-2200

RICHARD DREYFUSS is currently in Chicago to star in August Strindberg's "Miss Julie." The play, opening tonight at Arlington Park Theatre, also features British actress Carolyn Seymour. Peter Medak is directing the dramatic one-act.



Not interested in feigning Mr. Nice Guy

by GENIE CAMPBELL

Richard Dreyfuss is noted for coming on like gangbusters, volatile, opinionated, very much his own person.

But that does not make him immune to human frailties, and Tuesday morning Dreyfuss was feeling the warning signals of the Chicago bug, loss of vigor and pep, the beginning discomfort of a scratchy throat.

It wasn't about to stop him. It did temporarily quiet him down. Not like Richard Dreyfuss at all. But then, how can one predict how the unpredictable will react?

The self-willed, exuberant Dreyfuss may intimidate the less hearty and more refined. Still, in comparison to actors who hand out pat answers to boost their own PR or crawl inside themselves and hibernate, Dreyfuss is a refreshing change, even when he isn't feeling well.

If he doesn't want to eat hot peppers on the Dinah Shore show, bully for him. On talk shows he specifically asks not to participate in "silly games." But he's not so perfunctory that he doesn't care how it looks to the viewing audience when the rest of the panel leaves him behind.

Yet, over-all, he is basking in his own overnight success.

"I'M AN egomaniac. I love being talked about and talking about myself. And that usually overrules any boredom factor. But I'll admit if someone asks one more time how I got started in the business, I'm going to stick a fork to their face."

Dreyfuss doesn't mince words. He is his own best friend and also his biggest critic. That comes of being "honest," he said.

He's confident, even cocky, but readily admits to imperfection, certainly within his own craft.

"Sure, it sounds contradictory, but contradiction is a way of life. If that's wrong, I don't know I'm being wrong."

Dreyfuss compares it with waking up one morning feeling on top of the world, and the next — "mean, misery and a son of a bitch. It's all in the way you look at it."

The 28-year-old actor opens tonight at Arlington Park Theatre in August Strindberg's classic "Miss Julie," a play he chose because it is "erotic and thought-provoking. It's about a class differential, people who are unable to see beyond their station in life."

AND IT'S A good role, Dreyfuss continues, "one in which I'll get a good workout in areas in which I need improvement." It's a reason for returning to live stage when more financially lucrative movie offers continue to besiege him, ever since "Jaws" mania made him a hot box-office attraction.

"No one could have predicted it. No way at all," said Dreyfuss about the record-breaking success of "Jaws." It is the largest grossing film in movie history.

And though marine biologist Jacques Cousteau voices concern that sharks are receiving unfavorable, unfounded publicity, Dreyfuss feels otherwise.

"The public reaction is the proper one," he said. "People have the right to know about the danger of shark attacks. Until now it's been covered up. They've been lied to," he continued, rattling off an impressive list of statistics concerning shark attacks and disappearance of swimmers.

"I won't go swimming anymore."

"But you can get hit by a truck walking across the street, too," I interjected.

"Yes, but I wouldn't walk across the street blindfolded, either," he answered. "I won't go swimming but I do scuba dive." Though asked to star in "Jaws II," he turned down the offer.

More recently Dreyfuss has been busy promoting his new movie, "Inserts," which opens next week in Chicago. It's turned into the actor's most controversial talk-show topic.

"THE RATING X in general is unconstitutional," he genuinely believes. "And 'Inserts' should never have been labled X in the first place."

Both United Artists, who released the film, and Dreyfuss hope enough noise is made to prompt people to see the movie in spite of the rating. They just won't have as many theaters from which to choose, only 1,500 compared to the usual 8,000 nationwide. And all because of the one-letter rating.

Yes, Dreyfuss' talk-show appearances and discussions are not solely publicity stunts. If so, he'd play up his own performance. Instead, he considers his role of Hooper in "Jaws" his best work to date.

"The demands were not as great, but I feel I accomplished more," he said.

In April Dreyfuss begins filming a new movie which he has made a personal pledge not to discuss.

"It's a closed set. We had a closed set for 'Jaws' too because of the shark filming. But this closed set makes the 'Jaws' set look like a sieve."

And there's no way of even guessing his new role, not when he's played everything from a straight high school kid in "American Graffiti" to a young down-and-out film director forced to try for a comeback in skin flicks, which he portrays in "Inserts."

DREYFUSS, though reinforced with scrambled eggs and sausage, was slowly running out of stem.

Does he ever lack energy?

"No, but I'm extremely relaxed now so I know there's something wrong."

He talked a few minutes more about his future plans, "Hamlet" that he some day wants to do, "Julius Caesar" that he is doing next winter, and the satisfaction of being able to pick and choose his own material.

"That's what stardom is all about," he said. "Everything else is just the accouterments."

"But there isn't much to choose from," he continued. "Most everything coming out is bad. It's only the rare thing that is good. But that's always the way it's been. Maybe now it's even gotten a little worse. Fewer films are being made.

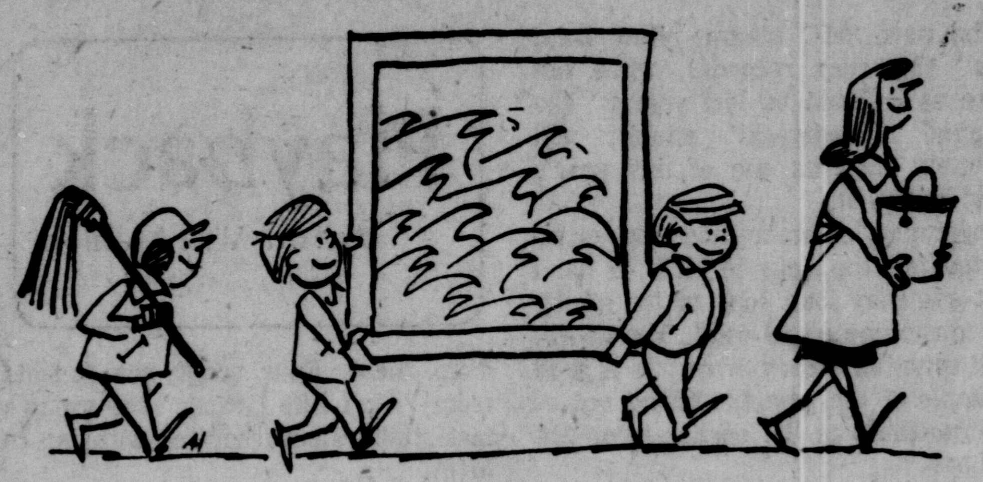
"There should be no such thing as commercial theater," he continued. "Ballet and symphony orchestras don't have to pay for themselves. Why should live theater?"

And Dreyfuss, while in Chicago, is willing to talk about that or any subject in front of high school and college classes. Why?

"Because I just like talking with kids. They can ask the questions, I'll answer — about theater, wisdom or anything. I don't know — do they teach wisdom in school?"

And with that Dreyfuss excused himself to return to his room and fortify himself with vitamin C. After all, how can a few sniffles ever compare to a "great white?"

RICHARD DREYFUSS plays a broken-down Hollywood "boy wonder" of the early 1930s who has turned to grinding out pornographic movies in his living room in his newest movie, "Inserts," scheduled to open this week in Chicago. Veronica Cartwright plays a Hollywood bit player reduced by her drug habit to working in sex movies.



Borrow artwork for your walls at the library

It's depressing to have good taste and not be able to afford it, four blank walls and nothing to hang, an interest in art but too budget conscious to collect it.

So instead you resign yourself to sterile living quarters and art gallery tours, hoping one day the Illinois Lottery selects you. Wrong. You visit your local library.

Pick out a Degas or a Rembrandt, admire it for a month, return it and pick out another Old Master. It won't cost a thing if you're a card-carrying member in good standing at the library.

The paintings are only reproductions but that's good enough. Who these days can afford even a scribble by Monet or Chagall?

Art for the asking is a service offered by local libraries. Many persons made aware of it have become regular patrons of the arts. Some pieces are so popular they must be reserved months in advance.

ALL OF RENOIR is always in demand and "Sunlight and Surf," a seascape by Charles Vickery, appeals to a wide audience in Arlington Heights. It's continually on request at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

Prints, reproduced on heavy cardboard, are framed (not glassed), bagged and ready to be carried home and hung. On loan for two months at a time (other libraries only allow one), the print may be borrowed free except if not returned on time. Then there is a late fee charged, same as a book.

Arlington Heights Memorial Library offers a selection of some 160 prints from extreme contemporary abstracts to the photo realism of Andrew Wyeth to celebrated examples of 18th century post impressionism.

Reasons for borrowing art from local libraries is not always monetary. Many enjoy changing the mood of a room. Others find it educational. Biographical notes about the painting and artist are included on the back side of each print. Many people are interested in one day purchasing a permanent piece but can't make up their mind. They borrow to determine what type of art work they might eventually like to buy.

SOMETIMES PEOPLE borrow for a special occasion, a party or time of year. Now when winter is beginning to wear on even the most cold-blooded, cold-weather enthusiasts, "fields of daisies" landscapes are in short supply. Prints of "Madonna and Child" do well at Christmastime as do snow scenes.

The service is used quite heavily at Palatine Library where 125 prints in varying sizes and frames are checked out, one to a family per month.

Twenty-five of Schaumburg's collection are regularly traded among other members of the North Suburban Library Association so a new supply is continually featured. If you don't see something you like on a first visit, check back the following week.

Elk Grove Library, in addition to its regular collection of 145 reproductions, lends several original paintings done by students at Elk Grove High School. Table sculpture, both bronze and terra cotta, may also be checked out.

For just a small amount of money, original work matted and framed with glass may be rented from Countryside Art Center in Arlington Heights. Paintings worth up to $99 may be borrowed for two months for $5. Those valued from $100 to $199 cost $10. The fee goes up accordingly, per $100 value.

MOST PEOPLE who rent art work from Countryside are merely auditioning a piece and eventually do plan to invest. The rental fee then goes toward its purchase.

In general, library connoisseurs of art are a responsible, respectable lot. They take good care of each print and return it on time.

One Elk Grove woman did, by accident, back over a print with her car. She was on her way to return it. But the librarians were most understanding and sympathetic.

"She was more upset than we were, positively grief-stricken. It was her favorite one of all."

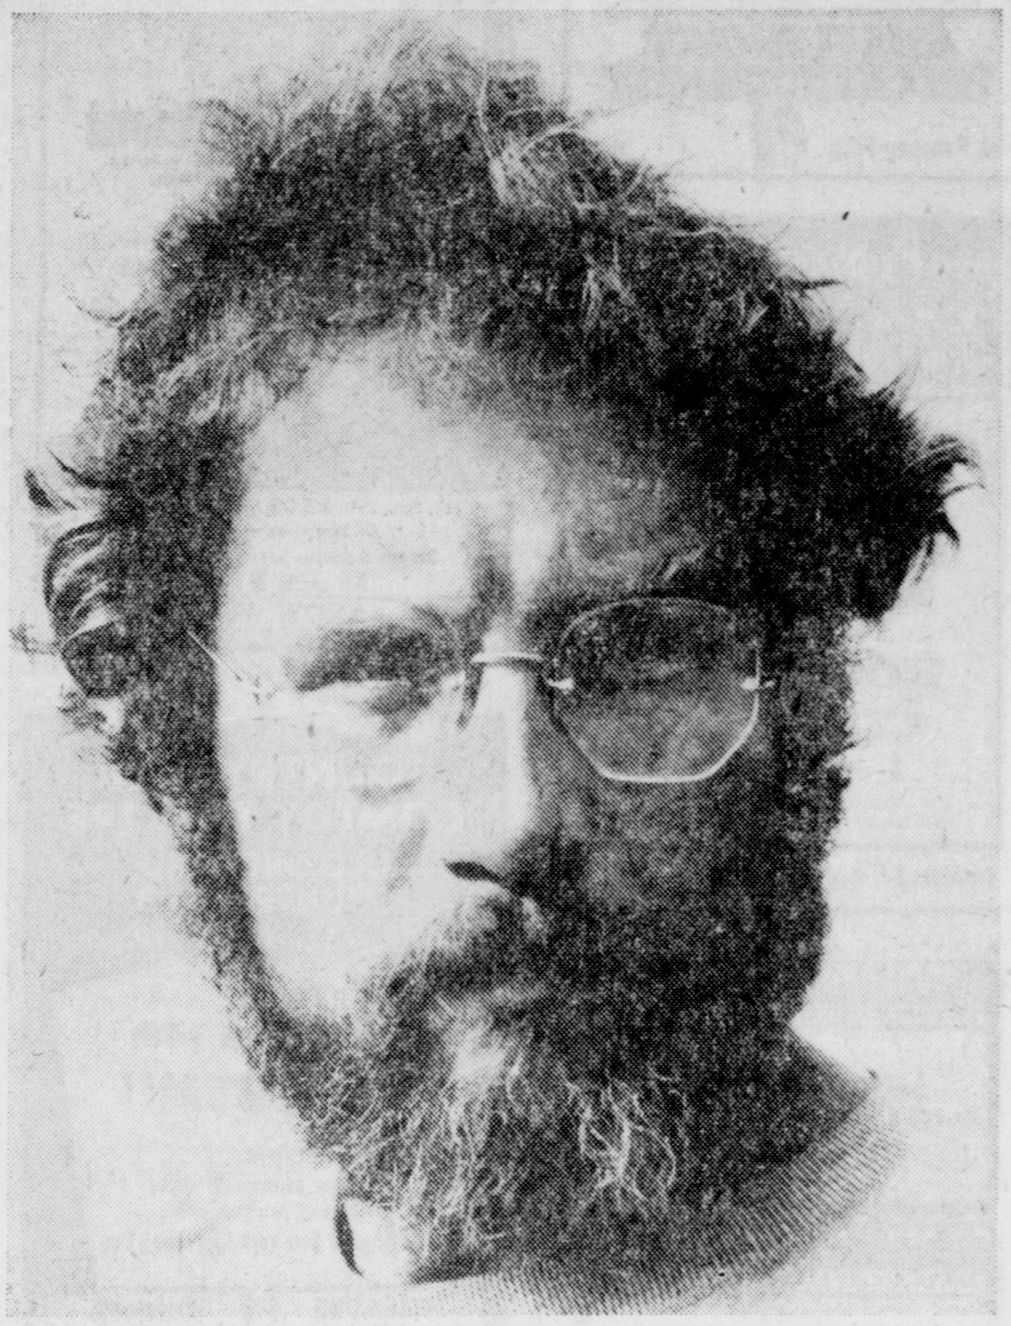
RICHARD DREYFUSS is currently in Chicago to star in August Strindberg's "Miss Julie." The play, opening tonight at Arlington Park Theatre, also features British actress Carolyn Seymour. Peter Medak is directing the dramatic one-act.

Not interested in feigning Mr. Nice Guy



by GENIE CAMPBELL

Richard Dreyfuss is noted for coming on like gangbusters, volatile, opinionated, very much his own person.

But that does not make him immune to human frailties, and Tuesday morning Dreyfuss was feeling the warning signals of the Chicago bug, loss of vigor and pep, the beginning discomfort of a scratchy throat.

It wasn't about to stop him. It did temporarily quiet him down. Not like Richard Dreyfuss at all. But then, how can one predict how the unpredictable will react?

The self-willed, exuberant Dreyfuss may intimidate the less hearty and more refined. Still, in comparison to actors who hand out pat answers to boost their own PR or crawl inside themselves and hibernate, Dreyfuss is a refreshing change, even when he isn't feeling well.

If he doesn't want to eat hot peppers on the Dinah Shore show, bully for him. On talk shows he specifically asks not to participate in "silly games." But he's not so perfunctory that he doesn't care how it looks to the viewing audience when the rest of the panel leaves him behind.

Yet, over-all, he is basking in his own overnight success.

"I'M AN egomaniac. I love being talked about and talking about myself. And that usually overrules any boredom factor. But I'll admit if someone asks one more time how I got started in the business, I'm going to stick a fork to their face."

Dreyfuss doesn't mince words. He is his own best friend and also his biggest critic. That comes of being "honest," he said.

He's confident, even cocky, but readily admits to imperfection, certainly within his own craft.

"Sure, it sounds contradictory, but contradiction is a way of life. If that's wrong, I don't know I'm being wrong."

Dreyfuss compares it with waking up one morning feeling on top of the world, and the next — "mean, misery and a son of a bitch. It's all in the way you look at it."

The 28-year-old actor opens tonight at Arlington Park Theatre in August Strindberg's classic "Miss Julie," a play he chose because it is "erotic and thought-provoking. It's about a class differential, people who are unable to see beyond their station in life."

AND IT'S A good role, Dreyfuss continues, "one in which I'll get a good workout in areas in which I need improvement." It's a reason for returning to live stage when more financially lucrative movie offers continue to besiege him, ever since "Jaws" mania made him a hot box-office attraction.

"No one could have predicted it. No way at all," said Dreyfuss about the record-breaking success of "Jaws." It is the largest grossing film in movie history.

And though marine biologist Jacques Cousteau voices concern that sharks are receiving unfavorable, unfounded publicity, Dreyfuss feels otherwise.

"The public reaction is the proper one," he said. "People have the right to know about the danger of shark attacks. Until now it's been covered up. They've been lied to," he continued, rattling off an impressive list of statistics concerning shark attacks and disappearance of swimmers.

"I won't go swimming anymore."

"But you can get hit by a truck walking across the street, too," I interjected.

"Yes, but I wouldn't walk across the street blindfolded, either," he answered. "I won't go swimming but I do scuba dive." Though asked to star in "Jaws II," he turned down the offer.

More recently Dreyfuss has been busy promoting his new movie, "Inserts," which opens next week in Chicago. It's turned into the actor's most controversial talk-show topic.

"THE RATING X in general is unconstitutional," he genuinely believes. "And 'Inserts' should never have been labled X in the first place."

Both United Artists, who released the film, and Dreyfuss hope enough noise is made to prompt people to see the movie in spite of the rating. They just won't have as many theaters from which to choose, only 1,500 compared to the usual 8,000 nationwide. And all because of the one-letter rating.

Yes, Dreyfuss' talk-show appearances and discussions are not solely publicity stunts. If so, he'd play up his own performance. Instead, he considers his role of Hooper in "Jaws" his best work to date.

"The demands were not as great, but I feel I accomplished more," he said.

In April Dreyfuss begins filming a new movie which he has made a personal pledge not to discuss.

"It's a closed set. We had a closed set for 'Jaws' too because of the shark filming. But this closed set makes the 'Jaws' set look like a sieve."

And there's no way of even guessing his new role, not when he's played everything from a straight high school kid in "American Graffiti" to a young down-and-out film director forced to try for a comeback in skin flicks, which he portrays in "Inserts."

DREYFUSS, though reinforced with scrambled eggs and sausage, was slowly running out of stem.

Does he ever lack energy?

"No, but I'm extremely relaxed now so I know there's something wrong."

He talked a few minutes more about his future plans, "Hamlet" that he some day wants to do, "Julius Caesar" that he is doing next winter, and the satisfaction of being able to pick and choose his own material.

"That's what stardom is all about," he said. "Everything else is just the accouterments."

"But there isn't much to choose from," he continued. "Most everything coming out is bad. It's only the rare thing that is good. But that's always the way it's been. Maybe now it's even gotten a little worse. Fewer films are being made.

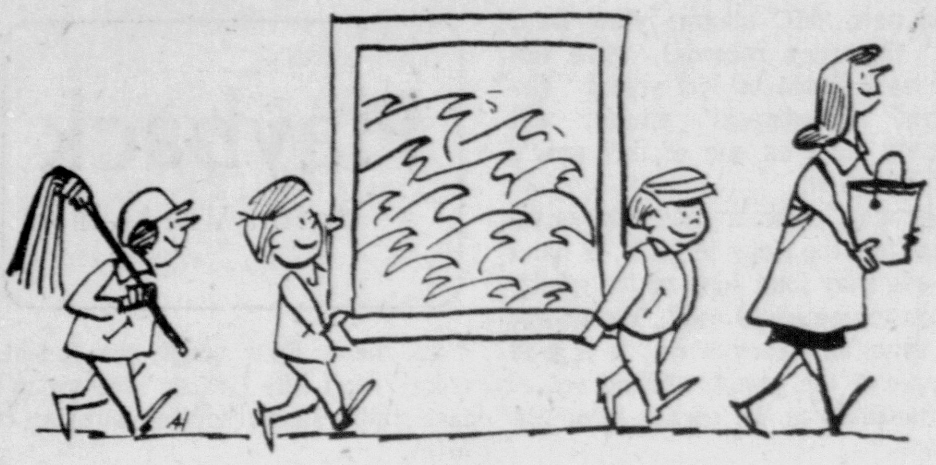
"There should be no such thing as commercial theater," he continued. "Ballet and symphony orchestras don't have to pay for themselves. Why should live theater?"

And Dreyfuss, while in Chicago, is willing to talk about that or any subject in front of high school and college classes. Why?

"Because I just like talking with kids. They can ask the questions, I'll answer — about theater, wisdom or anything. I don't know — do they teach wisdom in school?"

And with that Dreyfuss excused himself to return to his room and fortify himself with vitamin C. After all, how can a few sniffles ever compare to a "great white?"

RICHARD DREYFUSS plays a broken-down Hollywood "boy wonder" of the early 1930s who has turned to grinding out pornographic movies in his living room in his newest movie, "Inserts," scheduled to open this week in Chicago. Veronica Cartwright plays a Hollywood bit player reduced by her drug habit to working in sex movies.



Borrow artwork for your walls at the library

It's depressing to have good taste and not be able to afford it, four blank walls and nothing to hang, an interest in art but too budget conscious to collect it.

So instead you resign yourself to sterile living quarters and art gallery tours, hoping one day the Illinois Lottery selects you. Wrong. You visit your local library.

Pick out a Degas or a Rembrandt, admire it for a month, return it and pick out another Old Master. It won't cost a thing if you're a card-carrying member in good standing at the library.

The paintings are only reproductions but that's good enough. Who these days can afford even a scribble by Monet or Chagall?

Art for the asking is a service offered by local libraries. Many persons made aware of it have become regular patrons of the arts. Some pieces are so popular they must be reserved months in advance.

ALL OF RENOIR is always in demand and "Sunlight and Surf," a seascape by Charles Vickery, appeals to a wide audience in Arlington Heights. It's continually on request at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

Prints, reproduced on heavy cardboard, are framed (not glassed), bagged and ready to be carried home and hung. On loan for two months at a time (other libraries only allow one), the print may be borrowed free except if not returned on time. Then there is a late fee charged, same as a book.

Arlington Heights Memorial Library offers a selection of some 160 prints from extreme contemporary abstracts to the photo realism of Andrew Wyeth to celebrated examples of 18th century post impressionism.

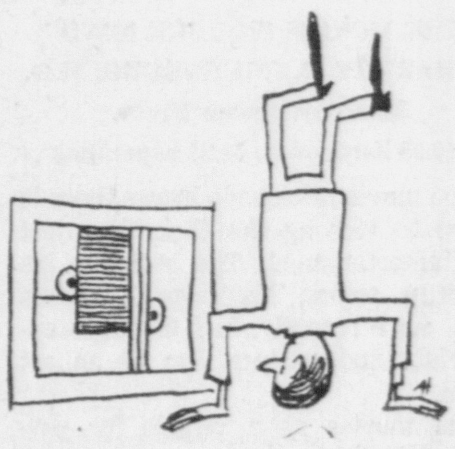
Reasons for borrowing art from local libraries is not always monetary. Many enjoy changing the mood of a room. Others find it educational. Biographical notes about the painting and artist are included on the back side of each print. Many people are interested in one day purchasing a permanent piece but can't make up their mind. They borrow to determine what type of art work they might eventually like to buy.

SOMETIMES PEOPLE borrow for a special occasion, a party or time of year. Now when winter is beginning to wear on even the most cold-blooded, cold-weather enthusiasts, "fields of daisies" landscapes are in short supply. Prints of "Madonna and Child" do well at Christmastime as do snow scenes.

The service is used quite heavily at Palatine Library where 125 prints in varying sizes and frames are checked out, one to a family per month.

Twenty-five of Schaumburg's collection are regularly traded among other members of the North Suburban Library Association so a new supply is continually featured. If you don't see something you like on a first visit, check back the following week.

Elk Grove Library, in addition to its regular collection of 145 reproductions, lends several original paintings done by students at Elk Grove High School. Table sculpture, both bronze and terra cotta, may also be checked out.



For just a small amount of money, original work matted and framed with glass may be rented from Countryside Art Center in Arlington Heights. Paintings worth up to $99 may be borrowed for two months for $5. Those valued from $100 to $199 cost $10. The fee goes up accordingly, per $100 value.

New 10cc album scores as humorous, inventive

Playback

by Tom Von Malder

The new 10CC album "How Dare You" (Mercury records), while not quite as brilliant as last year's "The Original Soundtrack" album, will probably rank as one of this year's most inventive.

Originality, humor and the unexpected are the keys to 10CC, a band that can play loud rock or the sweetest music one could want. The dense, lush sound of "Lazy Ways" is a good example of the yweet, althoug not as unforgettable as the earlier "I'm Not In Love."

A highlight of the new album is the instrumental title track which uses a variety of familiar and not so familiar instruments to recreate an Indian musical trip.

"I Wanna Rule the World" is the most extreme sample of the quartet's humor, although a close look at the lyrics of almost every song reveals a similar loony outlook.

Each song in the album is likable and becomes more so with each listening.

OTHER NEW releases, briefly:

"Y'Know Wot I Mean" by Speedy Keen (Island). Former Thunderclap Newman member ("Something In the Air") comes up with a solid, second solo album. Whether fun rock, with a '50s accent, or soft ballads, which dominate the second side, Keen is entertaining throughout and backed by some of Britain's best musicians. "Bad Boys," "Crazy Love," "I Promise You" and "My Love" are highlights.

"Frampton Comes Alive" by Peter Frampton (A&M). Former Humble Pie guitarist's fifth solo album is a double live set with only one song, "Shine On," not from his other four albums. Still, if the material is not new, the performance is as good or better in almost every instance. He is an exciting performer, whether on ballads like "Show Me the Way," and "Baby, I Love Your Way" or rockers like "Money" and "Jumping Jack Flash."

"A NIGHT AT THE Opera" by Queen (Elektra). Like 10CC, Queen enjoys changing the pace in mid-song. Queen, in addition, has the high, soaring harmonies that have made each of the three preceding albums as distinctive as this one. A new twist is a trio of songs with a Twenties flavor — "Seaside Rendezvous," "Good Company" and "Lazing On a Sunday Afternoon." The group's humor is found in songs like "I'm In Love With My Car." "The Prophet's Song" has an interesting a capella section.

"Live Mutha" by Black Oak Arkansas (Atco). A technically raw but powerful album from this "no holds barred" Southern group. First two songs, including hit "Jim Dandy," are disappointing but the pace accelerates from there. Four songs are repeats from "Ain't Life Grand," the group's last studio album before switching to MCA.

"Born To Die" by Grand Funk Railroad (Capitol). Typical GFR effort with loud, pounding beat and nothing new musically. There's even questionable pitch to the group's singing on "I Fell For Your Love." This effort is only for the group's fans, who probably have worn out their copies by now.

Soundings:

JOHN TRAVOLTA, of "Welcome Back, Kotter," has signed a record contract with Midland International. No album plans have been released for the former star of Broadway's "Grease."

DAVE BRUBECK begins a 22-performance tour with the former members of his quartet, who last performed as a group in 1967. The tour will mainly be on the East Coast.

NORTHWESTERN University will offer a spring quarter mini-course on rock'n'roll. Lectures will be on discos as well as other aspects of the business in the non-credit course.

ANSON WILLIAMS, of "Happy Days," will be the opening act for several Tanya Tucker concerts. He has sung on the show.

Psychiatrist explains how movies can play on the mind

The book stall

"THE MOVIES ON YOUR MIND"
by HARVEY M. GREENBERG, M.D.
Saturday Review Press,
$10.95 hardcover; $4.95 paperback

The movie aficionado knows there is more to viewing the flick than just idle entertainment. The buff has his favorite actors, his favorite scenes and, more recently, he's begun to appreciate and analyze film as an art form.

But movies as a vehicle for psycholanalysis?

Well, there's a lot more there than meets the eye, says Dr. Harvey R. Greenberg, psychiatrist, psycholanalyst and author of "The Movies On Your Mind."

An admitted movie maniac himself, weaned on an era of Frankensteins, Tarzans, Hoot Gibsons and Joan Crawfords, Greenberg says the cinema reaches deeply into the human psyche, a lot more than most folks realize.

SAYS GREENBERG: "We willingly surrender control over our lives, sometimes light years away to remote times and fabulous regions . . . we let the movie take up where we left off. They seem to think like we do and, therefore, it is amazingly easy to let them live for us."

And in a lively, laconic, but not overly complicated writing style, Greenberg, every bit the Freudian psychologist, plays it for all it's worth.

He commonly uses the cinema as a Rorhschach (personality) test, saying his queries about patients' favorite films invariably reveal one or more aspects of the individual's psychic "geography."

An individual's neurotic conflicts very often show themselves charging with the light brigade, smashing the opposition with John Wayne or, even in some cases, the porno movie houses.

BUT THAT'S ONLY part of it. Greenberg dissects or at least touches upon some 100 films, "The Wizard of Oz," "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre,'' "Maltese Falcon," and "Psycho" among them, and tells how they can be applied to the patient on the couch.

For example, Dorothy's odyssey in "Wizard of Oz" exemplifies the delicate transition from childhood to adult responsibility.

The ornado-induced sojourn weakens her childhood ties to much-missed "Auntie Em" as she turns her affections in adolescent fashion to the lion, tinman and scarecrow, a range of people outside her home.

FRED C. DOBBS, protagonist of "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," suffers from a "success neurosis" of fear of failing. Indeed, in the 1948 classic, Bogart is driven to extreme lengths to ensure that he and he alone will reap the fruits of a gold prospecting expedition.

He sees the violent Alfred Hitchcock chiller, "Psycho," as a montage of obsessional hangups among its characters, even the victim of the bloody shower murder scene played by Janet Leigh.

And Hitchcock, its creator, is not immune to the specimen rack in this one as Greenberg discusses the filmmaker's inner vision for portraying the potential corruptibility of man despite Hitchcock's own orderly private existence.

Are Frankenstein movies your thing? If so, Greenberg says you may be the parallel of his conception of the monster, a typically battered child who lashes out at his "laboratory parents."

Unless you're into psychology and/or believe in Freud, Greenberg's book probably will not greatly heighten your enjoyment of film, but he does give it a new and interesting twist.

AND IF YOU ARE a buff in wonderment about what psychological conflicts and desires keep your eyes glued to the screen, Greenberg probably has the diagnosis.

He commonly uses the cinema as a Rorhschach (personality) test, saying his queries about patients' favorite films invariably reveal one or more aspects of the individual's psychic "geography."

An individual's neurotic conflicts very often show themselves charging with the light brigade, smashing the opposition with John Wayne or, even in some cases, the porno movie houses.

BUT THAT'S ONLY part of it. Greenberg dissects or at least touches upon some 100 films, "The Wizard of Oz," "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," "Maltese Falcon," and "Psycho" among them, and tells how they can be applied to the patient on the couch.

For example, Dorothy's odyssey in "Wizard of Oz" exemplifies the delicate transition from childhood to adult responsibility.

The ornado-induced sojourn weakens her childhood ties to much-missed "Auntie Em" as she turns her affections in adolescent fashion to the lion, tinman and scarecrow, a range of people outside her home.

FRED C. DOBBS, protagonist of "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," suffers from a "success neurosis" of fear of failing. Indeed, in the 1948 classic, Bogart is driven to extreme lengths to ensure that he and he alone will reap the fruits of a gold prospecting expedition.

He sees the violent Alfred Hitchcock chiller, "Psycho," as a montage of obsessional hangups among its characters, even the victim of the bloody shower murder scene played by Janet Leigh.

And Hitchcock, its creator, is not immune to the specimen rack in this one as Greenberg discusses the filmmaker's inner vision for portraying the potential corruptibility of man despite Hitchcock's own orderly private existence.

Are Frankenstein movies your thing? If so, Greenberg says you may be the parallel of his conception of the monster, a typically battered child who lashes out at his "laboratory parents."

Unless you're into psychology and/or believe in Freud, Greenberg's book probably will not greatly heighten your enjoyment of film, but he does give it a new and interesting twist.

AND IF YOU ARE a buff in wonderment about what psychological conflicts and desires keep your eyes glued to the screen, Greenberg probably has the diagnosis.

Two top performers share stage for Mill Run opener

by JOE SWICKARD
(A review)

Mill Run Theater in Niles has elected to open its seventh consecutive season with class: Dionne Warwick and Isaac Hayes.

When the highest cheekbones and the deepest voice in show business perform together the result is nothing but fine.

Dionne asked the question that was on everyone's mind: "What in the world are Dionne Warwick and Isaac Hayes going to do together?" The answer is: provide great music.

Hayes' deep, breathy bedroom voice offsets Miss Warwick's clear strength, control and phrasing work. The two work so well together they are even able to bring off a moving version of "Indian Love Call."

HAYES HAS forsaken the smoke and chains he affected during his "Black Moses" period following the phenomenal success of "Shaft." Instead he concentrates on his music rather than theatrics to carry the show.

And Miss Warwick continues to sing with a touching style and grace that is only improved by seeing her in person.

They perform on a virtually empty stage set only with two stools. Yet the rapport and intimacy they are able to develop during the two-hour program warms the entire audience. The respect for each other is evident; there is no mugging or upstaging, but rather a quiet attentiveness directed from one to the other.

HAYES AND MISS Warwick work smoothly through familiar ballads, sometimes combining them with interwoven verse and chorus, a method which comes across well on "I Don't Know What to Do/Walk On By," and "I Say a Little Prayer/By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

Naturally, Hayes' "Shaft" has to be done. But it's done quickly. Then back to the ballads. They also take time for a disco number, "Get Down Tonight." The uptempo is the proper boost for the audience.

Hayes and Miss Warwick perform as equals. Both brought their own band, vocal backup chorus and conductor. The accompanists work as well together as do the headliners.

Ice show a kids' treat

The annual Ice Capades has two companies in the middle of tours which are taking them to nearly every state in the U.S. between now and May. They open Thursday at the Chicago Stadium for 16 performances. Walter Logan caught the show last month in New York.

by WALTER LOGAN

Ice Capades is back and the costumes and settings appear to be more glittering than ever before. There is great skating, of course, but this show is a treat for kiddies, not for adults, unless they are true Ice Capades buffs who go back year after year.

Children were absolutely goggle-eyed and squealed with delight at a production number called "Happy Birthday Yogi Bear." Yogi sat on a throne as his friends from the world of television cartoons skated before him: The Flintstones, Scooby Doo, Huckleberry Hound and the others.

THE HIGHLIGHTS of this one came when some of the lucky children, mostly in the front rows, were taken for a ride around the Garden ice in carts designed as slices of a huge birthday cake. Some of those not so lucky yowled in frustration.

It wasn't all children. There was a spectacular number laid in the palace court of an ancient Mongolian empire, involving the love of Tsing-Tsu, skated by Sarah Kawahara, a Canadian gold medalist of Japanese descent, and Ken Shelley, winner of many gold medals. They were spectacular, but the kids appeared to like it most when the evil ruler brought the palace crashing down into the ice.

ANOTHER STAR was the beautiful Jo Jo Starbuck, who looked remarkably like a Barbie doll as she went through her byrations with Paul Guzman and Billy Chapel in a physical fitness number skated in a make-believe gymnasium.

There were two sets of comedians, and the kids loved that, too — Terry Head and Gisela as a husband-and-wife team and Johnny La Brecque and Bob Mac in some slapstick that provides for pratfalls and other low-jinks.

Greek Night an ethnic adventure

When Greek Night comes to the Pickwick House Restaurant, 10 Northwest Hwy., Palatine, there is plenty of Rhoditis wine, savory Greek dishes, enticing belly dancers and bouzouki music to last you long into the night.

Owner Jimmy Spetzos features the event about twice a year, offering his patrons a true festival for the senses and an authentic dosei of an already popular Greek culture.

More than 200 persons who attended Pickwick's Greek Night Monday, lingered on through three belly-dancing floor shows and line dancing that began at 7 p.m. and continued until 3 a.m.

Featuring:
Pickwick House

MOST GUESTS began dinner with a flaming cheese appetizer, saganaki, an excellent blend of sharp "kefaloutiri" cheese and lemon, $1.75. An alternative was a small plate of sliced gyros, a blend of beef and lamb, on a bed of onions, $2.50.

A seven-item menu featured such Greek specialties as dolmades, stuffed grape leaves in egg-lemon sauce, $5.25; pastichio, Greek-style lasagna, $4.25; roast lamb and rice pilaf, $5.50; and shish kabob, pork and lamb skewered with tomatoes and green peppers, $5.50.

A combination plate, $6.25, also offered a sampling of dolmades, pastichio and roast lamb.

Pastichio is a tasty helping of round noodles and ground beef, lightly seasoned with nutmeg and topped with a thick layer of custard. The dolmades are meaty and juicy with a zesty but thin egg-lemon sauce.

The roast lamb is sliced thick and tender, served on a fluffy bed of rice pilaf.

ALL DINNER entrees included a serving of creamy egg and lemon soup and a Greek salad with its distinctive calamata olives, anchovies and "feta," which is a white and salty cheese made of goat's milk.

A bottle of Rhoditis for $5.95 and baskets of fresh bread rounded out the meal; but only a shot of ouzo, a Greek liqueur, or a piece of baklava, a layered dessert of paper-thin dough, nuts and honey, could properly top it off.

Three belly dancers who performed in shimmering, beaded costumes to the sounds of the Kamaras Orchestra offered a lively spark of entertainment to the evening. It was a lot of "Oopa" for the money.

The Pickwick House, open daily from 11 a.m. to midnight, also offers a reasonably priced gourmet dinner menu.

Bill o' fare

HOUSE SPECIALTIES like flaming roast long island duck, $7.25, and flaming steak Diane, $9.95, are prepared tableside by maitre d' Louis Malamos.

The meat is cooked in a pleasing blend of herbs and spices and served with a unique mixture of wild rice.

Flaming lobster and shrimp cotillion, sauteed in herbs and liquor, $10.95, is a specialty of the house as is a special blend of after-dinner coffee.

Dinner entrees are accompanied by loaves of sour dough bread and a large salad that is especially good when topped with a creamy, house dressing made with oil, vinegar, anchovies and cheeses.

One can also choose from a wide selection of traditionally prepared meats, fowl and seafood. A wine list accommodates a variety of preferences from a 1971 Chateau Lafite Rothschild at $45 a bottle to a $7.50 bottle of German Zeller Schwarze Katz, 1972.

AN APPETIZER of rich, French onion soup au gratin can make the meal even more complete. The broth includes large bits of onion, bread slices and white, Italian cheese, $1.25. It is a warming way to begin dinner in contrast to an equally pleasing shrimp cocktail supreme.

And the best way to end the meal is by ordering a brandied ice, $2, an ice cream dessert which is flamed on a dish set before you.

The restaurant differs from two others that Spetzos owns: the Pickwick House in Park Ridge, which is casual family dining, and Mangam's Chateau in Lyons, offering formal dining with floor shows.

But Palatine's Pickwick House is an appropriate place for suburbanites to either take an occasional Greek fling or enjoy a peaceful meal at the end of a long day.

Twenty years of modern dance

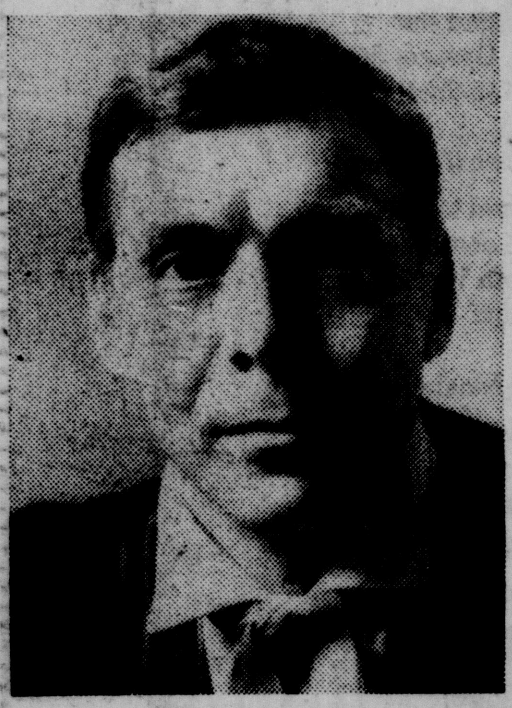
by GLENNE CURRIE
(A review)

Choreographer Paul Taylor has come up with a couple of real winning works which his dance company's countless fans across the country soon will have a chance to see.

The Taylor company probably has introduced more Americans to modern dance than any other group, constantly touring and living out of suitcases for the past 20 years. Its dozen dancers have played every big city, most towns and more campuses than they can remember, as well as 34 foreign countries.

The company celebrated its 20th anniversary with a brief Broadway season — its 12th — last month at the Mark Hellinger Theatre. Fans besieged the box office.



PAUL TAYLOR

The single program they saw consisted of: the satiric 1965 "From Sea to Shining Sea," resurrected for the Bicentennial; "Esplanade," first seen last year, and the local premiere of his latest work, "Runes."

The title of "Runes," danced to haunting piano music by Gerald Busby is described in the program notes as "secret writings for use in casting a spell." The work indeed concerns primitive magic but seems centered more on Plaines Indians than on Norsemen, as befits Taylor's constant theme of America.

IT IS DANCED on a faintly lit stage, with an orange moon inching across the sky. A medicine man raises a woman from the dead; she dances with him and his initiates in a night-long secret ritual. There is no scenery — all the visual effects are accomplished by Jennifer Tipton's superb lighting — and the costumes are simple, the only hint at time and place being the buffalo-fur shoulderpieces worn by the men. The over-all effect is magical, with a vivid sense of centuries-old ritual.

"Esplanade" is at the other end of the dance spectrum, a mixture of isolation and joyous relationships, to excerpts from two Bach violin concerti. The first movement, full of fast walking and running movements and sharp turns, has the nine dancers touching and moving together in innocent joi de vivre. The second movement sees the same dancers reaching out to one another but unable to make contact, secretive, protective and ends with them on all fours, crawling like animals.

The third movement is an elaboration of the first, with the dancers pairing off in a series of lyrical duets, constantly exchanging partners. The final section heightens the same theme, with tossed lifts, the girls throwing themselves across the stage into their partners' arms with greater and greater abandon till the curtain falls. The combination of movement and music should make "Esplanade" a crowd pleaser wherever it is shown.

"From Sea to Shining Sea" pokes fun at American institutions and history: the Pilgrim Fathers, George Washington, amateur night, the Statue of Liberty, "Uncle Sam Wants you," the flapper age, the Ku Klux Klan. All ends with the Statue of Liberty slumping exhausted — or bored — into a chair. The individual numbers are often hilarious, but there are longueurs as Taylor sets up each joke.

One disappointment is that Taylor himself, who has created the company's entire repertory, has given up dancing for the present.

"I was sick for a while and I thought, 'Why should I be killing myself?'" he said in an interview between rehearsals.

"I miss dancing," he added. "But I'm not sad about it. I've never been really keen about a lot of people watching me. I love audiences. When an audience shows its appreciation, it's wonderful. But it makes me a little uncomfortable to be watched, both in public and private life."

A STARTLING admission for a man for whom dance has been his whole existence for more than 20 of his 45 years. But talking to him in the comfortable, somewhat fusty-Edwardian apartment in lower Manhattan which he shares with his mutt Deedee, you realize that, despite his charm, intelligence, talent and popularity in the entertainment field, Paul Taylor is a very private person.

"Touring has been my life for 20 years," he said. "I eventually did get a bit weary. I'm not dancing at all now. I just prefer not to. I like to give my full attention to the others. I've been urged to start a school, but I want to channel my energies to the performance."

A recent three-year Mellon Foundation grant of more than $100,000 may give him a chance to do just that.

Taylor is somewhat bemused by the grant. "It's very interesting," he said. "But I don't know how to spend it. What I'd really like to do is to give the dancers more money."

He's vague about where he gets his choreographic inspiration.

"I think of it primarily as a visual art. If there's a piece of music with some drama in it, there's a little direction there. Painting has a certain influence, though I use very little scenery. I like the dancers to be the main attraction. If you put too much behind the dancers, the effect gets blurred."

Scenic drawings by Martyl exhibited at Art Institute

Landscape pen-and-brush drawings of Greece, Turkey and North America by Schaumburg artist Martyl are on exhibit in Gallery 108A of The Art Institute of Chicago through March 28.

Most of the 12 selected for this show were inspired by Greek landscape and done on the spot. As strong and vibrant as if in color, the pen line serves to build areas of tone that block out larger forms, the brush creates planes with a single stroke, and washes evoke the movement of clouds and shadows.

This is Martyl's second one-artist exhibit at the Art Institute. The first, in 1947, appeared in The Room of Chicago Art.

Martyl is the wife of Alexander Langsdorf Jr., a nuclear physicist.

Children's art classes starting

A new five-week session starts Tuesday for children's classes at Countryside Art Center, 414 N. Vail, Arlington Heights.

Six class times are available for 6-10 year-olds — Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays 4-6 p.m. or Saturdays 9-11 a.m., 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. or 3-5 p.m. The class for 11-14 year-olds will be held Saturdays 1-3 p.m. The fee is $13.50 per session.

The pre-school class for 4-6 year-olds will meet Fridays 9-10 a.m. The cost is $7.25.

All class fees include supplies. The gallery is open 1-5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays for registration. Information is available at 255-3005.

Magician and singer

Two ladies steal Blue Max show

Some of the best shows I've caught in the BLUE MAX of the HYATT REGENCY O'HARE have focused on female entertainers.

Two very funny ladies, one concentrating on magic, the other singing, are currently performing. And the arrangement is working out just swell. JUDY CARTER opens the show for MARILYN MICHAELS.

How can one not appreciate a female magician who is able to gear her whole routine around a stalk of celery? And she's modern, using short circuit TV for one feat in which she guesses the numbers submitted by members of the audience.

Male magicians usually require female helpers, but Judy does it all on her own with a little aid from one man seated up close — "it's about time a man gets sawed in half by a woman," quips Judy.

Anyone who can make a parody out of magic while performing some astonishing feats is doing a terrific job. And that's Judy.

Equally pleasing to watch and listen to is Marilyn Michaels. I always judge singers by their opening number and Marilyn has a rousing, original one, "Let's Hear It for Me." She's slow and sentimental on the ballads, corny and spirited on her female impressions — Ethel Merman, Eartha Kitt, Connie Francis and Mae West. Even Dinah Shore receives a well-deserved dig.

Miss Michaels is extremely versatile. After apologizing for being nearsighted, she brings out the old glasses, sits down at the keyboard and pounds out an impressive boogiei.

Michaels and Carter are entertaining together through Feb. 28. Next on the Bill is Barbara Eden, March 1-13, followed by David Brenner, March 15-27.

During the last week, playwright JACK SHARKEY has been shuffling between his Elk Grove home and PHEASANT RUN PLAYHOUSE in St. Charles to watch how his comedy, "GENTLEMAN AND A SCOUNDREL" is coming together.

BILL DAILY is playing the lead in Sharkey's fifth work, which is having its premiere at the playhouse, officially opening next Wednesday.

Daily first read the script last year and wanted then to do the play, but he couldn't get away from television long enough. He plays the role of Howard Borden, the neighbor of Bob and Emily Hartley on the "Bob Newhart Show."

"He asked if we could hold it. I really like him so I didn't mind at all," said Sharkey, who has waited a full year but feels now it was all worth it.

Get ready. SECOND CITY is putting the finishing touches on its 52nd review, promising that it "differs from the first 51 in content. Only the audience is being held over."

Life, death, money and boxing are subjects of Second City's parody of a new daytime TV show called "Liberal Challenge," of the satiric comedy team of Cheecha and Costello and of a "Quickie Theater" that digests the classics and produces a 40-second Hamlet. Think you can handle it?

The cast of seven is under the direction of BERNARD SAHLINS. Cast members are MIRIAM FLYNN, ANN RYERSON, GEORGE WENDT, JIM SHERMAN, DON DEPOLLO, ERIC BOARDMAN and STEVE KAMPMANN. Most of them have been held over from the 51st review. Opening night is Wednesday.

Ask Andy

Cacti make thrifty use of water

..Andy sends a 20-volume set of the Merit Students Encyclopedia to Pamela June Payne, 11, of Fayette, W.Va., for her question:

HOW CAN CACTUS LIVE WITHOUT WATER?

When we think of the desert, we immediately conjure up visions of flat, desolate expanses of land, dry and hot. Our vision may contain a dry barren lake or shimmering hot sand dune. Occasionally a cactus plant will appear, proud and alone, almost daring in its staunch determination to survive in such a harsh, waterless environment.

Because it is such a thrifty hoarder, the cactus plant lives with a minimum of water. Many varieties have vast spreading root systems covering large areas close to the ground's surface. When a brief rain occurs, these roots absorb the welcome water almost instantly.

The stems of cactus plants are usually plump and swollen, sometimes forming huge water stores. Often they are pleated, which allows them to stretch out, providing more room still for water storage. Some, such as the barrel cactus, are like enormous water butts, while others, like the saguaro cactus, form long tube-like columns strecthing high into the sky.

A cactus plant doesn't really have leaves through which water can be lost by evaporation. What's more, since cacti are so compact, their surface area is relatively small — another important plus in keeping water loss down. The cactus plant not only knows how to absorb water quickly in the brief instances when it is available, it also has the lowdown on how to keep it. In one laboratory experiment a cactus plant was left unwatered for several years. Guess what? — it lost only a third of its precious moisture!

The prickly cactus is a perennial plant, and some varieties can live for hundreds of years. The more than 1,300 species of cacti generally grow very slowly because of their boom or bust diets. Although the cacti family originated in America, many species are at home in other parts of the world.

We might think that the prickly thorns a cactus wears would be enough to discourage any living creature from coming near it. Not so. At the peak of the dry season, the prairie jack rabbit gorges himself with cactus stems as a plentiful source of water. Many of the large cacti serve as hotels for small birds and rodents. The tiny cactus wren, for example, knows her nest and chicks are safe from hungry predatory snakes who won't hassle the barbs and thorns.

In years past, desert Indians well knew the value of certain cacti, particularly the saguaro. They mashed its stems for nourishing liquids, ate its tasty fruit and made butter from its seeds. Even when the plant died it was useful, for its remains could be burned as fuel.

When the brief rains arrive, the desert is transformed into a brilliant display of color. As if to say thank you, the cacti put on a show of blossoms in vivid hues of red, orange and yellow. One, the hedgehog cactus, dons a gorgeous garment of pinkish-red blossoms. When these fade, a cluster of strawberry-flavored fruit remains.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Glenn A. Mandel, 10, of Monarch Alta., Canada, or his question:

WHAT ARE THE LONG, THIN WORMS INSIDE CRICKETS?

Imagine a long, thin strand of hair wriggling around and you have an idea of the almost invisible worms that sometimes live inside crickets. Strangely enough, these super-thin white worms are usually harmless to the cricket unless they are in great numbers They can be very long — the male sometimes reaching two feet in length, and the female a whopping three feet.

These worms are commonly called horse hair worms or just plain hair worms. They are related to a large group of wormy creatures called nematodes, and scientists who know about such things say their family name is gordiacae. These wiggly fellows have a very complicated life cycle, one that includes living in clear, still water and also inside crickets and cricket relatives.

Do you have a question to ASK ANDY? Send it on a post card with your name, age and complete address to ASK ANDY in care of The Herald, P.O. Box 680, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006. Entries open to girls and boys 7 to 17.

Cacti make thrifty use of water

HOW CAN CACTUS LIVE WITHOUT WATER?

When we think of the desert, we immediately conjure up visions of flat, desolate expanses of land, dry and hot. Our vision may contain a dry barren lake or shimmering hot sand dune. Occasionally a cactus plant will appear, proud and alone, almost daring in its staunch determination to survive in such a harsh, waterless environment.

Because it is such a thrifty hoarder, the cactus plant lives with a minimum of water. Many varieties have vast spreading root systems covering large areas close to the ground's surface. When a brief rain occurs, these roots absorb the welcome water almost instantly.

The stems of cactus plants are usually plump and swollen, sometimes forming huge water stores. Often they are pleated, which allows them to stretch out, providing more room still for water storage. Some, such as the barrel cactus, are like enormous water butts, while others, like the saguaro cactus, form long tube-like columns streching high into the sky.

A cactus plant doesn't really have leaves through which water can be lost by evaporation. What's more, since cacti are so compact, their surface area is relatively small — another important plus in keeping water loss down. The cactus plant not only knows how to absorb water quickly in the brief instances when it is available, it also has the lowdown on how to keep it. In one laboratory experiment a cactus plant was left unwatered for several years. Guess what? — it lost only a third of its precious moisture!

The prickly cactus is a perennial plant, and some varieties can live for hundreds of years. The more than 1,300 species of cacti generally grow very slowly because of their boom or bust diets. Although the cacti family originated in America, many species are at home in other parts of the world.

We might think that the prickly thorns a cactus wears would be enough to discourage any living creature from coming near it. Not so. At the peak of the dry season, the prairie jack rabbit gorges himself with cactus stems as a plentiful source of water. Many of the large cacti serve as hotels for small birds and rodents. The tiny cactus wren, for example, knows her nest and chicks are safe from hungry predatory snakes who won't hassle the barbs and thorns.

In years past, desert Indians well knew the value of certain cacti, particularly the saguaro. They mashed its stems for nourishing liquids, ate its tasty fruit and made butter from its seeds. Even when the plant died it was useful, for its remains could be burned as fuel.

When the brief rains arrive, the desert is transformed into a brilliant display of color. As if to say thank you, the cacti put on a show of blossoms in vivid hues of red, orange and yellow. One, the hedgehog cactus, dons a gorgeous garment of pinkish-red blossoms. When these fade, a cluster of strawberry-flavored fruit remains.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Glenn A. Mandel, 10, of Monarch Alta., Canada, or his question:

WHAT ARE THE LONG, THIN WORMS INSIDE CRICKETS?

Imagine a long, thin strand of hair wriggling around and you have an idea of the almost invisible worms that sometimes live inside crickets. Strangely enough, these super-thin white worms are usually harmless to the cricket unless they are in great numbers They can be very long — the male sometimes reaching two feet in length, and the female a whopping three feet.

These worms are commonly called horse hair worms or just plain hair worms. They are related to a large group of wormy creatures called nematodes, and scientists who know about such things say their family name is gordiacae. These wiggly fellows have a very complicated life cycle, one that includes living in clear, still water and also inside crickets and cricket relatives.

ABC relies on cop to hike ratings

by JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Saturday night has been the loneliest night of the week for ABC, when its healthy weekday audiences would dwindle to unsettling lows.

The latest hope for pulling Saturday night up from the bottom of the Nielsens is a cop show, which is one way to arrest an audience.

Whether the show takes the high or low road toward audience appeal remains a question.

THE PREMISE is that you can take the cop out of New York, but you can't take New York out of Bert D'Angelo. Whether New York's Finest will have reason to appreciate the compliment remains to be seen.

"Bert D'Angelo — Superstar" tells the adventures of a New York City cop who joins the San Francisco police force. The first episode doesn't explain why he migrated West nor why he's called "Superstar" but no doubt all will come clear in a later chapter.

In the debut Paul Sarvino plays D'Angelo as an overweight, untidy plainclothes sergeant with an authentic New York mumble and an appealing combination of authority and friendliness.

D'Angelo makes an amusing contrast with his fellow San Francisco policemen, all of whom are better barbered, with creases in their trousers and a general look of middle management.

IN THE premiere episode, which airs Saturday at 9 p.m., D'Angelo is confronted with the murder of an unknown woman, and also with the disappearing wife of an old friend.

The opening show of the series was long on plot, rare in cop shows these days, but short on the humor audiences appear to like liberally sprinkled throughout their entertainment.

The story leaves no doubt whodunit. It's a question of why — thereby hangs a tale that's twisty enough to be intriguing in the telling, but distinctly unsatisfactory in the solution because it really doesn't explain all the complications.

"Superstar" in its time slot will have an uphill battle, not only because of ABC's traditional Saturday night weak spot, but also because it must compete with Carol Burnett on CBS and NBC Saturday Night at the Movies, which can pull them in for a really good show.

South looked over dummy and thought to himself, "Why does everything happen to me? Why couldn't I be allowed to play a safe and sure six spades?"

South won the diamond lead and rattled off four rounds of trumps while West chucked two hearts and East two hearts and a club. Then South cashed dummy's other high diamond, ruffed a diamond, cashed the ace and king of hearts and dummy's last trump. He discarded a club. East chucked his last heart and West the jack of diamonds.

The moment of decision had arrived. East and West were known to hold five clubs between them. The sixth card was the eight of diamonds.

Both East and West had discarded in a manner to make it impossible for South to know where the eight of diamonds was. They also had given no clues as to the location of the really important club queen.

You readers can all see that queen of clubs in the East hand. As for poor South, he went wrong and played West for the queen of clubs.

ABC relies on cop to hike ratings

by JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Saturday night has been the loneliest night of the week for ABC, when its healthy weekday audiences would dwindle to unsettling lows.

The latest hope for pulling Saturday night up from the bottom of the Nielsens is a cop show, which is one way to arrest an audience.

Whether the show takes the high or low road toward audience appeal remains a question.

THE PREMISE is that you can take the cop out of New York, but you can't take New York out of Bert D'Angelo. Whether New York's Finest will have reason to appreciate the compliment remains to be seen.

"Bert D'Angelo — Superstar" tells the adventures of a New York City cop who joins the San Francisco police force. The first episode doesn't explain why he migrated West nor why he's called "Superstar" but no doubt all will come clear in a later chapter.

In the debut Paul Sarvino plays D'Angelo as an overweight, untidy plainclothes sergeant with an authentic New York mumble and an appealing combination of authority and friendliness.

D'Angelo makes an amusing contrast with his fellow San Francisco policemen, all of whom are better barbered, with creases in their trousers and a general look of middle management.

IN THE premiere episode, which airs Saturday at 9 p.m., D'Angelo is confronted with the murder of an unknown woman, and also with the disappearing wife of an old friend.

The opening show of the series was long on plot, rare in cop shows these days, but short on the humor audiences appear to like liberally sprinkled throughout their entertainment.

The story leaves no doubt whodunit. It's a question of why — thereby hangs a tale that's twisty enough to be intriguing in the telling, but distinctly unsatisfactory in the solution because it really doesn't explain all the complications.

"Superstar" in its time slot will have an uphill battle, not only because of ABC's traditional Saturday night weak spot, but also because it must compete with Carol Burnett on CBS and NBC Saturday Night at the Movies, which can pull them in for a really good show.

Game reduced to a guess

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

South looked over dummy and thought to himself, "Why does everything happen to me? Why couldn't I be allowed to play a safe and sure six spades?"

South won the diamond lead and rattled off four rounds of trumps while West chucked two hearts and East two hearts and a club. Then South cashed dummy's other high diamond, ruffed a diamond, cashed the ace and king of hearts and dummy's last trump. He discarded a club. East chucked his last heart and West the jack of diamonds.

The moment of decision had arrived. East and West were known to hold five clubs between them. The sixth card was the eight of diamonds.

Both East and West had discarded in a manner to make it impossible for South to know where the eight of diamonds was. They also had given no clues as to the location of the really important club queen.

You readers can all see that queen of clubs in the East hand. As for poor South, he went wrong and played West for the queen of clubs.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Bev Patterson Delivers a Truckload Of Pianos for Student Competition

Bev Patterson Kimball Piano and Organ Co. will be delivering about 80 pianos to help sponsor the Illinois Grade School Music contest February 21st thru 29th. Grands, spinets and consoles — all will be available for the over 4,000 students who will be participating in these contests open to the public at two area schools.

And here's the really good news for you — all of these pianos will be on sale to the public after the concert at SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL PRICES. Bev Patterson is selling to the public for rates usually reserved just for schools! These values can be found

Area sends 41 wrestlers to sectional tournaments

by KEITH REINHARD
Wrestling Editor

One more mountain to climb.

That obstacle is called a sectional wrestling tournament and 41 area grapplers stand before one at this moment, their aspirations geared toward the Illinois High School Assn. state finals beyond.

For each wrestler the peak is comprised of three plateaus — the number of victories one must achieve in succession to reign at a particular weight. There is an alternate route, sometimes through the wrestlebacks, but it is not nearly as certain.

"Just getting there is the thing."

More than a few coaches have echoed this refrain and it is a meaningful message. out of seven sectional tournaments and a Chicago conference meet this weekend will emerge nearly 200 qualifiers for the state finals at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall in Champaign, Feb. 27-28.

And only a dozen of those 200 will don crowns. But to be a participant in the spectacle conducted by the IHSA downstate at the end of the month is an experience remembered for a lifetime. Just getting there may not be as exciting as winning in the finals but it is still an achievement afforded only a precious few of the thousands participating in wrestling programs throughout Illinois during each winter.

Herald area grapplers filter through three sectional sites beginning with opening round action Friday evening. Representatives from the Crown and Ridgewood districts head for West Leyden while Elgin district qualifiers travel to Naperville and Highland Park entries shuttle to Barrington.

A second session will be conducted at each meet Saturday afternoon at 1:00 with the finals slated for Saturday at 7 p.m. Here's what to look for:

WEST LEYDEN

East Leyden and Glenbrook South are the teams to watch in the Northlake showdown which perennially turns out more than its share of individual state finalists.

Eagle coach Chuck Farina will bring no less than six district champs and two more runnersup into the fray and the Titans will be represented in seven divisions, four of them coming off district titles.

Other clubs with strong collective possibilities include Dick Carlini's Maine West unit (two champs, five runnersup), Rick Mann's Hersey outfit (two and three), Maine East (three and two), Gordon Tech (three and two), Dundee (three and one), Maine South with four champs, Niles East with three and Rolling Meadows with three.

At 98 pounds, Palatine's Mike Cullen and Warrior Tom Krauser are in a barcket that Bob Porter of Niles West (26-3) figres to dominate Porter's brother Bob (26-0-2) will probably be even more of a force at 105 although this arena also includes New Trier West's Lee Goldsmith (34-1), John

NEARING VICTORY. While the official signals his proximity to defeat, Adolph Yaniz of Maine South expresses more than slight discomfort over a situation applied by Don Arrigo of Maine West. Arrigo triumphed 12-2, his second win of the evening, but defaulted out of the Ridgewood district tourney the next day while his Warrior teammates went on to win the title.

The hills were alive with sounds of 'Rosi, Rosi'

I've never been on skis, my skating days ended years ago, and streaking down a hill on a luge is not my thing.

The Winter Olympics offer everything I'm not really interested in, but that didn't detract one bit from this truly spectacular show.

For someone who has become more of the indoor type, a specialist in sitting, I must admit I was sorry to see the Games come to an end.

Much has been said and written about the Olympics and the coverage on television. One Chicago sports announcer this week said ABC spent too much time on the Winter Olympics and then admitted his wife was happy to see them end.

Considering the garbage on television these days, I can't believe that extensive Olympics coverage once every four years is so difficult to accept.

For me, it was a very pleasant diversion, that daily visit via satellite to the medieval Tyrolean city of Innsbruck, and those little side trips to the village of Igls, or the Bergisel Stadium, or Patscherkofel and Lizum, or that delightful hamlet of Seefeld.

JIM McKAY

I was fascinated with the architectural centerpiece of the XII Winter Olympiad: a graceful falling squiggle of white ice used for the bobsled and luge run, streaming down the mountainside.

It's a little sad to know the 1980 Games will not be in charming Innsbruck but in Lake Placid, a slightly seedy village by comparison that hopes to transform itself into a gleaming Winter Olympic capital.

Somehow, it seems like the Winter Olympics always should be in Innsbruck, with strains from "The Sound of Music" playing in the background.

I became so accustomed to welcoming ABC's Jim McKay into my home that I felt like saying, as the television set warmed up, "Good evening, Jim. How are you? Hope everything is going well over there in Innsbruck."

I don't know about you, but I think McKay is about the best thing going in sports commentators these days, the consummate professional, the man who takes his job seriously, but not himself. You have to like his personality, as straightforward as his announcing style, and he just seems like the kind of guy you'd want to have as a friend.

McKay is in a business that is overloaded with ego and incompetence, but he's a refreshing change, a real pro. No phony.

I'm not a real fan of television, but I was hooked on the Winter Olympics. I mean, how could you not like to watch a Rosi Mittermaier or Dorothy Hamill?

"Rosi, Rosi, Rosi" was ringing through the mountains all week, and I became absolutely enamored with this charming West German woman, with the honest smile and the deeply dimpled cheeks, the winner of two golds and a silver in alpine skiing.

You could certainly understand why every commentator said Rosi was about as warm and friendly and genuinely nice a person as you could find at the Olympics, or anywhere else.

Television has truly proven a tremendous boon to something like the Winter Olympics, and this is particularly true of the figure skating event where performers like Peggy Fleming, Janet Lynn and now Dorothy Hamill have captivated audiences across the country.

The beauty of the event, and the expertise and enthusiasm offered by former gold medal winner Dick Button as a commentator give figure skating a very special place in any Winter Olympics.

Before television, such things as Winter Games had to rate very low on the interest scale. Now, it comes into your living room in depth and is a major event for many Americans.

I also discovered over those 12 days that the Olympics affected a lot of other people the same way, people who don't know a biathlon from a slalom, or a camel spin from a salchow.

It was difficult not to become totally immersed in that winter spectacular. I actually found myself rooting for a Rosi Mittermaier or Dorothy Hamill, or downhiller Franz Klammer, or American hockey goalie Jim Warden, or speed skaters Dan Immerfall and Sheila Young, or Canadian figure skater Toller Cranston, or that 46-year-old Swiss speed skater who didn't come close to a medal but has to be admired for sheer determination.

You begin to wonder why we could criticize any country for developing and subsidizing its best athletes, allowing them to train on a full-time basis without wondering — as many American athletes do — where the next dollar is coming from.

Basically, we do treat our athletes shabbily, and it is a credit to their perseverance, more than anything else, that they do so well.

Perhaps the appeal to me of the Winter Olympics is that they arrive on the scene just once every four years — thus putting them in the spectacle class rather than just another sporting event.

Whatever the reason, I really go for the whole bit, from the pomp and ceremony of the opening to the emotional final day.

Rosi, Rosi, Rosi . . . it was an incredible show.

The Hersey High School District Gymnastics Tournament Saturday has definite possibilities of being one of the most closely contested meets in the state as the host Huskies and the Prospect Knights replay the contest they staged in last week's Mid-Suburban League conference finals.

The two teams will be joined by MSL entries Arlington, Palatine, Fremd and Wheeling. The final team in the seven team field will be Barrington.

The meet will begin at 7:00 p.m.

The Huskies and Knights finished second and third respectively in the conference meet behind Elk Grove.

Hersey trailed Prospect through the first four events then nipped the Knights 141.53 to 140.98 to take the runnerup spot.

"I'm not totally displeased with the way we looked," said Hersey coach Don Von Ebers. "We hit 140 but we didn't look good doing it.

"The important thing is we beat Prospect and have a week off to get healthy."

The rest will help Hersey all-arounder Danny Muenz, who averaged 7.98 on the all-around despite a rib separation injury.

Still rings specialist Vince Corrado also has a shoulder injury that will be helped by the layoff.

"The shoulder still bothered Vince on his cross," Von Ebers said. "He went through it without being able to hold."

Under the new alignment rules of thestate tournament, the first two teams of the Hersey District could qualify for the sectional.

Besides the champions of the three districts that feed into the Rolling Meadows sectional, the next best team score will also advance to the sectional.

It is likely that the second place team in the Hersey District will have the high score needed to move to the next level of competition.

"With a healthy Danny and a healthy Vince we should be able to get through to the sectional," Von Ebers said.

Thei Huskies also got strong performances in the conference meet from Bob Barut and Ray Peters on trampoline and free ex and Rich Stange on P-Bars.

The Knights had no individual champions in the conference meet but they were consistent.

Doug Zahour grabbed a second place medal on free ex, Dave Scheible

MUHAMMAD ALI LOOKS surprised, maybe because Jean Pierre Coopman (left) weighed in at a heavy 206, or maybe because Coopman actually showed up for their heavyweight bout tonight in Puerto Rico. Ali scaled 226.

Lounging Ali awaits Coopman

SAN JUAN (UPI) — Remember the days when heavyweight champions and their challengers went into seclusion the night before the Big Fight?

Those days are gone as Muhammad Ali proved Thursday night as he lounged in the lobby of his hotel, chatting amiably with those brave enough to come up to speak to him, and posing readily for a cluster of guests who fired their flash cameras at him incessantly.

Jean Pierre Coopman seems to feel the same as Ali, for both fighters turned up at a press party on Wednesday night. Jack Dempsey was there too and it was obvious that the 81-year-old boxing great could not believe how times have changed.

The fight may be a quick one, but CBS-TV will be on the air for two hours Friday night, leading up to, covering and looking back at this fifth title defense Ali has made.

Slated to go on the air at 8 p.m. Chicago time, the show will run for over an hour before Ali and Coopman enter the ring.

The network will employ no less than seven commentators for its coverage. Heywood Hale Brown, Phyllis George, Jack Whitaker and Brent Musberger have prepared the interviews, color features, and chats with the trainers which will, along with flashbacks, cover the first hour.

Pat Summerall and Tom Brookshier will handle the round-by-round chores, and veteran Don Dunphy will offer pre-and post-fight analysis.

Three Puerto Ricans will officate the bout. The referee will be Ismael Quinones Falu. The two judges will be Ismael Fernandez and Roberto Ramirez.

The trio, all veteran World Boxing Association officials, were selected by the Puerto Rican Department of Parks and Recreation, which serves as the boxing commission.

Falu is a veteran referee but never has worked a title bout.

And if Ali gets past Coopman . . .

Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali is scheduled to face three boxers in Memphis next month in a charity benefit program.

Officials said Thursday that former welterweight and middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson is expected to referee the bouts March 18 at the Mid-South Coliseum, but it will be next week before Ali's opponents will be named.

The 30-round program will feature Ali, who defends his title Friday night in San Juan against Jean-Pierre Coopman of Belgium, in three rounds against each of the opponents. Area fighters will be featured in the remaining 21 rounds

Proceeds from the program will go to a fund for singer Jackie Wilson, who was stricken by a stroke recently, and a local charity. Tickets will be sold for $15, $25 and $50.

Is Veeck 'short' of ideas?

The new Chicago White Sox of Bill Veeck may add a new dimension to baseball this summer — short pants.

The team recently acquired by Veeck is considering switching the uniform on hot, sultry days to include shorts instead of the conventional knickers-like pantaloons major league teams have been sporting since Abner Doubleday's game became surrounded by box-seats, grandstands and bleachers.

Veeck threw out a feeler on the shorts proposal to a couple of his players and they seem to like the idea. They were shortstop Bucky Dent and the league's leading relief pitcher, Rich Gossage.

"But we're not going to force them on anyone," Veeck said. "Right now we're having some designers make up a few. We'll look at them, take them to spring training and let the players try them. If they like them, we'll use them, especially when it's hot and humid."

Veeck recalled that many years ago teams in the Pacific Coast League used the shorts. "The only reason they didn't go over then is that they came ahead of time. Now the time is ripe for them."

Veeck said he felt the players would like them because he has heard so much about how cool and comfortable the shorts are.

"If that's the case, they figure to play better, win more and make more money, right?" Veeck asked.

Roland Hemond, team vice president speculated the shorties might add some sex appeal to the game, "especially among the younger, female set."

"A lot of those guys have nice legs," Hemond chuckled.

Veeck agreed. "But I'm not too sure about Wilbur Wood."

Snead almost shoots his age

Sam Snead, a 63-year-old relic from another era, shot a four-under-par 67 Thursday while 28-year-old Tom Jenkins took the opening day lead with a 66 in the $185,000 Los Angeles Open.

Snead, who will celebrate his 64th birthday May 27, carded six birdies and one double bogey over the demanding Riviera Country Club layout and Jenkins, a one-time tour winner, fired 31-35.

Snead was deadlocked in second place with British Open champion Tom Watson. Snead had 33-34 while Watson, seeking his first victory of the year, came in at 35-32.

Snead was runnerup in this tournament two years ago, just two shots behind Dave Stockton after an opening round 73. He hasn't won since the 1965 Greensboro Open, his 84th tour triumph.

"I just might have an outside chance," smiled Snead, a winner here in a memorable 18-hole playoff with Ben Hogan in 1950.

There was a five-way tie for fourth place at 68 among Lanny Wadkins, Hubert Green, Jim Masserio, Don January and Doug Tewell.

Prep girl ties long jump mark

Kathy McMillan, an 18-year-old Raeford (N.C.) high school student, Thursday equalled the American indoor long jump record for women during an invitational high school meet. Miss McMillan, the only female competitor in the qualifying event with 15 boys, leaped 21 feet, 4¾ inches, tying the American record set in 1973 by Martha Watson.

However, Miss Little did not make the finals of the event because she finished seventh in qualifying with the boys. Only the top five advanced to the finals at the 2nd Annual Greensboro Coliseum Invitational High School Track and Field Meet.

Miss McMillan won the bronze medal in last year's Pan-Am Games in the long jump, and she had the longest American jump of the year.

Three track squads show indoor promise

Three more Mid-Suburban League track teams opened the indoor season this week, and all three gave notice that they'll be a factor by the time the outdoor campaign begins.

Fremd inaugurated its limited indoor slate with a victory over New Trier East and Deerfield, chalking up 60 points for first place. Coach Pat Brogan's Vikings took four firsts, including an impressive win by long jumper Lawson England (20-7¼) and a shot-put toss of 48-11¾ by Doug Meyer.

Wheeling received two first places each from Darryl Stillson, Ben-Sanchez, and Mark Larson on its way to a 74-43 rout of Niles North. The Wildcats grabbed 11 wins altogether. Stillson's 38-3½ in the triple jump and Larson's 440-yard dash time of :56.6 were the more noteworthy efforts.

Hersey hosted its track opener and dropped a 72-50 decision to the Schaumburg Saxons, who were competing in their fourth meet of the year. But Hersey's Dave Komiss and Dave Koelper put their names atop the area indoor list in a couple of events.

Komiss reached 49-9 in the shot put for first place, followed by teammate Matt Zakula, who threw 49-3½. Koelper won the triple jump with a 41-1½ leap. Hersey's Tony Becker was second at 38-10.

Hersey's only other victory came in the 12-lap relay as Schaumburg dominated the individual running events. Brad Crawford swept the 50-yard hurdles, winning the highs in :07.3 and the lows in :06.8. Other Saxon winners were Mark Seltzer in the 880 (2:10.2), Steve Pace in the 440 (:56.5), Randy Lewis in the two-mile (10:25.7), and Steve Knudson in the 50-yard dash (:05.8). Knudson barely edged Hersey's Gary Modesto in the sprint event.

Schaumburg's Scott Mielke, suffering from a minor leg injury, won the long jump (19-8) and the high jump (5-10). Saxon miler Bruce Anderson took first place in 4:50.5, well ahead of his brother Steve who was second.

Fremd, which has just three more meets before the MSL indoor championships in late March, got a pair of second places from hurdler Gary Gunderson (:06.3 in the lows and :06.9 in the highs) and a second from shot putter Al DaValle (46-5¼).

Wheeling's Stillson won the 50-yard lows in :07.0 and Larson took first in the long jump (17-9). Sanchez, just a sophomore, won the mile (5:00.4) and the two-mile (10:42.4). Wheeling's MSL heavyweight wrestling champ Ken Kent tossed the shot 43 feet for first place.

MUHAMMAD ALI LOOKS surprised, maybe because Jean Pierre Coopman (left) weighed in at a heavy 206, or maybe because Coopman actually showed up for their heavyweight bout tonight in Puerto Rico. Ali scaled 226.

Lounging Ali awaits Coopman

SAN JUAN (UPI) — Remember the days when heavyweight champions and their challengers went into seclusion the night before the Big Fight?

Those days are gone as Muhammad Ali proved Thursday night as he lounged in the lobby of his hotel, chatting amiably with those brave enough to come up to speak to him, and posing readily for a cluster of guests who fired their flash cameras at him incessantly.

Jean Pierre Coopman seems to feel the same as Ali, for both fighters turned up at a press party on Wednesday night. Jack Dempsey was there too and it was obvious that the 81-year-old boxing great could not believe how times have changed.

The fight may be a quick one, but CBS-TV will be on the air for two hours Friday night, leading up to, covering and looking back at this fifth title defense Ali has made.

Slated to go on the air at 8 p.m. Chicago time, the show will run for over an hour before Ali and Coopman enter the ring.

The network will employ no less than seven commentators for its coverage. Heywood Hale Brown, Phyllis George, Jack Whitaker and Brent Musberger have prepared the interviews, color features, and chats with the trainers which will, along with flashbacks, cover the first hour.

Pat Summerall and Tom Brookshier will handle the round-by-round chores, and veteran Don Dunphy will offer pre-and post-fight analysis.

Three Puerto Ricans will officate the bout. The referee will be Ismael Quinones Falu. The two judges will be Ismael Fernandez and Roberto Ramirez.

The trio, all veteran World Boxing Association officials, were selected by the Puerto Rican Department of Parks and Recreation, which serves as the boxing commission.

Falu is a veteran referee but never has worked a title bout.

And if Ali gets past Coopman . . .

Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali is scheduled to face three boxers in Memphis next month in a charity benefit program.

Officials said Thursday that former welterweight and middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson is expected to referee the bouts March 18 at the Mid-South Coliseum, but it will be next week before Ali's opponents will be named.

The 30-round program will feature Ali, who defends his title Friday night in San Juan against Jean-Pierre Coopman of Belgium, in three rounds against each of the opponents. Area fighters will be featured in the remaining 21 rounds

Proceeds from the program will go to a fund for singer Jackie Wilson, who was stricken by a stroke recently, and a local charity. Tickets will be sold for $15, $25 and $50.

Is Veeck 'short' of ideas?

The new Chicago White Sox of Bill Veeck may add a new dimension to baseball this summer — short pants.

The team recently acquired by Veeck is considering switching the uniform on hot, sultry days to include shorts instead of the conventional knickers-like pantaloons major league teams have been sporting since Abner Doubleday's game became surrounded by box-seats, grandstands and bleachers.

Veeck threw out a feeler on the shorts proposal to a couple of his players and they seem to like the idea. They were shortstop Bucky Dent and the league's leading relief pitcher, Rich Gossage.

"But we're not going to force them on anyone," Veeck said. "Right now we're having some designers make up a few. We'll look at them, take them to spring training and let the players try them. If they like them, we'll use them, especially when it's hot and humid."

Veeck recalled that many years ago teams in the Pacific Coast League used the shorts. "The only reason they didn't go over then is that they came ahead of time. Now the time is ripe for them."

Veeck said he felt the players would like them because he has heard so much about how cool and comfortable the shorts are.

"If that's the case, they figure to play better, win more and make more money, right?" Veeck asked.

Roland Hemond, team vice president speculated the shorties might add some sex appeal to the game, "especially among the younger, female set."

"A lot of those guys have nice legs," Hemond chuckled.

Veeck agreed. "But I'm not too sure about Wilbur Wood."

Snead almost shoots his age

Sam Snead, a 63-year-old relic from another era, shot a four-under-par 67 Thursday while 28-year-old Tom Jenkins took the opening day lead with a 66 in the $185,000 Los Angeles Open.

Snead, who will celebrate his 64th birthday May 27, carded six birdies and one double bogey over the demanding Riviera Country Club layout and Jenkins, a one-time tour winner, fired 31-35.

Snead was deadlocked in second place with British Open champion Tom Watson. Snead had 33-34 while Watson, seeking his first victory of the year, came in at 35-32.

Snead was runnerup in this tournament two years ago, just two shots behind Dave Stockton after an opening round 73. He hasn't won since the 1965 Greensboro Open, his 84th tour triumph.

"I just might have an outside chance," smiled Snead, a winner here in a memorable 18-hole playoff with Ben Hogan in 1950.

There was a five-way tie for fourth place at 68 among Lanny Wadkins, Hubert Green, Jim Masserio, Don January and Doug Tewell.

Prep girl ties long jump mark

Kathy McMillan, an 18-year-old Raeford (N.C.) high school student, Thursday equalled the American indoor long jump record for women during an invitational high school meet. Miss McMillan, the only female competitor in the qualifying event with 15 boys, leaped 21 feet, 4¾ inches, tying the American record set in 1973 by Martha Watson.

However, Miss Little did not make the finals of the event because she finished seventh in qualifying with the boys. Only the top five advanced to the finals at the 2nd Annual Greensboro Coliseum Invitational High School Track and Field Meet.

Miss McMillan won the bronze medal in last year's Pan-Am Games in the long jump, and she had the longest American jump of the year.

Three track squads show indoor promise

Three more Mid-Suburban League track teams opened the indoor season this week, and all three gave notice that they'll be a factor by the time the outdoor campaign begins.

Fremd inaugurated its limited indoor slate with a victory over New Trier East and Deerfield, chalking up 60 points for first place. Coach Pat Brogan's Vikings took four firsts, including an impressive win by long jumper Lawson England (20-7¼) and a shot-put toss of 48-11¾ by Doug Meyer.

Wheeling received two first places each from Darryl Stillson, Ben-Sanchez, and Mark Larson on its way to a 74-43 rout of Niles North. The Wildcats grabbed 11 wins altogether. Stillson's 38-3½ in the triple jump and Larson's 440-yard dash time of :56.6 were the more noteworthy efforts.

Hersey hosted its track opener and dropped a 72-50 decision to the Schaumburg Saxons, who were competing in their fourth meet of the year. But Hersey's Dave Komiss and Dave Koelper put their names atop the area indoor list in a couple of events.

Komiss reached 49-9 in the shot put for first place, followed by teammate Matt Zakula, who threw 49-3½. Koelper won the triple jump with a 41-1½ leap. Hersey's Tony Becker was second at 38-10.

Hersey's only other victory came in the 12-lap relay as Schaumburg dominated the individual running events. Brad Crawford swept the 50-yard hurdles, winning the highs in :07.3 and the lows in :06.8. Other Saxon winners were Mark Seltzer in the 880 (2:10.2), Steve Pace in the 440 (:56.5), Randy Lewis in the two-mile (10:25.7), and Steve Knudson in the 50-yard dash (:05.8). Knudson barely edged Hersey's Gary Modesto in the sprint event.

Schaumburg's Scott Mielke, suffering from a minor leg injury, won the long jump (19-8) and the high jump (5-10). Saxon miler Bruce Anderson took first place in 4:50.5, well ahead of his brother Steve who was second.

Fremd, which has just three more meets before the MSL indoor championships in late March, got a pair of second places from hurdler Gary Gunderson (:06.3 in the lows and :06.9 in the highs) and a second from shot putter Al DaValle (46-5¼).

Wheeling's Stillson won the 50-yard lows in :07.0 and Larson took first in the long jump (17-9). Sanchez, just a sophomore, won the mile (5:00.4) and the two-mile (10:42.4). Wheeling's MSL heavyweight wrestling champ Ken Kent tossed the shot 43 feet for first place.

Fremd 'teamwork' slaps Wheeling with 1st defeat

by PAUL LOGAN

Playing their best in the most important game so far this season, the Fremd Vikings overpowered the visiting Wheeling Wildcat basketball team en route to a convincing 67-50 victory.

Trailing 37-23 going into the third quarter, Wheeling's Sandy Rainey hit three straight baskets. Unfortunately for the Wildcats, the Vikings matched this effort with field goals by Cindy Nelson, Heidi Giesler and Kathy Pfaender to make the score 44-31.

Then Fremd ran off 11 unanswered points to take an overwhelming 52-31 lead near the end of the period.

However, Wheeling wouldn't quit. The Wildcats of Coach Donna Dubbelde cut the margin to 59-48 on Rainey's third basket of the final period. Fremd held off the rally by hitting free throws.

Fremd coach Carol Plodzien said that teamwork was the chief contributor to the impressive victory over this division arch rival. Both teams came into the game with 8-0 records.

"We played our game tonight," she said. "We played as a team. I think we played our best."

Plodzien received excellent play from two girls in particular — guards Heidi Giesler and Connie Bruns. They led their team with 18 points each. Donelda Danz and Colleen Cannon were next with seven and six points, respectively.

Giesler and Cannon shared rebounding honors with seven each and Pfaender had six as Fremd outrebounded Wheeling 33-25.

Rainey scored 22 points, all field goals, and also paced Wheeling with nine rebounds. Gina Neri had 10 points and LeAnn Paulsen seven.

"There's really nothing you can say," remarked Dubbelde after watching her team receive one of the most lopsided defeats ever. The past two years her Wildcats had lost by only one and two points to the Vikings. "We played a bad game."

Dubbelde said she was most impressed with the shooting of the Vikings, who hit 56 per cent of their shots through the first three quarters before cooling off. A 2-for-11 effort in the final quarter left them at 48 per cent on the night.

When asked if any team in the North could threaten the defending MSL champs, Dubbelde said, "No, I don't think so. I don't think anybody in the conference can stop them."

Plodzien said the pressure had been pretty great on her team of late. Now that Wheeling's out of the way, maybe the pressure brought about by the school's perfect 34-0 record might be lessened somewhat.

(See scoreboard for results from all games).

LEADING the Fremd Vikings to a 67-50 victory over Wheeling were Connie Bruns (15) and Heidi Giesler with 18 points each.

Mid-Suburban badminton season opens

Experienced champions make the Arlington badminton team the favorite again this season.

The Arlington Cardinals of Coach Mary Lou Hundt won their fourth straight Mid-Suburban League title last year by two points over Prospect with Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates and Rolling Meadows tying for third place.

Mary Flynn, who won third singles in the conference meet, returns. Also back are Jody Lyon and Janet Haberkorn — second doubles champs — and Leslie Grabitz and Lisa Pugsley — winners of third doubles.

When the MSL season opens Saturday, the defending champions will have a bye. The other pairings look like this:

Schaumburg at Hoffman Estates, Wheeling at Forest View and Palatine at Hersey — all at 9 a.m.; Fremd at Conant, Rolling Meadows at Prospect and Elk Grove at Buffalo Grove — at 1 p.m.

Nearly all this season's league meets will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays starting at 6:30 p.m.

The conference championship will be held at Elk Grove High School on Friday and Saturday, April 9-10.

Fremd 'teamwork' slaps Wheeling with 1st defeat

by PAUL LOGAN

Playing their best in the most important game so far this season, the Fremd Vikings overpowered the visiting Wheeling Wildcat basketball team en route to a convincing 67-50 victory.

Trailing 37-23 going into the third quarter, Wheeling's Sandy Rainey hit three straight baskets. Unfortunately for the Wildcats, the Vikings matched this effort with field goals by Cindy Nelson, Heidi Giesler and Kathy Pfaender to make the score 44-31.

Then Fremd ran off 11 unanswered points to take an overwhelming 52-31 lead near the end of the period.

However, Wheeling wouldn't quit. The Wildcats of Coach Donna Dubbelde cut the margin to 59-48 on Rainey's third basket of the final period. Fremd held off the rally by hitting free throws.

Fremd coach Carol Plodzien said that teamwork was the chief contributor to the impressive victory over this division arch rival. Both teams came into the game with 8-0 records.

"We played our game tonight," she said. "We played as a team. I think we played our best."

Plodzien received excellent play from two girls in particular — guards Heidi Giesler and Connie Bruns. They led their team with 18 points each. Donelda Danz and Colleen Cannon were next with seven and six points, respectively.

Giesler and Cannon shared rebounding honors with seven each and Pfaender had six as Fremd outrebounded Wheeling 33-25.

Rainey scored 22 points, all field goals, and also paced Wheeling with nine rebounds. Gina Neri had 10 points and LeAnn Paulsen seven.

"There's really nothing you can say,'' remarked Dubbelde after watching her team receive one of the most lopsided defeats ever. The past two years her Wildcats had lost by only one and two points to the Vikings. "We played a bad game."

Dubbelde said she was most impressed with the shooting of the Vikings, who hit 56 per cent of their shots through the first three quarters before cooling off. A 2-for-11 effort in the final quarter left them at 48 per cent on the night.

When asked if any team in the North could threaten the defending MSL champs, Dubbelde said, "No, I don't think so. I don't think anybody in the conference can stop them."

Plodzien said the pressure had been pretty great on her team of late. Now that Wheeling's out of the way, maybe the pressure brought about by the school's perfect 34-0 record might be lessened somewhat.

(See scoreboard for results from all games).

LEADING the Fremd Vikings to a 67-50 victory over Wheeling were Connie Bruns (15) and Heidi Giesler with 18 points each.

Mid-Suburban badminton season opens

Experienced champions make the Arlington badminton team the favorite again this season.

The Arlington Cardinals of Coach Mary Lou Hundt won their fourth straight Mid-Suburban League title last year by two points over Prospect with Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates and Rolling iMeadows tying for third place.

Mary Flynn, who won third singles in the conference meet, returns. Also back are Jody Lyon and Janet Haberkorn — second doubles champs — and Leslie Grabitz and Lisa Pugsley — winners of third doubles.

When the MSL season opens Saturday, the defending champions will have a bye. The other pairings look like this:

Schaumburg at Hoffman Estates, Wheeling at Forest View and Palatine at Hersey — all at 9 a.m.; Fremd at Conant, Rolling Meadows at Prospect and Elk Grove at Buffalo Grove — at 1 p.m.

Nearly all this season's league meets will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays starting at 6:30 p.m.

The conference championship will be held at Elk Grove High School on Friday and Saturday, April 9-10.

Arlington youth program will hold second signup

Registration for the Arlington Heights Youth Athletic Assn. will be held in the Olympic Park basement, 660 N. Ridge, on Saturday, Feb. 21.

Hours for the signup will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

All boys who will be 8 years old and not more than 16 years old on July 31, 1976 are eligible. Boys must live in the village of Arlington Heights and/or the Arlington Heights Park District.

The registration fee will be $12 for the first boy and $7 for each additional brother. In addition, each boy must buy six pancake tickets at $1.50 each to be sold or used at the annual Pancake Day. A maximum of 18 tickets per family will be issued.

The fee for one boy will be $21 — two boys $37 — three boys $53 — and four boys $58.

Boys who have never played in Arlington Heights must bring proof of age regardles of the age category. A parent or guardian (not a friend or neighbor) must attend the registration and volunteer for one of the adult programs.

Girls signup will be held the same time as boys baseball.

Girls must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and must be at least 8 and not more than 18 on July 31, 1976 Proof of age is required of first-time participants.

The registration fee will be $12 for the first girl and $8 for each additional sister. In addition, each girl must buy $6 in decals, which can be sold.

The cost for one girl is $18, two girls $32, and three girls $46.

Lift with the legs

Paul Anderson was an Olympic weightlifting champion for the United States in 1956. The following year the 5-10, 300-pound strongman performed an amazing feat of strength when he backlifted a weight of 6,270 pounds.

A new Cadillac Fleetwood limousine for nine passengers weighs only 5,475 pounds.

A 24-hour machine!

If you think you're a good free throw shooter and you have 24 hours to kill, why not try for Fred Newman's record. In Cal Tech's gym back in 1974, Newman sank 12,777 of 13,097 for a record 97.5 per cent. He hit 1,418 in a row!

Guy wins outdoor title

Scott Guy of Palatine continued his wholesale acquisition of speed-skating medals last weekend by taking first place in the boys intermediate division at the North American Outdoor Championships in Lake Placid, N.Y. against skaters from the United States and Canada.

Guy, a 16-year-old junior at Palatine High School, zoomed past the rest of the field to win five of the six races, which range from 300 meters to 3,000 meters. The only race he failed to win was the 3,000-meter event, in which he finished second.

Guy's time of :25.3 in the 300 and his :43.5 in the 500 were outstanding for an intermediate. The Palatine skater posted a 1:14.8 in the 800-meters, a 1:40.1 in the 1,000-meters, and a 2:23.2 in the 1,500-meter event.

The next big meet for Guy, last year's junior champ, is this weekend's Silver Skates competition in Chicago.

Also ahead of him are the National Indoor at Lakewood, O. and the North American Indoor at Wyandotte, Mich.

Forget the fast ball! How's the kid on plea bargaining?

Jim Murray

Years ago in Connecticut I had a history professor who delighted in telling us how Hartford missed out on becoming the automotive capital of the world.

"Henry Ford came to Connecticut and broke the Selden Patent, which would have kept auto manufacture exclusively here," he said.

"His University of Michigan lawyers beat the pants off the University of Yale lawyers."

I bring this up because it occurs to this writer that baseball had best get itself some University of Michigan lawyers. It's clear the ones it's got are not adequate for the purpose. Baseball is taking a clobbering in the courts.

Of course, the fact that its basic position is not tenable legally may have something to do with it, but historically, this technicality has never stopped a really good lawyer. After all, even the Selden Patent had its merits.

But what I can visualize at some future time is a phone conversation between baseball owner Moe Gull and his demon scout, Can O'Corn. O'Corn is speaking:

"Boss, have I got a prospect for you! A kid sown here in the canebrakes hits .400 left-handed and .500 right-handed, runs the 100 in 8.3, kills squirrels with rocks at 100 yards, and can catch a bullet between his thumb and forefinger.

"What's that, Boss? How is he on labor negotiation? Boss, I don't think you understand. This kid will sign for a Hershey bar. He not only can't read and write, he can't hardly talk, but he'll save the franchise.

"How's that again? You want me to drop him and get on over to Harvard? Boss, they haven't got anybody over there who can even see a game, never mind play it. They haven't got anybody over there even knows how to take a shower. It would take the whole student body just to lift one bat. Boss, I got a dream of a pitcher up in Bridgeport. Can strike you out with either hand. They tried to time his fastball but the machine couldn't find it. His curveball drops in by way of Philadelphia.

"What's that, Boss? How is he at plea bargaining? Boss, we must have a bum connection. I'm offering you Hall of Famers and you're asking me if they're Clarence Darrows. What's going on here?

"I'm to forget about guys who can make the double play and check out guys who are better at the double cross? You want me to stop checking the diamonds and check the courts? The tennis courts! Oh. The night courts.

"What's that? We're not in the market for any pheenoms with the glove any more? What we need are guys with briefcases? What we need are guys who can get the Emancipation Proclamation thrown out, who can find loopholes in the Bill of Rights? Never mind buying players, see if I can buy the Supreme Court?

"I see. You don't want a million-dollar infield. You want someone who can get Jack the Ripper off with a warning? Someone who can bring tears to the eyes of a jury trying a guy who sets fire to baby carriages? But, Boss, what about the team?! I see. There won't be any team 'less we can get some lawyers who can prove ballplayers aren't citizens, that the Mafia is just a bunch of Shriners, and that, when Lincoln freed the slaves, he didn't mean second basemen? Well, I think I know where I can find some likekthat. They're called 'consigliori.'

"What? You say Babe Ruth saved baseball last time, but it's going to take F. Lee Bailey or Edward Bennett Williams this time? OK, Boss, I'll get right on it. I'll hop up to Berkeley and the Bay Area and check out the Boalt and Hastings law school. And while I'm there, it won't hurt to look in on the Cal baseball team. I might find another Andy Messersmith for you there . . .

"Hello? Hello? Operator, operator, I think you'd better call the paramedics. I think my party just fainted . . ."

NWSRA holds wheelchair game

A wheelchair basketball fund raising game is going to be held Sunday, March 7 from 2 to 4 p.m. at Arlington High School.

The event, featuring the Chicagoland Sidewinders, is being sponsored by the Northwest Special Recreation Association.

The NWSRA is a community recreation agency serving the needs of mentally and physically handicapped individuals in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg townships.

Proceeds from the game will be used for special recreation programs.

Tickets are available to the public for $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for children five to 18 years old and senior citizens. Children under five can attend free.

Business or service agencies wishing to purchase 10 or more tickets will be given advertising space in the game program brochure.

Individuals interested in purchasing tickets, assisting in promotion, ticket sales or other areas are needed now. Please call the NWSRA for further details at 394-4948 or 394-4910.

ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS SQUIRTS

R.M. 1, Arlington 5

This 3rd game with the Arlington Squirts broke the Warriors' winning streak against them. R.M. lone goal scored by Klein with assists to Sanders and Anderson.

R.M. 4, Zion 6

Coming up against Zion's "A" Team, the Warriors came up from a 6-0 Zion lead to score 4 goals, with Sanders getting a hat trick and Norris (1). Assists going to Ballagh, Carlsen, Lenz and Petersen.

R.M. 3, Jesters 4

Goals scored by Sanders (2), Norris (1). Assist to Kamradt. Great team effort in spite of injuries. Another brilliant day in the net for Hupke.

R.M. 7, Kenosha 0

Kenosha goalie only let 7 goals in, in spite of 44 shots against him. Goals scored by Sanders (3), Peterson, Carlsen, Norris and Scott Blanchard. Assists to Peterson (3), Yosenick, Young, Carlsen, Kamradt, Blanchard and Sanders.

RUSTPROOFING CHECKLIST

Before you spend one cent to protect your new car, follow this checklist to be sure you're buying real rustproof protection...

☐ Deal only with a professional rustproofer. While many car dealers sell so-called rustproofing service, very few qualify as professionals. Every Ziebart Dealer is factory trained.

☐ Check the guarantee. If the rustproofer only guarantees "those areas treated or rustproofed"—watch out! Go see your Ziebart Dealer.

☐ Ask if your make and model car is covered in the rustproofer's specifications. Your Ziebart Dealer has specifications on more than 450 different makes and models to assure coverage of all critical areas on each car he rustproofs.

☐ Be sure the rustproofer has the specialized tools and equipment required for rustproofing. Some rustproofers try to get by with 3 or 4 spray tools. Your Ziebart Dealer has 9 patented spray tools designed specifically to reach body areas that require rustproofing.

☐ Take your new car directly to your Ziebart Dealer and you don't have to worry about rustproof protection. He's the professional rustproofer with the proven ability and experience.

RUSTPROOFING CHECKLIST
Before you spend one cent to protect your new car, follow this checklist to be sure you're buying real rustproof protection...

☐ Deal only with a professional rustproofer. While many car dealers sell so-called rustproofing service, very few qualify as professionals. Every Ziebart Dealer is factory trained.

☐ Check the guarantee. If the rustproofer only guarantees "those areas treated or rustproofed"—watch out! Go see your Ziebart Dealer.

☐ Ask if your make and model car is covered in the rustproofer's specifications. Your Ziebart Dealer has specifications on more than 450 different makes and models to assure coverage of all critical areas on each car he rustproofs.

☐ Be sure the rustproofer has the specialized tools and equipment required for rustproofing. Some rustproofers try to get by with 3 or 4 spray tools. Your Ziebart Dealer has 9 patented spray tools designed specifically to reach body areas that require rustproofing.

☐ Take your new car directly to your Ziebart Dealer and you don't have to worry about rustproof protection. He's the professional rustproofer with the proven ability and experience.

Conant, Buffalo Grove hope to protect leads

by ART MUGALIAN

The driver's seat has never been so uncomfortable, so itchy, so downright dangerous.

Buffalo Grove and especially Conant will be jumping from that "driver's seat" into the hot fire of the Mid-Suburban League's final week of basketball when they both try to protect slim first-place leads in their respective divisions tonight.

The Conant Cougars, 9-2 in the South, must beat the Falcons (3-8) at Forest View in order to maintain a one-game edge over Schaumburg (9-3). The Saxons, who closed regular-season play with a 51-49 loss to Conant on Tuesday, would capture the South title in the event of a tie in the standings, based on more wins by six points or more.

Buffalo Grove, meanwhile, has all but clinched the North crown, despite the Bison's first league loss last week, a 60-54 setback at the hands of second-place Hersey.

Still, if Buffalo Grove loses at Wheeling (4-5) tonight and Hersey (7-2) beats visiting Palatine (0-9), the Huskies would have an outside shot at taking the championship on statistics.

The champs of the North and South will meet in the MSL title game next Wednesday night at the North school's gym.

In other league games tonight, Fremd (2-7) is at Arlington (6-3), Rolling Meadows (4-7) is at Elk Grove (7-4), and Prospect (4-7) visits Hoffman Estates (3-8), all at 8 p.m.

But the pressure is on Conant and Buffalo Grove.

The Cougars' win at Schaumburg improved their overall mark to 13-7 and avenged an earlier 64-47 loss to the Saxons. It also gave Dick Redlinger's Conant cagers undisputed possession of first place in the South.

But before they can start celebrating, the Cougars must beat a scrappy Forest View team on their own floor.

"The Forest View gym has never really bothered these kids," said Redlinger, whose Cougars had to come from behind for a 55-50 win over the Falcons in January.

But Redlinger fears a letdown after the emotional victory at Schaumburg.

"My only concern now is the kids being up for Forest View," Redlinger said. "I've worried more about this than anything else in the last three years. I've told them if they lose to Forest View, then the game we played Tuesday means nothing."

Forest View's 1-3-1 zone hampered the Cougars the last time the teams met, and Redlinger's scouts say the Falcons will mix in a 2-1-2 alignment, too.

"We have to penetrate offensively, play smart and take good shots, and keep out of foul trouble," said Redlinger.

The pressure on Buffalo Grove won't be as stiff. The Bison command an edge over Hersey in all the tie-breaking criteria except head-to-head play, where the teams split six-point wins. So even a Wheeling victory might not be enough to unseat Buffalo Grove.

But the last statistical determinant (before the league elders throw it open to a vote) is comparative spread in offensive and defensive averages. Though the Bison hold a healthy advantage there too, the stats are subject to change, so a pair of lopsided scores could be enough to swing the title Hersey's way.

"I don't know that we've really celebrated yet," said Grove coach Paul Grady. "The goofy way the MSL has gone this year, anybody's capable of beating anybody. Personally, I prefer going into this Wheeling game knowing we don't absolutely have to win it."

The Bison dumped the Wildcats 86-56 the first time they met, but Grady expects a much closer contest tonight.

"This is a good rivalry," the coach noted. "Our kids look forward to two games especially — Hersey and Wheeling. I'm sure Wheeling will be ready, too."

The MSL scoring title will be decided tonight on separate courts. Palatine's Kevin McKenna and Buffalo Grove's Brian Allsmiller, both juniors, are neck-and-neck in the scoring derby. Allsmiller leads with a 25.5 average and McKenna has a 25.0 per-game mark.

Warriors, East meet

The Maine West Warriors return to conference basketball action tonight with a crucial matchup at Maine East.

Both clubs' are 8-4 and tied for third place in the Central Suburban League South. So to the winner goes sole possession of third, plus a shot at second place, behind 9-3 Maine South.

The Warriors were their own worst enemy in the first hookup of these two clubs. West committed 27 turnovers, but still fell by only one, 56-55, when Bill Fininis' last second shot failed.

A win tonight is a must for the Warriors, especially in light of next week's battle between first place Niles West and second place Maine South. West is still very much in the race for second place in the CSL, especially if Maine South should fall to Niles West.

The Warriors' game at Maine East will start at 8 p.m.

Conant, Buffalo Grove hope to protect leads

by ART MUGALIAN

The driver's seat has never been so uncomfortable, so itchy, so downright dangerous.

Buffalo Grove and especially Conant will be jumping from that "driver's seat" into the hot fire of the Mid-Suburban League's final week of basketball when they both try to protect slim first-place leads in their respective divisions tonight.

The Conant Cougars, 9-2 in the South, must beat the Falcons (3-8) at Forest View in order to maintain a one-game edge over Schaumburg (9-3). The Saxons, who closed regular-season play with a 51-49 loss to Conant on Tuesday, would capture the South title in the event of a tie in the standings, based on more wins by six points or more.

Buffalo Grove, meanwhile, has all but clinched the North crown, despite the Bison's first league loss last week, a 60-54 setback at the hands of second-place Hersey.

Still, if Buffalo Grove loses at Wheeling (4-5) tonight and Hersey (7-2) beats visiting Palatine (0-9), the Huskies would have an outside shot at taking the championship on statistics.

The champs of the North and South will meet in the MSL title game next Wednesday night at the North school's gym.

In other league games tonight, Fremd (2-7) is at Arlington (6-3), Rolling Meadows (4-7) is at Elk Grove (7-4), and Prospect (4-7) visits Hoffman Estates (3-8), all at 8 p.m.

But the pressure is on Conant and Buffalo Grove.

The Cougars' win at Schaumburg improved their overall mark to 13-7 and avenged an earlier 64-47 loss to the Saxons. It also gave Dick Redlinger's Conant cagers undisputed possession of first place in the South.

But before they can start celebrating, the Cougars must beat a scrappy Forest View team on their own floor.

"The Forest View gym has never really bothered these kids," said Redlinger, whose Cougars had to come from behind for a 55-50 win over the Falcons in January.

But Redlinger fears a letdown after the emotional victory at Schaumburg.

"My only concern now is the kids being up for Forest View," Redlinger said. "I've worried more about this than anything else in the last three years. I've told them if they lose to Forest View, then the game we played Tuesday means nothing."

Forest View's 1-3-1 zone hampered the Cougars the last time the teams met, and Redlinger's scouts say the Falcons will mix in a 2-1-2 alignment, too.

"We have to penetrate offensively, play smart and take good shots, and keep out of foul trouble," said Redlinger.

The pressure on Buffalo Grove won't be as stiff. The Bison command an edge over Hersey in all the tie-breaking criteria except head-to-head play, where the teams split six-point wins. So even a Wheeling victory might not be enough to unseat Buffalo Grove.

But the last statistical determinant (before the league elders throw it open to a vote) is comparative spread in offensive and defensive averages. Though the Bison hold a healthy advantage there too, the stats are subject to change, so a pair of lopsided scores could be enough to swing the title Hersey's way.

"I don't know that we've really celebrated yet," said Grove coach Paul Grady. "The goofy way the MSL has gone this year, anybody's capable of beating anybody. Personally, I prefer going into this Wheeling game knowing we don't absolutely have to win it."

The Bison dumped the Wildcats 86-56 the first time they met, but Grady expects a much closer contest tonight.

"This is a good rivalry," the coach noted. "Our kids look forward to two games especially — Hersey and Wheeling. I'm sure Wheeling will be ready, too."

The MSL scoring title will be decided tonight on separate courts. Palatine's Kevin McKenna and Buffalo Grove's Brian Allsmiller, both juniors, are neck-and-neck in the scoring derby. Allsmiller leads with a 25.5 average and McKenna has a 25.0 per-game mark.

Warriors, East meet

The Maine West Warriors return to conference basketball action tonight with a crucial matchup at Maine East.

Both clubs' are 8-4 and tied for third place in the Central Suburban League South. So to the winner goes sole possession of third, plus a shot at second place, behind 9-3 Maine South.

The Warriors were their own worst enemy in the first hookup of these two clubs. West committed 27 turnovers, but still fell by only one, 56-55, when Bill Fininis' last second shot failed.

A win tonight is a must for the Warriors, especially in light of next week's battle between first place Niles West and second place Maine South. West is still very much in the race for second place in the CSL, especially if Maine South should fall to Niles West.

The Warriors' game at Maine East will start at 8 p.m.

Area wrestlers seek state berths

Tripoli of Gordon Tech and Brad Perry of Fenton.

Rob Krusinski of Maine West, St. Viator's Scott Malouf and Fremd's Bob Dean are local 105 entries.

Rick Fitzgerald of Dundee (23-3) and Eagle sophomore Randy Conrad head up a 112-pound list which also carrier Warrior Rick Gauger and Arlington's Dan Weber, along with Mark Sonshine of Niles East. At 119, Mustang Jim Carlstrom is definitely a factor while Huskie Jim Watters and Warrior Mike Tramel can't be ruled out either in a wide-open race.

Another Conrad from Leyden, Rich, along with Jim Galas of West Leyden who qualified last year at 119, are frontrunners at 126. And Arlington's John Preissing, Doug McCarthy of Fremd, Bob Levy of Niles North (21-3) and Jack Beals of Maine North (23-7-1) are other very capable possibilities.

Dan Lococo of Hersey heads up a 132-pound field that also spotlights his opening foe, Luis Ochoa of Fenton, plus Steve Krist of East Leyden, Kurt Fiech of Maine South (25-1), Card Dan Kennedy, and Seumas O'Hara of GBS (27-5-1). A rugged 138-pound class features Dave Helminski of Dundee (21-1-1), Jeff Hoss of East Leyden and Rob Roto of the Titans (28-5-1) in addition to Huskie Brett Benz.

Local entries Pete Martin of Meadows and Rick Dewar of Hersey will be dealing with standouts Bob Stout of Fenton and Brian Thomas of New Trier West at 145. At 155 Todd Whitfield of Glenbrook South (29-4) is one of the favorites to capture a title netted by his brother Drew last year but Russ Pollard of Fremd, Dan Barringer of Maine West and Jim Popp of Palatine cannot be ruled out of the picture.

The 167-pound division appears to be up for grabs. Ted Tyk of the Mustangs and Prospect's Carl Schimmelman have the potential here. Pete Christopoulos of Niles East (17-0) and Joe Battaglia of Loyola (26-1-1) take the best marks into a 185-pound runoff that also includes John Carroll of Maine South (16-5-1), John Haney of Hersey and Warrior Dave Cavazos.

Scott Zettek of the Lions will be defending the heavyweight throne. Among his many strong foes will be Warrior Bob Smith.

NAPERVILLE

DeKalb, with eight representatives five of them champs, should have little difficulty nailing down the team crown although Addison Trail (four and three) can't be ruled out of the hunt. Other challenges should come from Larkin with five district winners, Glenbard South (three and one) York (Four and one) and possibly Hinsdale South and the host Redskins.

Individually, Mike Farina of the Dukes (33-0) is an odds-on favorite to repeat as champ at 98 while Conant's Jon Gluck and Schaumburg's Dave Cooke are among a rugged field battling it our for second.

At 105 Lou Larson of the Barbs (17-2-2) is one of the top entries Saxon Al Blount must contend with. Another DeKalb entry Joe Williams (25-1-1) figures to repeat as a qualifier at 112 while Elk Grove's Steve King, Gary Varga of the Blazers (25-4) and Brian Murphy of LaGrange among others shoot for the other slot.

The 119-pound category is loaded, beginning with defening Naperville champ Tom Best (18-3), Jim Farina of York (31-3), Louis Delacruz of Larkin (24-1) and Gary Murakami of Downers Grove South. Grenadier Tim Bush will have his hands full.

Another returning Redskin sectional champ, Don Larimer (20-1) leads off a 138-pound class that is not exactly easy. Elk Grove's John Carpenter will also have to contend with John Esposito of York (31-2) and Wheaton Central's Ralph Schmuggerow among others. The 145 category is strong but reasonably balanced for Chad McCreary of Hoffman Estates. Naperville's Scott Glander (17-4), Mike McMillan of Sycamore (17-0) Jim Hensel of West Chicago (23-2), and Larkin's Gary Cochran (21-3-1) head up the show.

Defending state champ Jim Morris of Glenbard South has issued Hawk Jim Thomas his only defeat this year and he will be the strong favorite at 155. DeKalb's John Larson (20-4) and Dave Lopez of Elgin (24-3-2) are others in the race with Thomas.

Jim Graham of DeKalb (25-2) and Addison Trail's Phil Sleboda (28-2-1) are headliners at 167 for Gren Tim McGuire. At heavyweight Mike Malone of Elk Grove will probably find that returning state qualifier Kurt Becker of Aurora East (22-5) is favored.

BARRINGTON

This sectional could develop into a wide open affair for team honors and Buffalo Grove and Rockford East have the strongest post positions with four champs and a runnerup apiece. There are at least 12 other teams capable of winning the big trophy.

The leadoff Bison is Tim Foley at 112 and most of his competition is in the opposite bracket. If he can overtake Mike Jones of North Chicago (24-4) he could hook up with either Mark Marinaro of Rockford Boylan (27-2-1) or Antioch's Robin Aerne (20-5).

Rich Wilhelm is in a similar position in his quest to requalify for state at 126. Sam Simmons of Rockford East (23-6-2) is the chief foe in his bracket and Sequoit Greg Nordstrom (32-3-2) heads up a strong opposite side.

Charles Young or Rockford Jefferson (23-4) and Grant's Bob McGinn (27-5) are headliners for Bison Greg Thomson to contend with at 132. The banner name for Grove's Tim Dunn at 138 is Bart Parker of North Chicago (23-2-1) although Rich Konitsky of Rockford Harlem (30-1) sports better credentials.

At 145 the wrestler for Bison Doug Browning to watch for is Waukegan East's Mark Smith (29-0) but Browning will have to get past Eric Jones of North Chicago (22-3-1) first.

Gymnastics

trailed only Elk Grove's Tim Connelly on side horse, Jim Tangney placed third on P-Bars and Glenn Wilke tied for fifth on still rings.

Russ Klingaman was the leading Prospect all-arounder with an average of 6.83.

Wheeling should take the third place spot in the district after posting a 123.86 score in the conference meet.

The Wildcats medalists were still rings specialist Dale Brungraber and side horse man Jim Geske. Brungraber took fourth place with an 8.25 mark while Geske was fourth with a 7.45 score.

Arlington's Cardinals, which did not have a full team at the conference meet, will battle the Wildcats for third place.

Chris Smith lead the Cardinals' trampoline efforts with a 7.85 score, enough for a fourth place medal. Tom Staley's 8.35 on still rings placed him second while Kyle Chamblee finished just out of the running with a 7.95.

Fremd's main hope will rest with all-arounder Doug Smidl, who tied for fifth in the conference meet with a 6.90 average.

Smidl also picked up a third place medal on side horse witih a 7.90 score.

The quality of the competition at the Hersey District will be good enough for several individuals to advance to the sectionals without their teams making it.

At 119, Mustang Jim Carlstrom is definitely a factor while Huskie Jim Watters and Warrior Mike Tramel can't be ruled out either in a wide-open race.

Another Conrad from Leyden, Rich, along with Jim Galas of West Leyden who qualified last year at 119, are frontrunners at 126. And Arlington's John Preissing, Doug McCarthy of Fremd, Bob Levy of Niles North (21-3) and Jack Beals of Maine North (23-7-1) are other very capable possibilities.

Dan Lococo of Hersey heads up a 132-pound field that also spotlights his opening foe, Luis Ochoa of Fenton, plus Steve Krist of East Leyden, Kurt Fiech of Maine South (25-1), Card Dan Kennedy, and Seumas O'Hara of GBS (27-5-1). A rugged 138-pound class features Dave Helminski of Dundee (21-1-1), Jeff Hoss of East Leyden and Rob Roto of the Titans (28-5-1) in addition to Huskie Brett Benz.

Local entries Pete Martin of Meadows and Rick Dewar of Hersey will be dealing with standouts Bob Stout of Fenton and Brian Thomas of New Trier West at 145. At 155 Todd Whitfield of Glenbrook South (29-4) is one of the favorites to capture a title netted by his brother Drew last year but Russ Pollard of Fremd, Dan Barringer of Maine West and Jim Popp of Palatine cannot be ruled out of the picture.

The 167-pound division appears to be up for grabs. Ted Tyk of the Mustangs and Prospect's Carl Schimmelman have the potential here. Pete Christopoulos of Niles East (17-0) and Joe Battaglia of Loyola (26-1-1) take the best marks into a 185-pound runoff that also includes John Carroll of Maine South (16-5-1), John Haney of Hersey and Warrior Dave Cavazos.

Scott Zettek of the Lions will be defending the heavyweight throne. Among his many strong foes will be Warrior Bob Smith.

NAPERVILLE

DeKalb, with eight representatives five of them champs, should have little difficulty nailing down the team crown although Addison Trail (four and three) can't be ruled out of the hunt. Other challenges should come from Larkin with five district winners, Glenbard South (three and one) York (Four and one) and possibly Hinsdale South and the host Redskins.

Individually, Mike Farina of the Dukes (33-0) is an odds-on favorite to repeat as champ at 98 while Conant's Jon Gluck and Schaumburg's Dave Cooke are among a rugged field battling it our for second.

At 105 Lou Larson of the Barbs (17-2-2) is one of the top entries Saxon Al Blount must contend with. Another DeKalb entry Joe Williams (25-1-1) figures to repeat as a qualifier at 112 while Elk Grove's Steve King, Gary Varga of the Blazers (25-4) and Brian Murphy of LaGrange among others shoot for the other slot.

The 119-pound category is loaded, beginning with defening Naperville champ Tom Best (18-3), Jim Farina of York (31-3), Louis Delacruz of Larkin (24-1) and Gary Murakami of Downers Grove South. Grenadier Tim Bush will have his hands full.

Another returning Redskin sectional champ, Don Larimer (20-1) leads off a 138-pound class that is not exactly easy. Elk Grove's John Carpenter will also have to contend with John Esposito of York (31-2) and Wheaton Central's Ralph Schmuggerow among others. The 145 category is strong but reasonably balanced for Chad McCreary of Hoffman Estates. Naperville's Scott Glander (17-4), Mike McMillan of Sycamore (17-0) Jim Hensel of West Chicago (23-2), and Larkin's Gary Cochran (21-3-1) head up the show.

Defending state champ Jim Morris of Glenbard South has issued Hawk Jim Thomas his only defeat this year and he will be the strong favorite at 155. DeKalb's John Larson (20-4) and Dave Lopez of Elgin (24-3-2) are others in the race with Thomas.

Jim Graham of DeKalb (25-2) and Addison Trail's Phil Sleboda (28-2-1) are headliners at 167 for Gren Tim McGuire. At heavyweight Mike Malone of Elk Grove will probably find that returning state qualifier Kurt Becker of Aurora East (22-5) is favored.

BARRINGTON

This sectional could develop into a wide open affair for team honors and Buffalo Grove and Rockford East have the strongest post positions with four champs and a runnerup apiece. There are at least 12 other teams capable of winning the big trophy.

The leadoff Bison is Tim Foley at 112 and most of his competition is in the opposite bracket. If he can overtake Mike Jones of North Chicago (24-4) he could hook up with either Mark Marinaro of Rockford Boylan (27-2-1) or Antioch's Robin Aerne (20-5).

Rich Wilhelm is in a similar position in his quest to requalify for state at 126. Sam Simmons of Rockford East (23-6-2) is the chief foe in his bracket and Sequoit Greg Nordstrom (32-3-2) heads up a strong opposite side.

Charles Young or Rockford Jefferson (23-4) and Grant's Bob McGinn (27-5) are headliners for Bison Greg Thomson to contend with at 132. The banner name for Grove's Tim Dunn at 138 is Bart Parker of North Chicago (23-2-1) although Rich Konitsky of Rockford Harlem (30-1) sports better credentials.

At 145 the wrestler for Bison Doug Browning to watch for is Waukegan East's Mark Smith (29-0) but Browning will have to get past Eric Jones of North Chicago (22-3-1) first.

Gymnastics

trailed only Elk Grove's Tim Connelly on side horse, Jim Tangney placed third on P-Bars and Glenn Wilke tied for fifth on still rings.

Russ Klingaman was the leading Prospect all-arounder with an average of 6.83.

Wheeling should take the third place spot in the district after posting a 123.86 score in the conference meet.

The Wildcats medalists were still rings specialist Dale Brungraber and side horse man Jim Geske. Brungraber took fourth place with an 8.25 mark while Geske was fourth with a 7.45 score.

Arlington's Cardinals, which did not have a full team at the conference meet, will battle the Wildcats for third place.

Chris Smith lead the Cardinals' trampoline efforts with a 7.85 score, enough for a fourth place medal. Tom Staley's 8.35 on still rings placed him second while Kyle Chamblee finished just out of the running with a 7.95.

Fremd's main hope will rest with all-arounder Doug Smidl, who tied for fifth in the conference meet with a 6.90 average.

Smidl also picked up a third place medal on side horse witih a 7.90 score.

The quality of the competition at the Hersey District will be good enough for several individuals to advance to the sectionals without their teams making it.

Three area schools win in district gymnastics

by CHARLIE DICKINSON
Gymnastics Editor

There were only pleasant surprises for Buffalo Grove, Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove as the three Mid-Suburban League gymnastics powers breezed to district championships Thursday night.

The biggest shock came at Buffalo Grove where the young Bison pulled out all the stops to win their district with a 139.39 score.

Coach Dennis Mazur was shooting for 135 but his team put that behind them easily as they topped second place Mundelein by 27 points.

The Rolling Meadows Mustangs took six of seven individual titles as they swept to the Hoffman Estates district with their best score of the season at 146.65.

Keith Liszewski took the high bar title, with his best score of the year at 8.95, and Glenn Johnson grabbed the trampoline title with an 8.45.

Dave Bycroft swept the still rings title and Guy Owsiany captured the all-around with an average of 7.55. Conant's Bill Schanel kept the Mustangs from taking every first place medal when he won the P-Bars with a score of 8.10.

The Mustang's domination was so complete they took 20 of a possible 35 medals.

"We're starting to peak," said Meadows coach Vic Avigliano. "We do this every year. Start to hit just at state tournament time.

"This is our best score of the year and we looked as good as the score indicates."

Elk Grove's Gene Christensen was fighting the flu bug and a temperature of 102 but the Grenadier senior took individual titles in free ex, high bar, P-Bars, still rings and all-around.

The Grens total of 142.79 easily bested runner-up Maine East, who totaled 113.50. Forest View was third at 98.84.

"Once Gene started to work up a sweat," said Elk Grove coach Fred Gaines, "he started to feel better and hit well in the later events."

The Grens got support from side horse champion Tim Connelly and Dan Wudtke, who finished second in the all-around with a 6.83 average.

The Bison's Dewey Deal lost the all-around battle to Mundelein's Jeff Martin but he took the P-Bars title with an 8.35.

Buffalo Grove got individual titles from Fred Bista (free ex), Lee Battaglia (high bar) and Mark Farrington (still rings).

Hawks lose 76-69 at Waubonsee

Special to the Herald

Despite 21 points from Wally Butman and 18 more from Scott Green, the Harper Hawks dropped a 76-69 verdict in junior college cage action at Waubonsee late Thursday.

The defeat came in the Hawks' final N4C game and left their record at 5-9 in league play, including a forfeit win over Illinois Valley in a game that was played in December. Illinois Valley won the game, but an ineligible player forced them to forfeit.

"I don't think we were ready for this game mentally," said Harper cage coach Roger Bechtold, whose Hawks are already looking ahead to Monday's first-round Juco tournament contest against Wright J.C. "We just didn't play with any enthusiasm."

The Hawks, whose over-all record stands at 12-15, overcame a six-point halftime deficit and traded the lead several times in the second half. But Waubonsee controlled the boards and outshot the Hawks to pull out the victory.

"We came out not doing the things we ordinarily do well," Bechtold lamented. "We weren't thinking. We were missing those easy shots under the basket. Then we started executing in the second half."

Harper's all-time single-game scoring champ, Jim Arden (Palatine H.S.), got in early foul trouble and contributed just 10 points.

St. Viator, deSales meet

The St. Viator cagers continue their second season tonight when they visit St. Francis deSales High School for an 8 p.m. contest.

Fresh from a one point victory over third place St. Patrick's last weekend, the new Lions are now 7-5 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference, one game behind 8-4 St. Pat's.

It took a 27-point fourth quarter effort by the Lions to whip deSales earlier in the season, 78-69 in a game highlighted by Steve Notaro's 30-point performance for St. Viator.

But the win was also the start of better fortunes for the Lions on the hardcourt. Since that game with deSales, the Lions are 5-3, with two losses coming by one point each.

DeSales is 2-10 in conference play this year, and is struggling to stay out of the league cellar. The Pioneers also sport the worst defense in the league, giving up 877 points in 12 games for an average of 73 points per game.

DRAFT

VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT

Public Notice

PROPOSED HIGHWAY PROJECT

REQUEST FOR DESIGN APPROVAL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all interested persons that Design Approval for the improvement of the Illinos Route 83 S-Curve has been requested from the Federal Highway Administration.

The approximate limits of this improvement are on Route 83 from Shabonee Trail north to Milburn Avenue; and on Lincoln Street from Elmhurst Avenue east to Main Street. This improvement is in substantial conformance with the plan approved by the Village Board on September 16, 1975.

The improvement will consist of widening Route 83 to 48-feet from Shabonee Trail to the curve at Elmhurst Road and Lincoln Street. At Lincoln Street, the pavement will be widened to allow for four 12-foot thru lanes, one 10-foot auxiliary lane, and a 2-foot mountable median. Lincoln Street between the two curves will be 44-feet wide, edge to edge; as will the section of Main Street between the second curve and Milburn Avenue. Superelevation will be provided thru the curves. The existing one-way legs of Elmhurst Road and Lincoln Street will be removed and replaced with a new four-lane pavement. This new pavement will be 44-feet wide and will connect the Lincoln Street-Elmhurst Avenue intersection with Illinois Route 83. The intersection formed by this roadway and Route 83 will be signalized.

The proposed improvement will also include construction of new pavement, concrete curb and gutter, median channelization, new traffic and school crossing signals, sidewalk, drainage structures and appurtenances highway lighting, and all other work necessary to complete the improvements in accordance with approved plans and specifications.

No right-of-way acquisition will be required for this improvement. Maps, drawings and other information developed by the Village of Mount Prospect in conjunction with this project, and any written views received as a result of coordination with other agencies are available for public inspection and copying at the Village of Mount Prospect, 100 South Emerson, Mount Prospect, Illinois on Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m., and from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Information is also available by telephone at the Village of Mount Prospect Engineering Department at 392-6000 during the same hours.

Public Notice

The Federal Insurance Administrator, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 P.L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1917 (Section 1917.4 (a)) hereby gives notice of his proposed determinations of flood elevations for the Village of Mt. Prospect, Cook County, Illinois.

Under these Acts, the Administrator, to whom the Secretary has delegated the statutory authority, must develop criteria for flood plain management in identified flood hazard areas. In order to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program, the village must adopt flood plain management measures that are consistent with the flood elevations determined by the Secretary.

Proposed flood elevations (100-year flood) are listed below for selected locations. Maps and other information showing the detailed outlines of the flood-prone areas and the proposed flood elevations are available for review at the Village Clerk's office, 112 East Northwest Highway, Mt. Prospect,, Illinois.

Any person having knowledge, information, or wishing to make a comment on these determinations should immediately notify Robert D. Teichert, Mayor, 112 East Northwest Highway, Mt. Prospect 60056. The period for comment will be ninety days following the second publication of this notice in a newspaper of local circulation in the above-named community or ninety days from publication of this notice in the Federal Register, whichever is the later.

The proposed 100-year Flood Elevations are:

The South half (excepting the North 235.00 feet thereof) of the West quarter of the Northwest quarter of the Northeast quarter of Section 16, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois.

Commonly described as the property along the east side of Waterman Avenue approximately 900 to 1,300 feet south of Hintz Road.

Said annexation is contemplated under the provisions of Illinois Revised Statutes, 1973, Chapter 24, Section 7-1-13. The Corporate Authority shall consider such annexation on March 1, 1976 at its regular meeting at 8:00 p.m. in the Municipal Building, 33 South Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT

Public Notice

PROPOSED HIGHWAY PROJECT
REQUEST FOR DESIGN APPROVAL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all interested persons that Design Approval for the improvement of the Illinos Route 83 S-Curve has been requested from the Federal Highway Administration.

The approximate limits of this improvement are on Route 83 from Shabonee Trail north to Milburn Avenue; and on Lincoln Street from Elmhurst Avenue east to Main Street. This improvement is in substantial conformance with the plan approved by the Village Board on September 16, 1975.

The improvement will consist of widening Route 83 to 48-feet from Shabonee Trail to the curve at Elmhurst Road and Lincoln Street. At Lincoln Street, the pavement will be widened to allow for four 12-foot thru lanes, one 10-foot auxiliary lane, and a 2-foot mountable median. Lincoln Street between the two curves will be 44-feet wide, edge to edge; as will the section of Main Street between the second curve and Milburn Avenue. Superelevation will be provided thru the curves. The existing one-way legs of Elmhurst Road and Lincoln Street will be removed and replaced with a new four-lane pavement. This new pavement will be 44-feet wide and will connect the Lincoln Street-Elmhurst Avenue intersection with Illinois Route 83. The intersection formed by this roadway and Route 83 will be signalized.

The proposed improvement will also include construction of new pavement, concrete curb and gutter, median channelization, new traffic and school crossing signals, sidewalk, drainage structures and appurtenances highway lighting, and all other work necessary to complete the improvements in accordance with approved plans and specifications.

No right-of-way acquisition will be required for this improvement. Maps, drawings and other information developed by the Village of Mount Prospect in conjunction with this project, and any written views received as a result of coordination with other agencies are available for public inspection and copying at the Village of Mount Prospect, 100 South Emerson, Mount Prospect, Illinois on Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m., and from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Information is also available by telephone at the Village of Mount Prospect Engineering Department at 392-6000 during the same hours.

By Order of:
DONALD W. GOODMAN
Village Clerk

Public Notice

The Federal Insurance Administrator, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 P.L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1917 (Section 1917.4 (a)) hereby gives notice of his proposed determinations of flood elevations for the Village of Mt. Prospect, Cook County, Illinois.

Under these Acts, the Administrator, to whom the Secretary has delegated the statutory authority, must develop criteria for flood plain management in identified flood hazard areas. In order to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program, the village must adopt flood plain management measures that are consistent with the flood elevations determined by the Secretary.

Proposed flood elevations (100-year flood) are listed below for selected locations. Maps and other information showing the detailed outlines of the flood-prone areas and the proposed flood elevations are available for review at the Village Clerk's office, 112 East Northwest Highway, Mt. Prospect,, Illinois.

Any person having knowledge, information, or wishing to make a comment on these determinations should immediately notify Robert D. Teichert, Mayor, 112 East Northwest Highway, Mt. Prospect 60056. The period for comment will be ninety days following the second publication of this notice in a newspaper of local circulation in the above-named community or ninety days from publication of this notice in the Federal Register, whichever is the later.

The proposed 100-year Flood Elevations are:

Walker hits 'frill' college classes

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker Thursday charged Illinois community colleges offer too many "frill courses."

The governor's comments on education and community colleges came during an interview with The Herald.

While the governor said state aid to primary, secondary and higher education will increase next year, he said schools must begin tightening their belts.

"It is a certainty that in 1980 enrollment in colleges and universities will decline," Walker said.

"WE ARE GOING to have to get community colleges to cut back on some of the consumer-type courses they are offering," the governor said.

Walker said he read an advertisement recently for one community college offering a refresher class for pilots on FAA regulations.

"I am troubled by the whole idea of community colleges advertising for students," he said.

Walker said community colleges should be confined to two functions—vocational education and educating students who cannot get into a college anywhere else.

Walker said college administrators are trying to get as many students enrolled as possible so their schools can qualify for additional state aid. He rejected the idea that community colleges are mandated to provide a full complement of consumer-oriented courses.

STATE LAW does not provide funds for all continuing education programs offered by community colleges. Most recreational-type courses do not receive any state aid. Tuition fees paid by students finance the entire cost of the course.

Walker said the time has come for all levels of education to begin altering their programs to adjust to declining enrollments. He also said the state should stop offering mutiple graduate school programs at state universities.

"We don't need to offer the same graduate programs at five or six schools. We should limit it to two schools."

The governor also reacted to charges by Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, who blasted Walker for television commercials he is using describing senior citizens' programs.

WALKER SAID he has provided assistance to senior citizens and that he signed legislation creating the Illinois Dept. on Aging.

"I could have vetoed the program. When I sign a program into law and it is a good program, I believe I am entitled to list it as an accomplishment of my administration," he said.

Hartigan called the Walker ad a "lie". The lieutenant governor has campaigned throughout the state contending he did the groundwork to create the department.

Police mum on vote for Calderwood

by JOE SWICKARD

The Arlington Heights chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police met in an emergency closed-door session Thursday night to discuss the growing controversy surrounding the administration of Police Chief L. W. Calderwood.

A vote of confidence was taken on Calderwood's operation of the department, but the position of the organization will not be revealed until Tuesday's special meeting of the village board, called because of accusations leveled by former police Capt. Jack Aldrich.

"We have taken a position on this but we are going to wait for the trustees," said Patrolman Robert Gerth, president of the local FOP.

IT WAS THE second closed-door meeting held by the FOP in six days to discuss the accusations and the group's possible support of the 72-year-old chief.

The FOP meeting came a day after a "rap session" was held by Calderwood and command officers and about 30 patrolmen.

"It was held just to see what people thought about Aldrich's letter. Many of them hadn't seen it. Nothing earthshaking came out of it," said Capt. Maurice English, one of those who attended the meeting.

"Everybody has been talking about what they've read in the papers. It was to get a better understanding of what Aldrich's letter meant," English said.

LAST WEEK, former Trustee Alice Harms delivered Aldrich's letter to a village board budget hearing. In it, Aldrich, now police chief of Barrington Hills, charged that the department was mismanaged and that Calderwood stifles innovative procedures.

The village board voted this week to call a special meeting to discuss the situation with Aldrich and former Capt. Irvin McDougall, who recently left the department to become police chief of Downstate Mendota.

English said the meeting of the men and the command personnel was designed to help ease "anxiety" resulting from the accusations and pending hearings.

"It was a general get-together to discuss what's going on," he said.

A POLICEMAN who attended the meeting described it as a frank airing of thoughts between the men and their commanders.

Calderwood, according to the policeman, took the opportunity to enumer-

Village finance director foresees water rate hike

by BILL HILL

A hike in Arlington Heights water rates is expected this year because of increased maintenance costs for the village's water system.

Finance Director Kenneth Bonder said Thursday that the village's water operation is "just breaking even" this year.

An audit report last summer first recommended an increase in water rates because water system expenditures last year were $165,000 more than water revenues.

"It could reverse itself this year, but if it doesn't, I will earnestly recommend a water rate increase," Bonder said. He predicted such a recommendaton would not occur before September.

WATER RATES in Arlington Heights last were raised in 1970. Residents now are charged 63 cents per 1,000 gallons, up to 50,000 gallons. At that point, the rate drops to 58 cents per 1,000 gallons.

"Based on what I saw last year, the rate increase may be up to 75 cents (per 1,000 gallons)," Bonder said. "It will depend a lot on this year's audit report."

An increase to 75 cents would be a 19 per cent jump, meaning an average yearly water bill of $60 would increase to $71.40.

"Right now our water revenue only pays for the upkeep of our system. It doesn't generate any additional money to be utilized for capital improvements in the system," Bonder said.

"It's not that we've had an unusual amount of maintenance work done, but the costs of the maintenance have skyrocketed," he said.

ONE ALTERNATIVE now being discussed by the village administration, Bonder said, is a proposal from Public Works Director Gene Willroth to apply a "conservation" fee. Under the proposal, a maximum usage level would be set and an additional fee would be charged to any customer going over that level.

"I'm not convinced that is the best route to go. It's only in a preliminary discussion stage," Bonder said.

"When I do recommend an increase in the water rate, I will definitely recommend that we not have a dual rate again. That, to me, is conservation right there," he said.

Patty, mother break down in tears

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst and her mother both succumbed in tears Thursday as the daughter testified she did not contact her family after months of captivity because "I felt my parents wouldn't want to see me again."

Miss Hearst, whose 22nd birthday is Friday, also said she had changed her mind during her kidnaping about marrying Steven Weed and had not tried to see her former fiance since her arrest.

Under cross examination by U.S. Attorney James L. Browning Jr., the bank robbery defendant went again over her sexual intercourse in a tiny closet with SLA member Wille Wolfe whom she had described in a tape as the love of her life and had said that she had a "strong feeling" for him.

"What type of strong feeling?" asked Browning.

"I couldn't stand him," said Miss Hearst.

Browning started out the morning low key, almost bumbling, but in the afternoon session his questions grew sharper as he went into the change in the heiress after her return to the west coast.

The prosecutor put Miss Hearst in a position where 21 times she claimed — outside jury presence — the Fifth Amendment right against self incrimination when he asked her where she was at the time of an April, 1975, bank robbery in Sacramento in

A 40-year-old truck driver was crushed to death Thursday morning when he was pinned between his truck and the wall of a loading dock at an Elk Grove Village factory. Dead was Ronald Tucker, 40, of 204 Landmeier Rd., Elk Grove Village. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Alexian Brothers Medical Center, Elk Grove Village. Village firefighters said Tucker, an employe of Midaco Corp., 7650 Nicholas Blvd., was behind the truck when it began to roll, pushing up against the dock.

July 4 racing to be reconsidered?

Arlington Park Race Track may ask the Arlington Heights Village Board to reconsider its rejection of Sunday horse racing for July 4. The board rejected the track's request this week in a 5-to-4 vote, but Trustee Alfred Barboro, who cast the deciding vote, says he may reconsider his vote if track officials can show the July 4 race will tie in with village Bicentennial events. A new state racing law gives communities with race tracks the authority to allow Sunday racing.

Thief takes chief's CB radio

Citizens band radios are stolen just about every day but Wheeling Police Lt. Ronald Nelson has a special interest in the theft of one of them — his. The unit was stolen from Nelson's auto, a 1968 Cadillac that was left in a police station parking lot Wednesday night. The car was locked, and the thieves probably used a coat hanger to get inside, Nelson said.

Explosive device found at school

An explosive device was found in the locker of an Elk Grove Village High School student Thursday morning forcing evacuation of about 2,500 students and faculty members. Police later took the student into custody who reportedly lit a candlewick at the top of the device and placed it into a locker. It burned itself out however before it could detonate, school officials said. The student's name was not released by police.

Stackler should resign: Partee

by United Press International

State Sen. Cecil Partee said Thursday his opponent in the Democratic attorney general primary, Ronald Stackler, should be asked to resign from Gov. Daniel Walker's cabinet.

The feud started Wednesday when Stackler, who is on leave as director of the Dept. of Registration and Education, said he had not disciplined doctors who obtained public aid money through fraud, because he could not get their names from Public Aid Director James Trainor.

Trainor angrily replied Stackler "is a liar."

Partee said Stackler's statement "impugned the integrity" of Trainor and his aides, indicated Stackler "didn't do his job" as director of the department, and said Stackler should be fired.

In other political developments Thursday:

- Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, who is seeking reelection, said Walker is running television commercials on aid to senior citizens "filled with half-truths."
- A poll published in Thursday's editions of the Springfield State Journal-Register showed President Ford leading Ronald Reagan in the GOP presidential preference race in Springfield by a 2-1 margin.

The poll showed 47.7 per cent of GOP voters support for Ford, 22.7 per cent for Reagan, and 29.6 per cent undecided.

- Sec. of State Michael Howlett, who is running against Walker in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, charged state service to the handicapped has deteriorated since Walker took office.

He said the DVR has seriously overspent its budget for the current fiscal year, forcing curtailment of services to some handicapped persons and refusal of service to some qualified new applicants.

Ford downplays primary contest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford arrived in New Hampshire Thursday to appeal for votes in Tuesday's first presidential primary, but aides said he believes "one primary means nothing" in his nomination battle against Ronald Reagan.

The President opened the two-day campaign swing armed with word from his political supporters that he is "closing the gap" against Reagan in New Hampshire and a rosy report on the state of the nation's economy.

Ford, in Keene Thursday night, unleashed his toughest attack to date against Ronald Reagan, saying his rival is advocating that America enter a "backdoor to socialism." Reagan had suggested investing Social Security Funds in the stock market.

Reagan, too, was spending a campaign weekend in New Hampshire, where a primary victory is usually coveted for the early "winner's image" it provides.

Nonetheless, just before Ford left the White House Thursday, press secretary Ron Nessen seemed to take pains to downplay the significance of Tuesday's contest — and, by implication, the significance of a Reagan victory.

"One primary decides nothing," he told reporters, saying Ford views it as but one of 31 election year primaries and feels the press has "exaggerated its importance."

"Whatever happens in that state, there will be others," Nessen said. "It's a long way from now to August," when the GOP nominating convention is held in Kansas City.

He said Ford expects to win the nomination there regardless of the outcome of such early primaries as New Hampshire and Florida, where Reagan is given a good chance for victory.

Asked why Ford was making this 11th hour campaign appearance if he thinks the primary has limited significance, Nessen said, "He is anxious to go up there and appeal for votes."

Nessen said Ford would not make any statements Tuesday evening after the New Hampshire vote has been tabulate, but will wait until the following day to assess the results.

In Concord, meantime, a conservative fundraiser who wants Democrats to have an alternative in New Hampshire's primary launched a $30,000 write-in campaign Thursday for Republican John Connally.

It was expected the write-in effort, which Conally has disavowed, would have an impact Tuesday on both the five-man Democratic race and the head-to-head Republican battle betwen President Ford and Ronald Reagan.

ALMOST NOTHING remained standing in Tecpan, Guatemala following the recent earthquake. Alfredo Juixan, 10, his face streaked with dust, however, sits reading a letter. Behind him is the rubble of his home. His family survived. While they went in search of food, Alfredo was left to guard the family's land. A guard is always placed when families leave their homes — even though it may be only a small area of dust and debris, to make sure no one sets up a new house on their land.

which a woman customer was killed.

Browning planned to go on with cross examination Friday with emphasis on why she fired a machinegun at a Los Angeles sporting goods store to rescue SLA members Emily and William Harris.

Trying his first major criminal case, the tall, courtly Browning at first appeared careful not to give the jury the impression he was browbeating a young woman who had been through a terrible ordeal.

But he forced Miss Hearst to acknowledge that she signed an affidavit shortly after her arrest in which she made numerous false statements about how she was treated during 19 months of captivity.

She admitted it was not ture that she was going insane or that she was in a "fog" from the time of the Hibernia bank robbery until her arrest Sept. 18, 1975.

Browning brought her back to the time when she moved into the San Francisco apartment with Wendy Yoshimura, apart from the Harrises.

"What about your parents?" Browning asked. "Did you contact them during that period of time?"

"No. I felt my parents wouldn't want to see me again."

"Well, did you ever think to try and write them a letter to explain what had happened to you?"

"I just didn't think they'd want to hear it."

"And you didn't telephone, did you?"

"No. I mean, I wouldn't have been allowed to, even if I thought I could have."

"How would the Harrises have known about that, Miss Hearst?"

"Because they would have found out because, I mean, my parents would have given the letter to the FBI."

Browning turned to Steven Weed and brought out that they were planning to be married shortly before she was kidnaped from the apartment they were sharing although they had not set a wedding date.

Browning asked whether at the time of her arrest she still wanted to marry Weed.

"Do I want to marry him now?"

"Did you still want to marry him on the date of your arrest?"

"No."

"So I take it that something happened between the time of your kidnap and the time of your apprehension that caused you to change your mind, is that right?"

"I guess so. I mean I hadn't really thought about it."

Browning asked whether she had seen Weed since her arrest.

"No, I haven't," Patty said.

The prosecutor brought out that Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze, the chief of her abductors, had told her about six weeks after the kidnaping that she had the choice of staying with the SLA or going free.

Miss Hearst said DeFreeze told her that, but it wasn't a choice.

"Why not?"

"Because they wouldn't have let me go."

"How do you know that?"

"Well, I mean, maybe I should have taken a chance."

The prosecutor abruptly changed the line of questioning and asked Miss Hearst where she had been during a period in the fall of 1974 when she was in Las Vegas until her capture in San Francisco in September, 1975.

Bailey objected to her answering the question and the jury was excused.

Meanwhile, in Los Angeles, a jury acquitted an SLA member, Russell Little, of assault and attempted murder against a police officer, and said it was deadlocked on the verdict for another member Joseph Remiro.

The two, who previously were convicted of the murder of Oakland schools Supt. Marcus Foster, were on trial for exchanging gunshots with police in Concord, Calif., when they were arrested in January 1974.

Ford's public works veto upheld

President Ford scored another victory on Capitol Hill Thursday as Congress upheld his veto of a $6.2 billion public works bill which Democrats said would create more than 600,000 jobs but which Ford called an election-year "hoax." The House voted 319 to 98 to override his veto, 41 more than the two-thirds necessary. But later in the afternoon the Senate upheld the veto. An override of a veto requires a two-thirds majorities of those present and voting in both houses.

Gulf pleads guilty to pricing violations

Gulf Oil Corp. has pleaded guilty to four counts of deliberately violating government oil price regulations, the Federal Energy Administration said Thursday. An FEA spokesman said U.S. District Judge Daniel Snyder in Pittsburgh, who accepted Gulf's guilty plea, imposed a maximum $20,000 criminal fine on the firm. Gulf was the first oil company to be criminally indicted and fined for such violations.

Economic recovery going well: Greenspan

Alan Greenspan, President Ford's top economic adviser said Thursday the nation's economic recovery is going well with joblessness and inflation on the decline. "While unemployment remains exceptionally high and there is a substantial way to go," more jobs were opening up than the economic experts predicted, he said.

Meantime, the Agriculture Department reported food prices this year will rise at the slowest rate in four years. The forecast said: "Larger supplies of many crop and livestock items are slowing the rise in retail food prices."

Lawmakers clash on cigaret health tax

Sponsors of a proposed health tax on cigarettes clashed Thursday with senators from tobacco-growing states over whether the levy would safeguard the American people's health or simply drive growers off the land. "I want to make it very clear," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., "we're not interested in putting those farmers out of business. What we are interested in is having them grow safe tobacco." But opponents said the impact of the tax would drive tobacco growers out of business and result in damage to economies of tobacco-producing states.

Golda Meir closes Conference on Jewry

Former Israeli Premier Golda Meir closed the World Conference on Soviet Jewry Thursday with an emotional warning to the Soviet Union that Jews "will be free" and compared the struggle of Soviet Jews to emigrate to the biblical Exodus of Jews from Egypt. A final declaration by the conference demanded that the Kremlin "end the campaign of antisemitism" and free its Jews to emigrate to Israel. "We want Jews in the Soviet Union to be masters of their own fate," Mrs. Meir told the final session.

IRA accuses Ireland of 'body snatching'

Ireland diverted a plane carrying the remains of an IRA hunger striker who died in jail from Dublin to Shannon Thursday in an attempt to block a martyr's funeral for him. The IRA accused the government of "body snatching." A group of IRA leaders waited in vain in Dublin to hold an emotional reception for Frank Stagg's flag-draped coffin. Stagg's body was placed in an airport morgue under uniformed police guard.

Similar to great flu of 1918

Unique virus found in New Jersey

ATLANTA (UPI) — Discovery of a uniquely different influenza virus with characteristics possibly similar to the strain that caused the great flu pandemic of 1918 was announced Thursday by the national Center for Disease Control.

The virus was found during a routine medical investigation of a moderate influenza outbreak last week at Ft. Dix, N. J. Two strains of flu were found. CDC officials said the prevalent A-Victoria type was identified in seven ill military personnel. Four other cases had antigenic characteristics of swine influenza virus, one of which proved fatal, the CDC said.

Symptoms of the three surving Ft. Dix A-swine flu victims were "quite characteristic of flu as we know it," a CDC spokesman said.

Dr. Colette Rasmussen, chief of preventive medicine for the Cook County public health department, said the swine influenca virus has not turned up in the Chicago area.

"The only thing isolated so far is the A-Victoria type," she said.

The CDC said some of the earliest viruses studied had swine characteristics and added, "It has been speculated that viruses of the 1920s and perhaps before were similar."

It said the 1918-19 pandemic "has been a special topic of conjecture because of its high mortality and unusual characteristics." But it added there is no way to be sure whether the swine-type virus was associated with that killer outbreak.

The so-called Spanish flu, that broke out in October, 1918, in this country, took and estimated 20 million lives around the world and caused 500 thousand deaths in the United States.

The concern of the U. S. Public Health Service over the New Jersey findings was underscored by the fact that top officials of the CDC called simultaneous news conferences in Washington and Atlanta to discuss the new swine-type of virus.

"Although the swine-type virus has been found in swine for many years," the CDC said, "this is the first time to our knowledge that it has been associated with an outbreak of influenza in the human population in the United States."

Health officials said it was possible the cluster of cases at Ft. Dix "represent little more than a curiosity. Nevertheless, the findings require careful evaluation and special investigation."

The current outbreak of A-Victoria influenza, meanwhile, was causing its own problems across the nation. The CDC said influenza and pneumonia deaths in 121 major U. S. cities had exceeded the epidemic threshold last week, primarily because of widescale outbreaks in the New England and Middle Atlantic regions.

In Baltimore, Md., Dr. Edward A. Hopf, director of communicable diseases, said the outbreak in that area was the worst in the past 10 years.

He said absentee rates at several Baltimore County schools ranged up to 25 per cent and the system's overall rate was more than double the normal five per cent.

Chinese jet ready to fly Nixon to Peking

FBI probes bribes of congressmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two congressmen confirmed Thursday the FBI is investigating allegations that they and some other House members took bribes from the South Korean government. Both congressmen denied any wrongdoing.

Reps. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., and Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N. Y., confirmed to the UPI through aides that they talked with Deputy Attorney General Harold R. Tyler, Jr., and he told them the investigation involves them, among "several" members of Congress.

The congressmen's aides said they knew no details of the investigation. But it was speculated the allegations could relate to trade with South Korea, or to military sales from the United States to South Korea.

The Washington Post told of the investigation in Thursday's editions. Addabbo and Leggett said the Post reporter, Maxine Cheshire, told them of the allegations and they called Tyler.

Leggett said Tyler told him the FBI was "pursuing a general investigation of Leggett and several other members of Congress, that Justice recognized the defamatory effect of the publication of the allegations and would attempt to conclude its probe shortly."

The Post said the allegations are that the men accepted "less than $10,000 each."

Leggett told UPI, "Maxine Cheshire is in large part full of hot air."

Leggett said he has "attempted to be a constructive critic of Korea for many years and has urged American troop withdrawals." He said he has "long been interested in sales of rice from his California district to Korea," and that he is aware of "competing factions in Washington" who could be the sources of the "groundless accusations published today."

Leggett said, "The story is woven out of whole cloth. It is untrue in every respect. I am addressing myself of course to the allegation of bribery."

Addabbo said, "No member of Congress likes to have his name linked with allegations of wrongdoing, and I am certainly no exception . . ."

Voting for Gov. Walker? We sure know who won't

If Gov. Daniel Walker wins reelection in November it won't be on the votes of board members, administrators and teachers in Illinois schools.

The hatchet man, as Walker is being affectionately referred to, has again dropped his ax on school finances and the result is less state aid for schools this spring.

Administrators learned in the last few days that they are not going to get state reimbursement for last year's summer school programs. Well, technically they will be reimbursed — but the money will be deducted from their regular state-aid payments.

Education today

by Dorothy Oliver

SCHOOL PEOPLE are confused and angry. They expected to get their summer school reimbursement over and above their state-aid payments.

For example, Mythical School Dist. 100 was going to get $500,000 in state aid this year. It also expected to get $50,000 for summer school — money that had already been spent last summer. Instead of winding up this June with $550,000, they will only have $500,000.

Fred Bradshaw, finance director for the Illinois Office of Education, said school districts are getting summer school money and their state-aid entitlement. He said the legislature appropriated only so much money for education and each district should have expected "X" amount of money for all funds.

Not so, say local administrators. They maintain that summer school reimbursement has never been handled this way, that they were not aware it would be handled this way and that they may have to charge students the full amount it costs to run summer school so they don't have to rely on the state for funding.

THESE LITTLE surprises in school financing are giving district business managers ulcers.

This school year they have had to cope with Walker's cut in state aid, Walker's cut in special education funding (also money that already has been spent), the summer school funding, inflation and projected budget deficits. Add to this the reality that they are now settling down to prepare next year's budget without the faintest idea of what the governor has in store for them as far as financing in the 1976-77 school year.

Ask your local board member, administrator or teacher who they're going to vote for in November. Let me know if you hear Walker's name mentioned.

Stocks set mark as Dow finishes with 9.52 gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — A rally fueled by optimistic economic forecasts swept prices broadly higher Thursday in the heaviest trading session in New York Stock Exchange history. By the second hour, 1976 volume had surpassed the one-billion mark at the earliest date on record.

Volume totaled 39,210,000 shares, eclipsing the previous daily high set Jan. 30, 1976 when 38,508,470 shares changed hands. Volume so far this year is 1.025 billion shares, the earliest this level has been reached. Last year, volume didn't top the one-billion mark until March 10, the previous year-to-date record. Volume Wednesday was 29,900,000 shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 9.52 points Wednesday to break a three-day losing streak, closed ahead 15.67 to 975.76.

ADVANCES HELD A commanding lead over declines, 1,266 to 365, while 290 were unchanged, among the 1,921 issues crossing the tape.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose 1.56 to 101.41 and the NYSE common stock index 0.87 to 54.26. The average price of a Big Board common share gained 55 cents.

The buying wave was ignited Wednesday when American Telephone & Telegraph, whose stock is the most widely held in the nation, raised its quarterly dividend to 95 cents a share from 85 cents. The company said its action was based on confidence in the economic recovery and the outlook for the utility's business.

The rally gained momentum Thursday after the Business Council consultants predicted a 25 per cent increase in pre-tax corporate profits this year, a drop in inflation to between 6 and 6½ per cent, and lower unemployment to around the 7 per cent mark by year-end.

IN WASHINGTON, chief White House economic adviser Alan Greenspan told President Ford and his cabinet the economic rebound was "fairly solid" with both inflation and unemployment on the wane.

Pan American World Airways led the Big Board actives, off ¼ to 7¼ on 447,300 shares.

Prices closed sharply higher in the fourth heaviest trading in American Stock Exchange history. Volume amounted to 7,584,000 shares, compared with 5,131,000 shares Wednesday. The average price of an Amex common share rose 19 cents.

Barboro may change vote on July 4 horse racing

by JOE SWICKARD

Arlington Heights Trustee Alfred Barboro Jr. said Thursday he will reconsider his negative, deciding vote against July 4 racing at Arlington Park Race Track if race track officials justify the request based on Bicentennial observance.

Arlington Park officials are considering reapplying for the Sunday, July 4 racing because track spokesman Thomas Rivera said the board's denial "all happened so quickly they may not have had the time to consider it."

Barboro, who cast the deciding vote, is a newly-appointed trustee and the vote was taken at his first board meeting. He replaced Alice Harms, who resigned.

THE BOARD rejected the application Monday in a series of 5-4 votes. The unorthodox procedure had the trustees vote against denying the track's petition, then vote against tabling it and finally voting against approving it.

Trustee Alfred Barboro Jr., cast the decisive negative vote after first voting against denying them the date.

Rivera said the track may poll the trustees to see if the matter should be brought before them again, but cautioned, "It's all nebulous at this point."

The track is seeking the Sunday date as part of the Bicentennial celebration with bands and picnic areas. Rivera told the board the track had been negotiating with CBS television for broadcasting rights to the race, the American Derby.

Barboro said, "I'm perfectly willing to reconsider on the basis of the Bicentennial aspects. It has to be justified in those terms."

HE SAID THE additional tax revenues from the extra day of racing would not be of sufficient merit to justify it.

The village can lefy a 10-cents-a-head admission tax on track patrons. It has been estimated the track would generate $3,500 for the village from the Independence Day race.

Trustee Frank Palmatier, who voted against granting the date, said, "At the moment I am still opposed to it, but I will consider anything they have to say."

He said residents living near the track are against the Sunday racing date, and their feelings are unlikely to change.

"The civic associations have already expressed opposition. I would expect that feeling to be intensified rather than diminished," Palmatier said of a rehearing of the question.

VILLAGE PRES. James T. Ryan said he was unaware of the track's possible repetitioning for the date, but said, "If I had to vote on the same set of facts, I would probably vote the same way (in favor of it)."

Ryan said the granting of the July 4 date would not open the door for other Sunday races.

"I clearly believe if we properly set up an agreement there is no way in the world it could be used as a precedent for future Sunday racing," he said.

Under state law, Arlington Park could be granted the Sunday date by a public referendum. However, Rivera said it is unlikely the track would take that step.

'Harvey' debut at Arlington High

A 6 foot, 1½ inch rabbit is the invisible star of an Arlington High School play this month.

"Harvey" will be presented Friday and Saturday and again on Feb. 27 and 28 at 8 p.m. in the school's Bristol Theatre, 502 W. Euclid St., Arlington Heights.

The comedy revolves around a middle-aged man whose best friend is the invisible rabbit Harvey.

Tickets are $1.50 for students and $2 for adults. Lyovonne Trad is directing the production, assisted by Thomas Fiel, technical director.

Fur, jewelry theft under investigation

Arlington Heights police are investigating a burglary in which about $520 worth of items was reported stolen Monday night from the Adonna Anderson apartment, 1215 N. Waterman Ave.

Reported taken were a rabbit coat, an opal ring and a gold chain necklace with an opal, police said.

No signs of forced entry to the apartment could be found, police reported.

For April 10 election

Dist. 21 caucus endorses three

Incumbent board member Barbara Farr and newcomers Elaine Bond and Fred Harms have been endorsed for the April 10 school board election by the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 General Caucus.

The three, endorsed from a slate of seven applicants, will run for three available board seats now held by Mrs. Farr, Steven Greenberg and Kenneth Rodeck. Rodeck, currently board president, did not seek caucus endorsement but intends to run for another three-year term.

Greenberg, 35, of 3138 Wilshire Ln., Arlington Heights, a caucus endorsed-candidate in 1973 in his first run for the board, failed to gain caucus approval this time.

"GREENBERG DID NOT get the caucus endorsement primarily because of his absentee recored as a board member," James Gartner, caucus president, said Thursday.

Caucus figures show Greenberg has been absent from board meetings nine times out of 22 meetings in 1974 and five times out of 22 meetings in 1975. Caucus members also objected to the number of times Greenberg has been tardy to board meetings he did attend.

Two other caucus candidates who were not endorsed, Linda Sprechman, 30, of 318 W. Hackberry Ln., Arlington Heights, and Barbara Floyd, 36, of 923 Greenridge Rd., Buffalo Grove, say they will run as independents. Herbert Kessel, 3127 N. Wilshire Ln., Arlington Heights, another caucus candidate who did not receive endorsement, said he will not run for a board seat.

Mrs. Farr, 48, of 60 E. Jeffery Ave., Wheeling, has served on the school board six months since her appointment to the vacancy created by Edwin Smith's resignation. A history professor at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle, she feels there is a need for better education in elementary schools.

MRS. FARR FAVORS reemphasizing the basics — reading, writing, arithmetic — in education. To head off an impending $1 million deficit in Dist. 21 next year, Mrs. Farr advocates eliminating non-education items first.

Mrs. Bond, 39, 810 W. Tanglewood Dr., Arlington Heights, is a business teacher at Forest View High School. She has been active in Poe School activities. She stresses individualized instruction in the schools and the hiring of more experienced teachers.

Harms, 30, of 207 E. Hackberry Dr., Arlington Heights, is vice president-management consultant of an executive search firm. Harms was not present at this week's final caucus endorsement session, but said in a letter that he believes parents should dictate the needs of the schools.

The caucus plans to campaign for its three endorsed candidates, said William Engebretson, chairman of the caucus campaign committee. Engebretson said he hopes to meet with the candidates over the weekend to plan the campaign.

ate innovations he has brought to the force during his 18 years of command.

Among those innovations were the area's first juvenile bureau, introduction of the Central Dispatch System and recent increased participation of the rank-and-file in departmental decision making.

THE MAJOR ROLE played by the FOP in preparing the department's budget requests for the upcoming fiscal year was used as an example of increased "blue shirt" (patrolman) involvement.

The meeting, lasting more than two hours and attended by more than half the members of the 80-member force, is only the second one of its kind.

A similar open question-and-answer meeting was held several years ago with Village Finance Director Kenneth Bonder to explain budgetary considerations and priorities.

English said the meeting Wednesday was successful.

"ANYTIME PEOPLE can discuss things like that it's helpful. Even if you don't agree with a person, you gain a better understanding of that person's viewpoint," he said.

Calderwood reportedly restated his open-door policy and willingness to listen to problems and complaints from patrolmen.

In his letter to the village board, Aldrich said morale in the department "is at the lowest ebb in 24 years."

He said he resigned "because of a frustration about the indirection of the agency."

Officials to rule in March on Civil Defense funding

A decision on funding the Arlington Heights Civil Defense unit will be made next month.

The decision should be made by the village board before the 1976-77 budget is approved, Village Pres. James T. Ryan said at a meeting Thursday between village and Civil Defense officials.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said the budget is scheduled for board approval either March 15 or April 5.

THE CIVIL DEFENSE unit did gain some ground Thursday in its uphill battle with the village administration to gain village funding when Ryan directed the administration to develop three disaster plans with varying degrees of funding for the Civil Defense.

"I think we can utilize some of the volunteer personnel from the Civil Defense, but it's a matter of cost-ratio benefit," Ryan said. "Each of these three alternatives should be optimum plans with alternate budget situations. The village board then can make value judgments," he said.

Thursday's meeting was called because of complaints from Jack Sayles, head of the Civil Defense radio volunteers, that the lack of village funding would cause the group to discontinue such activities as tornado watch networks.

The village's Civil Defense program lost its state accreditation a year ago because it had not updated its disaster plan. Alternative programs have since been discussed by administrative officials.

THE ROLE THAT Civil Defense volunteers should have in the village's disaster plans is a matter of priorities and budgetary considerations, Assistant Village Mgr. Frank Charlton said.

"Right now we are looking at our present capabilities within our own organization, plus our mutual aid agreements," Charlton said.

The village does not need an accredited Civil Defense unit, but only a disaster plan, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said. "We don't really need another agency involved."

"There is such a thing as having too much help," Charlton said.

Fire Chief John Hayden agreed, saying "my biggest concern is how to control volunteers."

SAYLES ARGUED that the village should work to integrate them into the system. "Civil Defense is not a bunch of ambulance chasers in white hats; it is village government in operation. The administration needs to coordinate these volunteers, because inevitably they are going to be needed," he said.

Sayles submitted budget requests totaling $3,540. Most of the funds were requested to repair the units' radio equipment and weather teletype machines needed for the group's tornado watch network.

For the past three years, all equipment and repairs have been paid for with private funds, Sayles said.

"Because no funds have been made available, the group has dwindled. If none are available this year, there will be no volunteers," he said.

Slide show Sunday at public library

A free sound and slide show on Greece, Israel and Egypt will be presented at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 N. Dunton St.

The hosts of the presentation will be George Makas, head of Harper College's music department, and his wife, Jean.

Society to donate state flag to Alamo

The Arlington Heights Historical Society is donating an Illinois flag to the Alamo to commemorate Jonathan Lindley.

Lindley was the only man from Illinois to die for the Texas Republic at the Alamo in 1836. The society honored him this summer.

Presenting the state flag will be Barbara Dee Wilson, a senior at Forest View High School, and Kevin Young of Arlington Heights, now attending college in Texas. The flag was donated by State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, and Robert Teichert, Mount Prospect village president.

Scouting news

Boy Scout Troop 166 will have a scrap paper drive Saturday in an area bounded by Arlington Heights Road on the west, Palatine Road on the north, Waterman Avenue on the east and Northwest Highway on the south.

For special pickup of large quantities of papers or if curbside bundles are missed, call 255-0895 or 253-4624.

Proceeds from the sale of the paper will be used for various scouting projects, including trips to a summer camp in Wisconsin.

Stress workshop starts for parents

A self-image counseling workshop for parents of teenagers has been started by the Arlington Heights Counseling Center, a division of Omni-House: Youth Services Bureau.

The workshop is conducted on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. A commitment of 10 weeks at a fee of $50 is requested.

The purpose of the workshop is to improve self-image and reduce anxiety during stress situations caused by teenagers.

Workshop leaders are Lee Schaefer and Russell Getz.

For more information, call 255-4767 or 398-2439.

Meyers to study in England

Patricia B. Meyers, a Michigan State University sophomore from Arington Heights, will land in London, England, next month to continue her studies.

A retailing major, Miss Meyers will study English humanities and society along with some 50 other MSU students.

The classes will last 10 weeks, from March through June.

Miss Meyers is the daughter of Kenneth W. Meyers, 115 S. Kaspar.

PRESCRIPTION REGULATIONS ARE GETTING STRICTER

Time was when things were fairly simple. Your doctor examined you, determined what was wrong and gave you a prescription to bring to your pharmacist to be compounded.

Nowadays it is getting more complicated to fill prescriptions. Such terms as Bioavailability, adverse drug reactions and patient medication profiles have come into the picture. Then, in addition, there are many new labeling requirements, special containers, and in a large number of cases complex paper work. The time our pharmacists save in preparing a prescription is more than taken up by all the new requirements they have to follow.

A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Hypoglycemia might not be her trouble

I have low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). The first doctor I went to says I'll never be completely cured, but my symptoms would become less severe. I've just gone to another doctor who says it can be cured. Who am I to believe?

The first 5-hour test showed blood sugar levels at 60 and the second test at 75 which I was told was in the normal range.

Am I cured or just under control? I also suffered from numbness first starting in my upper lip and spreading to my hands and feet until my whole body was numb, but I never fainted. Was this hyperventilation or was it caused by the insulin level being too high at that time? My big attacks only happened when I was driving. The first doctor said I should see a psychiatrist. Will this help?

Also, I have heard that hypoglycemia is not a diagnosis, but a condition. There are three different types of low blood sugar and I have the functional type. Why didn't my doctors find the cause? I would appreciate any literature on the subject you might advise me to read.

First things first. I'm not at all sure you ever had hypoglycemia. A report in the New England Journal of Medicine in 1974 pointed out that 23 per cent of a normal population had blood glucose levels below 50 and had no symptoms at all. Other studies note that 42 per cent of normal people have such levels and values as low as 34 and 37 have been noted by several different investigators in perfectly normal people with no symptoms whatsover of low blood sugar.

Your value of 60 doesn't impress me. No diagnosis of low blood sugar or hypoglycemia should be made unless the low blood sugar can be demonstrated at the time symptoms are observed and the symptoms can be corrected by raising the blood sugar. Anxiety and hyperventilation (which may be caused by anxiety) cause symptoms similar to those noted in hypoglycemia. That is probably why the first doctor suggested that you see a psychiatrist. If you have anxiety, that would not be a bad idea, not to cure low blood sugar problems but for the proper treatment of anxiety.

For more information on low blood sugar send 50 cents for The Health Letter, Number 3-9 Low Blood Sugar; Hypoglycemia. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551 Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WHETHER OR NOT you cure low blood sugar depends on if you have it in the first place and what causes it. If it is caused by a tumor of the pancreas producing too much insulin, removal of the tumor cures it. If low blood sugar is a response to diet and rapid emptying of the stomach, a proper diet may control it.

The problem with blood glucose values is that they do not give information on the levels of glucose inside the body cells, particularly the vital brain cells. The blood sugar may be high and the level inside the cells low, causing symptoms. This can happen to a diabetic. Insulin helps transport glucose into the cells. Without enough insulin the blood sugar may go up and the amount inside the cells go down.

On the other hand if the sugar is so low that not much is getting into the cells, you will have the same problem. This is why diabetics and people with significant low blood glucose often have the same symptoms, such as fatigue. Energy comes from the breakdown of glucose inside the cells not in the blood stream. If the cell level is low from any cause, the person will be tired.

How to remove stain from oiled furniture

Dear Dorothy: You've had many queries on how to get stains off wood furniture but I've never seen a question on how to get a stain off furniture that has an oiled finish. Do you have an answer for such a mark? — Pat Adam

Louie Misiano, the best refinisher I know about, says that if it's a milky white stain, it should be sponged with a cotton ball, dampened with household alcohol with all the excess squeezed out. After sponging, count four seconds and sponge again. Follow this routine until the whole area has the same coloring.

If all turns out well, you can give it the regular boiled linseed oil treatment. If the treatment does not work, you'll have to have a professional work on the stain. For those who do not know about boiled linseed oil, one buys it that way — pretreated at the factory.

Dear Dorothy: Reading about the person who rinsed out coffee filters to get double use out of them, we thought, we'd tell you what we do. While abroad, we found paper filters scarce, expensive and hard to find in the right size. So we cut good grade white cloth ones a little larger so as to drop a bit over the cone edge and found they work fine. Rinse soon after use and launder as you would any white cloth — using no bleach. — Laura and Stan Johnstone

Radiation found in well water

by KURT BAER

Low Levels of radiation have been detected in well water at the Palos Hills Forest Preserve near a site where radioactive material from the World War II Manhattan Project is buried.

The Energy Research and Development Administration will conduct tests to determine if the tritium, a radioactive form of hydrogen, that has been found in the water is coming from the burial dump.

ERDA officials say the radiation levels are not dangerous. The maximum level was less than 2 per cent of the federal safety limit for drinking water, they say.

ARTHUR L. JANURA, general superintendent of the Cook County Forest Preserve District, said Thursday he approves of the tests and is confident that the radiation is not hazardous.

There are no plans to close off the burial area, or discontinue use of the wells because of the radiation readings, he said. Low-level radioactivity also has been found in soil samples.

The Palos Hills Forest Preserve is located south of the Tri-State Tollway at U.S. Rte. 45.

Scientists from the Argonne National Laboratory will conduct the tests aimed at determining whether the buried radioactive material is the source of the radioactivity.

THE MOTION OF ground water in the area, surface soil samples and soil borings will be studied. Surface water runoff will be measured for radioactivity.

Monitoring of the sites began in 1954, and 10 tests were made between 1954 and 1973, ERDA officials said.

In 1973 monthly tests was started, including sampling of water from forest preserve wells which was not tested earlier.

History of the Palos Hills area as an atomic site dates to 1942 when the Cook County Forest Preserve District leased 1,000 acres in the preserve to the Army Corps of Engineers.

THE LAND BECAME part of the Manhattan Project, code name for the secret effort to develop an atomic bomb. The world's first nuclear reactor, Chicago Pile-1, was moved to Palos Hills from the University of Chicago's Stagg field in 1943. Later, a heavy water-moderated reactor also was built and operated at the site. Other structures, including laboratories, research facilities and animal quarters were built as well.

The federal government returned most of the land to the forest preserve district in 1947, in accord with the terms of the lease. But the Atomic Energy Commission retained control of 20 acres where the reactors stood and a second area approximately 150 by 150 feet where radioactive wastes were buried.

Between 1947 and 1956, the reactors were shut down. Radioactive fuel and other highly contaminated material were removed. Other components, including the reactor vessel were encased in concrete and buried on the site.

Some radioactive material was dug up and removed. But a substantial amount of contaminated trash, animal carcasses and other material remained buried to a depth of six feet.

THE AREA WAS WALLED with concrete down to eight feet. A thick concrete slab was poured over the top, creating an inverted concrete box around the radioactive waste. The area was filled and landscaped. Markers were put up identifying the site and cautioning against digging in the area.

Janura said that he has complete confidence in federal reports that say the radition levels in the forest preserve well and ground are not dangerous.

"Two per cent of the federal limits means there is a 98 per cent leeway before the water could be considered hazardous. There may be more radiation than that in other water throughout the county, or from the dial of a watch. I don't know," he said.

"We have been meeting with ERDA people on this. They assure us the area is not hazardous, and we see no reason to close this area off," he said.

Moore hits Howlett for 'half truth'

A candidate for Cook County State's Attorney charged Thursday that Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett did not tell the whole truth about the relationship of Sun Steel's parent company with the State of Illinois.

Donald Page Moore, former director of Gov. Daniel Walker's Office of Special Investigations, said the firm which owns Sun Steel also owns Anthony Body Co., which does business with the state.

Hoqlett held a $15,000 a year job with Sun Steel for 15 years while he was in state office, and has said repeatedly there was no conflict of interest because Sun Steel did no business with the state.

Metropolitan briefs

Medicaid restrictions told

Mercy Hospital on Chicago's near west side Thursday announced new restrictions on the number of Medicaid patients it will accept.

Medicaid (public aid) patients will be accepted only if they reside within an area bounded by Lake Mighigan, 12th Street to 39th Street, and west to Halsted Street, or Damen Avenue.

The hospital's board announced the cutback because it said the state's policy of freezing hospital and clinic rates it pays for Medicaid patients at the June 30, 1975 level is causing a projected loss for Mercy of $1.2 million a year.

Area gas prices drop

The average price of regular gasoline has dipped below 60 cents in the Chicago area for the first time since last June, the Chicago Motor Club said Thursday.

The club said its weekly survey showed regular gas in Chicago and Cook County was averaging 59.5 cents a gallon, a one-tenth of a cent drop from the previous week. Premium averaged 64.7 cents a gallon, a two-tenths of a cent drop.

Long jail term for Lindsey

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Early Strayhorn Thursday sentenced Lloyd Lindsey, 18, to 40 to 80 years in prison for the arson murders of four children on Chicago's South Side.

A jury found Lindsey guilty of murder Dec. 11 in the deaths of Carolyn Horace, 17, two sisters, Beatrice, 14, and Cathy, 11, and a brother, Maurice, 6.

Environment has 'good, bad guys'

by LEA TONKIN

The Northwest and North suburbs can claim representatives in the top environmental legislators for 1975 and the "bakers dirty dozen" with the poorest environmental voting records, said the Illinois Environmental Council.

The council said the "good guys" include State Rep. Richard Muglian, D-Palatine; State Rep. Aaron Jaffe, D-Skokie; State Rep. Daniel Pierce, D-Highland Park; and State Sen. Bradley Glass, R-Northbrook.

The "black hats" include State Rep. Donald Totten, R-Schaumburg. The council rated the legislators' votes on bills ranging from land use to solar energy issues. "Our purpose in making these awards is to give credit to those legislators who have been working hard in behalf of the environment and to indicate those with the poorest voting records," said Judith Joy, IEC president.

"Good guys" selected by IEC include Sen. Dawn Clark Netsch, D-Chicago; State Sen. Vivian Hickey, D-Rockford; State Sen. Don Wooten, D-Rock Island; State Rep. Richard Kelly, D-Hazel Crest; State Rep. Joseph Lundy, D-Chicago; State Rep. James Houlihan, D-Chicago; State Rep. Alan Greiman, D-Skokie; State Rep. Robert Downs, D-Chicago; State Rep. Robert Mann, D-Chicago; State Rep. J. Glenn Schneider, D-Wheaton and State Rep. Paul Stone, D-Sullivan.

The way we see it

Justice reform is U.S. 'must'

It is often claimed that our legal and judicial systems actually hinder justice in our nation.

That charge comes from a growing number of influential critics who contend that we must reform our system of justice from top to bottom.

We believe their criticism isn't far from the mark. In courtrooms across our land, overworked judges are frequently criticized as indifferent and apathetic towards their responsibilities.

Lawyers and others in the legal system don't fare much better. Often you need to possess wealth and Job-like patience if you seek a legal remedy.

Earlier this week two of the most important legal figures in our nation added their voices to the chorus of Americans calling for changes in our justice system.

- Chief Justice Warren E. Burger of the U.S. Supreme Court told the annual meeting of the American Bar Assn. that our system of justice must be restructured in a comprehensive and fundamental way.

He compared the system to the automobile industry, which he said "finally" began producing smaller, cheaper cars "in response to a public demand of at least 20 years standing."

A meeting of federal and state judges is scheduled in April to consider Burger's reform proposals. It deserves the support of all Americans.

- The president-elect of the ABA, Justin A. Stanley, told the United Press International he is troubled by the problems of an overburdened court system, including a shortage of legal services.

He would like to expand small claims courts, where arguments can be settled without lawyers, and provide legal clinics for problems a lawyer can easily solve. Implicit in his ideas is a sweeping redefinition of just how the courts and the lawyers are to serve the public.

Both men sense a growing public impatience with the system. Like them, we believe changes are needed, and soon, that will make our judicial system more responsive, efficient and just.

Cover-up makes sense

There are reasonable steps for our communities to take to control so-called "adult" magazines — and the City of Des Plaines has just taken one of those steps.

The Des Plaines City Council Monday night passed a law that requires merchants to cover up adult books, magazines, newspapers or other materials that depict nudity.

What the law means is that Playboy, Oui, Penthouse or other magazines which feature nudity on their covers must be covered from public view.

We have always argued that adults have the right to read whatever they choose. But we also believe that children deserve some protection against "adult" magazines. The new Des Plaines "cover-up" law provides that protection, and we commend the city council for passing it.

Tax should be ended

Arlington Heights' controversial utility tax, which costs the average resident about $75 annually, should be eliminated by the end of the year.

Arlington Heights Finance Director Kenneth Bonder says all obligations on projects funded by the tax will be completed by Dec. 31. On that date the utility tax should be repealed.

All too often we have heard promises that this tax will be eliminated, and what was started in 1970 as a "temporary tax" has been around ever since. The 5 per cent tax is levied on telephone, gas and electrical bills, and utility companies act as the collection agencies.

As Village Pres. James T. Ryan says: "It just isn't a fair way to collect money. It's an unfair burden on the single family homeowner. Plus, it's not deductible."

We agree, and we believe Dec. 31 is the right time to remove this burden from the people of Arlington Heights and instead charge them more directly for municipal services.

The almanac

(by United Press International)

Today is Friday, Feb. 20, the 51st day of 1976 with 315 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Venus.

The evening stars are Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces.

American Revolutionary War hero William Prescott was born Feb. 20, 1726.

On this day in history:

- In 1809, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the power of the federal government was no greater than that of any individual state of the Union.
- In 1872, the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City was opened to the public for the first time.
- In 1938, Anthony Eden resigned as British foreign secretary to protest the "appeasement" policy of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain toward Nazi Germany.
- In 1962 American astronaut John Glenn landed safely after three orbits of the earth in a spacecraft.

Supports fire law enforcement

In response to your editorial, "Let's Prevent Fire Tragedies" of Monday, Feb. 9, I say "right on." The fire inspectors of Illinois have been screaming for years to be able to enforce the Life Safety Code already in existence and attending to things such as sprinkling nursing homes, but it goes much further than that — it covers hospitals, schools, churches, condominiums and all other buildings on all life safety hazards such as sufficient exits, (also a problem — learned in the Coconut Grove fire in Boston in 1942) sprinklers and distance of travel to an exit.

Fire is and has been an acute problem in this country since its beginning. While cities have burned and hundreds have perished and each time cries go out for laws to be passed. Laws or codes have been passed and are on the books in many communities and as inspectors try to enforce them, they get hung up in the court systems or as in some communities — not adopted for enforcement.

More laws could be passed, but the jurisdiction to enforce what we already have must also be given for fire safety to become a reality.

Training has been done in many communities, but public apathy towards their own safety is phenomenal. A total of 1,600 homes a day are destroyed in this country. Where is the concern for the big killer, private home fires?

Let's put into effect what we have on the books, uniformly across the state and nation, in nursing homes and schools, churches, hospitals, hotels, apartments and places of assembly.

Local communities, especially the Northwest suburbs, have adopted codes and ordinances and have implemented them years ago in an effort to eliminate these tragedies.

Why do we have to wait for the catastrophe principle to come into effect before we start sounding an alarm. If you really want to help, approach your local fire prevention bureau and join with them in destroying the title, "America, Number One Leader in Fire Destruction."

He's a backer of Bicentennial parade

We as citizens of Arlington Heights need to pause and review what our part is in a municipality that has changed from a farming community to part of a large urban complex in less than a quarter century. There are a large number of us that will spend only a short number of years here and then move on to another community in our great nation. It is to each of you that this little epistle is directed and dedicated with forethought for community, state and nation.

This is a very special period of history for each of us and looking at an overview of our nations, part should make every individual proud to be a citizen of our wonderful United States. Certainly there will always be a number of individuals that we vote into a position that taint their office, however it must also always be remembered that control of our officials is by those that are active from the grass roots locally to the highest level of political activity, in short the citizen.

It must also always be remembered that our freedoms will only remain valid as long as we vote, express our views and participate in political activity of our choice to the best of each individual's ability. The activity of each individual from a grassroots level through the Presidency of our United States of America requires singular individual self-sacrifice to pursue our liberties for benefit of our nation of peoples as a whole. "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness." We are all aware of this sentence in this nation's Declaration of Independence in the Congress of July 4, 1776 and it is in these truths that each of us should take stock and celebrate the 200 years of our great nation, these United States of America.

Your community of Arlington Heights has planned "Festival-76" that commences on June 30 and will continue through July 5. There will be a need for participation by each of you during this period; some will be personally called upon and those who are not called upon are requested to offer their time. Many community organizations are dedicating their groups to make this an event of celebration by participation of all of their members. It is necessary that all of us recognize this period to give thanks and show that we are as interested in these self-evident truths as the pilgrims that preceded our forefathers. Let our community be known as a citizenry that will answer the call in a country that has the best form of government in the entire world and that you are interested in the freedoms for which it stands.

The highlight of our Bicentennial celebration is a very special parade on July 3. This has been delegated by your Arlington Heights Bicentennial Commission to the local American Legion Merle Guild Post No. 208 as their responsibility. LeRoy Leister, Post No. 208 commander, is a man who has the fever of our "self-evident truths" with a great zeal for community, state and nation. His fever is spreading rapidly through Merle Guild membership and making one extra proud to be a member of the American Legion.

It is indeed of such great importance that we celebrate these "Self-Evident Truths" endowed by the Creator and do so in unison as a community (notwithstanding of the nation's participation in other areas) to show the world that we are all for community, state and nation.

Let it be known that I as a citizen of the municipality of Arlington Heights, Illinois do hereby pledge my time and efforts, as may be practical, to the celebration of our nation's "Self-Evident Truths" within my community to emphasize to the world that these past 200 years following the Declaration of Independence have been a good common bond for community, state and nation and to show that I am proud to be a citizen of these United States of America.

Unsafe processions

I wonder how many people feel safe while driving along with a funeral; when other cars on the street keep cutting in and out of the funeral line. The cars cutting in can't see the window sticker on the front of the funeral cars; and many cars on the street keep their lights on these days.

One funeral home didn't use any stickers and didn't take any precautions with the traffic when the cars came out of their parking lot, therfore, we, and several other cars, were left behind, not knowing the way to the church. Then, one day we attended a funeral in Wheeling, at the Kolssak Funeral Home, and we were very impressed at the courtesy given to all the people and the safety precaution, by putting funeral window stickers on the front and back of all cars. Why can't all funeral homes do this for safety?

Hits fund cut

Recently the Palatine Village Board voted $2,000 to designate 40 buildings in Palatine as historic landmarks. This being the Bicentennial year, I was glad that they took an interest in preserving some of Palatine's past history. Now I learn that the Palatine Village Board is cutting off funds to the senior citizen's council. This is outrageous. Although I still believe the board should take an active role in preserving Palatine's history, don't the senior citizens of Palatine represent a more important part of our past and our future!

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 20 — Gen. Washington became almost decided that his next best move was to seize Dorchester Heights and place cannon there to dominate the British positions in Boston. He also urged regimental commanders to teach their soldiers to march and maneuver for the campaigning ahead.

Questions victory salute

With sirens screaming, lights flashing and speakers chattering, our "city" ambulance rode through the night proclaiming incorporation victory for Prospect Heights.

Somehow, such action did not seem quite proper or appropriate for the occasion.

It is our opinion that this very costly ambulance should be employed as an emergency vehicle only.

This was no emergency. The news media was most prompt in reporting the referendum results.

We certainly hope that this episode is not indicative of the behavior that our soon-to-be-elected officials will exhibit as the governing body of our new city.

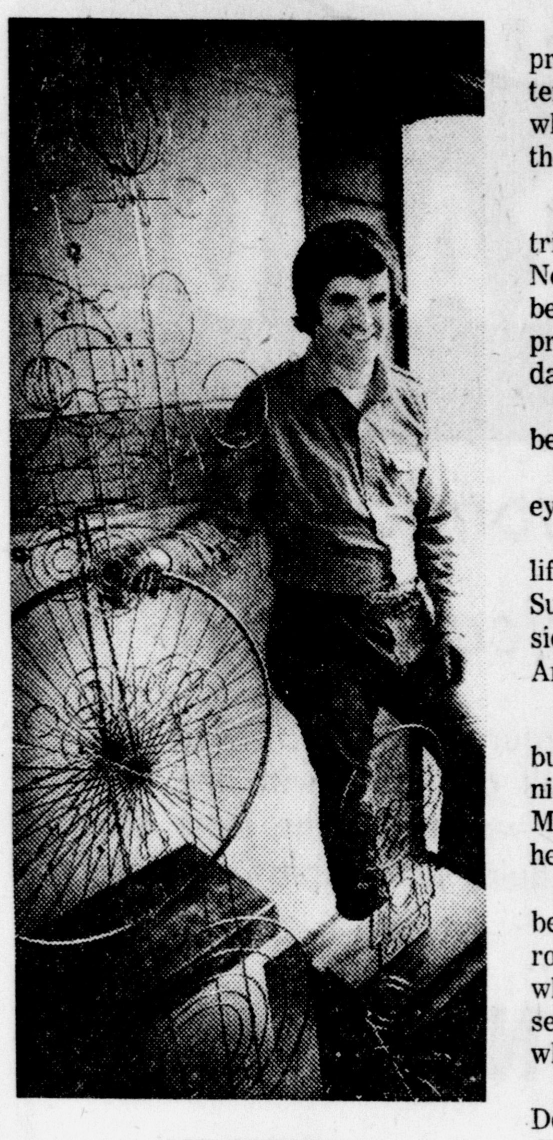
"What event is this?"

Joe Burlini doesn't work, he just has fun



JOE BURLINI

Mike Klein's people

Hundreds of years ago, artists were presumed to eke out meager existences from crumbling workshops while loved ones struggled along in the family hovel.

Now, we've decided they are eccentric creatures who reside on Chicago's Near North Side and grow wild beards. They also romp around preaching idealism, beauty and other dangerous concepts.

This means that Joe Burlini must be lost.

Why, he's not even the least bit wild-eyed!

And Joe gives every indication that life is quite comfortable for his wife, Sue, and their three children who reside just a few blocks from his north Arlington Heights studio.

THAT'S WHERE Joe Burlini is busy carving himself a tremendous niche among metal working sculptors. Much of his material is abstract, yet he would convey simplistic ideas.

Joe is found bent over a work bench, soldering spokes to a piece of round tubular steel. This will be a wheel, his continuing passion. It seems that everything comes up wheels.

The first-time visitor is taken back. Do you initially wonder about the ridiculous looking "Flying Go Nowhere Machines" or his whimsical "Butterfly People?"

Burlini shows the "Flying Go Nowhere Machines" in evidence that his metal sculpture was designed for fun. He says it's like making toys everyday.

Wings flap, but four wheels go no place.

"It all appears very impressive, very busy, but it doesn't get anywhere," Joe said. "That's very symbolic of my things. They're just for fun."

"Butterfly People" are men and women who have not arms, but wings. They are among his recent creations.

"Think how wonderful it would be to fly. So I've made people who can do that," Joe said. But he has placed them inside little boxes and the "Butterfly People" cannot fly very far.

AN HOUR HAS passed before you even notice the huge gumball dispenser, perhaps 6 feet tall, which Burlini fashioned from tubular steel. It does not, of course, actually dispense gumballs.

Eventually, you come to see the hurdy-gurdy which Burlini purchased because he enjoys novelties. You are shown the vintage 1940s era Walt Disney windup toy train which Sue Burlini gave her husband last Christmas.

Potloads of plants which Joe's father, Alfred, has let him keep during the winter months are nearing death.

And you are taken back by the strangest washroom you've ever seen. Its walls and ceiling are covered with paper depicting circus people.

Joe soon tells you that not many people are happy. That's why he is intrigued with those circus people. Joe figures they are bored.

"Actually, I don't even like the circus. I just like its fantasy. Circus people don't seem to enjoy what they're doing but they don't have a choice," he said.

"You have to look beneath their costumes to see that. I suppose my son (6-year-old Christopher) would disagree with me on that. He thinks it's great."

BURLINI IS 38. Ten years ago, he escaped the security of designing toys for a major retail store chain. The job paid well, but he couldn't stand it.

Joe had become desperate.

"A lot of people have the same feeling, I'm sure, but they're unable to make it," he said.

His new career started with fashioning metal birds, fish and other creatures which are sold in funiture stores. Then his luck improved. Joe began lecturing on metal sculpture at the Illinois Institute of Technology . . . which once refused him admittance.

One success led to another and pretty soon Joe Burlini, the kid who hadn't been anything too great at St. George High School in Evanston, had earned his own shows in Chicago art galleries.

The Art Institute of Chicago accepted Burlini's "Circus Show" for a special showing. Clients developed. Corporations, shopping centers and special interest groups all commissioned Burlini for spcial projects.

Private buyers have included Studs Terkel, Rod McKuen, Ray Kroc, Wiliam Shatner and more. But Joe points out softy, "They're really not any more important than anybody else . . . right."

BURLINI DESIGNED a mechanical chicken which was presented to Colonel Sanders.

"The wings flap, the head moves, the tail moves and it lays the golden egg!" Burlini joked.

Suddenly, he had become successful. There was a market for people with wings and for going nowhere machines, for wire men on unicycles and for circus designs.

Always, Burlini incorporates the wheel. That's his main theme. It follows him everyplace.

"Man In A Box" suggested the impersonality of mankind plus our dependence upon the wheel and all its accompanying frustrations.

None of these men have faces.

"They have shields," Joe said. "That's because we don't care about each other anymore. When you look in the shield, you only see yourself."

But the series finally overcame Burlini. He became engrossed in depression.

"I had to end it by crucifying the last man," Joe said. "Actually, I'm probably very depressed and I'm fighting it by working the other way."

BURLINI WANDERS. You do not interview him. You just listen to his stories. They all come out, such as the "Spider Machine" which the art galleries don't want because, "It rolls around and bangs up their walls."

You remember something which Joe said very early, just after you had entered his shop. He alluded to an idea expressed by Henry David Thoreau who said, "The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation."

Now, that seems very appropriate.

"Oh, yeah, I'm eccentric," Joe agreed. "How many people can go play with toys all day and say they're not eccentric?

"How many people can really say they love to come to work? That's the thing," Joe said. "I don't work."

Congressional wrapup

Mikva, Crane at odds on gas price controls

From the Roll Call Report

U.S. HOUSE: Here is how members of the Illinois delegation in the U.S. House voted on issues recently.

NATURAL GAS: The House voted, 230-184, on a move to break a parliamentary logjam over the debate on deregulation of natural gas prices.

Supporters of the effort, who generally favor deregulation, favored calling the bill to the House floor and circumventing the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which could slow down action.

Opponents of the move, who supported continued regulation, charged the effort was an outrageous abuse of power by the House Rules committee and created a bad precedent for other committee action.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, Anderson, O'Brien, Michel, Findley, Madigan and Shipley.

NO: Mikva, Russo, Fary, Collins, Yates, Annunzio, Hall, Price and Simon.

Metcalfe, Murphy, Rostenkowski and Railsback did not vote.

CIA REPORT: The House voted, 246-124, to bar publication of the highly controversial report on CIA activities.

Supporter of the move to block publication said the White House agreed to furnish certain classified information with the assurance President Gerald R. Ford could rule out disclosure of the information. Ford did not want the report, which was printed in great detail in the New York weekly, The Village Voice.

Opponents said the executive branch of government frequently had used the security classification system to suppress embarrassing information.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Fary, Hyde, Rostenkowski, McClory, Erlenborn, Hall, Anderson, O'Brien, Michel, Railsback and Findley.

NO: Mikva, Murphy, Collins, Yates, Annunzio, Shipley, Price and Simon.

Metcalfe and Madigan did not vote.

JOBS: The House passed, 321-80, a bill aimed at cutting unemployment. The legislation, which carries a $6.1 billion price tag, is designed to create 600,000 jobs. President Ford already has voted the measure and the House is scheduled to attempt to override the veto soon.

Supporters said that with the billions the government is spending on unemployment compensation, it made no sense not to spend money on new jobs.

Opponents called the bill a new version of the election year political pork barrel. President Ford charged the legislation would create only about 125,000 jobs.

The measure received bipartisan support from the Illinois delegation.

YES: Mikva, Murphy, Russo, Derwinski, Fary, Hyde, Collins, Rostenkowski, Yates, Annunzio, McClory, Hall, Anderson O'Brien, Rilsback, Shipley, Price and Simon.

NO: Crane, Erlenborn, Michel and Findley.

Metcalfe and Madigan did not vote.

SCHOOL MONEY: The house rejected, 134-267, an amendment to cut $97.3 million from the fiscal 1976 appropriation for impacted school aid. The aid is designed to help school districts that must spend additional funds educating children because of a federal activity.

Amendment supporters said the cut would prevent the beginning of a new type of impacted aid for schools that educate students who reside in federally assisted housing facilities.

Opponents said the budget cuts would hurt school districts that educate children who reside in military facilities.

YES: Crane, Derwinski, Hyde, McClory, Erlenborn, O'Brien, Michel, Railsback, Findley and Madigan.

NO: Mikva, Metcalfe, Murphy, Russo, Fary, Collins, Rostenkowski, Yates, Annunzio, Hall, Shipley, Price and Simon.

Anderson did not vote.

SENATE: Here is how U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., voted on issues recently.

DAY CARE: The Senate rejected 37-54, an amendment to eliminate government requirements on staff quality at day care centers receiving federal aid.

Supporters of the amendment said government standards are difficult to administer and arbitrary. Opponents said the requirements were justified for child safety at the centers.

Percy and Stevenson both voted no.

MILK SUPPORTS: The Senate failed, 37-51, to override Ford's veto of a bill raising milk price supports to 85 per cent of parity and required quarterly adjustments of the supports.

The vote sustaining the veto means the present 80 per cent parity level will be retained. Parity, the price support level, is used by the government to give farmers increased buying power.

Supporters of the measure charged the current support level gave the farmer less than the minimum wage for his work.

Opponents agreed with Ford's view that the measure would have increased government spending, boosted consumer prices and encouraged overproduction.

Percy and Stevenson voted no.

C&NW reports 1975 net loss

The Chicago and North Western Transportation Co. has reported a net loss of $8,301,000 for 1975.

The results compare to net income of $14.4 million or $3.24 a share in 1974. Full operating revenues for the year totaled $458,990,000 compared to $484,901,000 the previous year.

The railway's net income for the fourth quarter of the year was $5,252,000 or $1.18 a share. For the same quarter in 1974, net income was $2,656,000 or 60 cents a share.

Fourth quarter operating revenues totaled $123,939,000 in 1975 compared to $123,347,000 the same period a year earlier.

Larry S. Provo, Chicago and North Western Ry. president, said fourth quarter results reflect "a vigorous and successful cost-cutting effort throughout our system and improved freight traffic volume compared to depressed levels earlier in the year."

Provo said January 1976 results include a $600,000 loss compared to a $4.4 million loss in January 1975. "We expect to be profitable in the first quarter, traditionally the weakest of the year," he said. The company had a net loss of $8,541,000 the first quarter of 1975.

Walker opens TV campaign blitz

Gov. Daniel Walker's television campaign got under way this week in Chicago and a full-scale media campaign is forecast for all of the other Walker-backed candidates in the near future.

David Garth and Associates, a New York-based advertising firm, has prepared television commercials for Walker and Joanne Alter, a candidate for Lieutenant governor; Ronald Stackler, who is running for attorney general; State Sen. Vince Demuzio, D-Carlinville, a candidate for secretary of state; and Roland Burris, a candidate for comptroller.

The media campaign also will be used for Donald Page Moore, who is running for Cook County State's Attorney, and Leonard Nowakowski, a candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Walker's media budget has not been revealed, but several other candidates have said they plan to spend at least $100,000 in television time.

Demuzio and Alter have said the bulk of their campaign costs will come from media costs.

Mrs. Alter also plans to devote advertising funds to radio commercials. Her aides suggest more women's votes might be gained because women devote more time listening to the radio.

Nowakowski, who has received the backing of the Polish-American Congress in Chicago, plans to concentrate his media attention on WCIU, Channel 26, which broadcasts a number of Polish-language programs and has wide appeal in the Polish community.

Nowakowski said he also has made a television commercial supporting Walker's campaign.

Moore revealed the production costs of his media campaign alone were $15,000.

A number of the candidates opposing the Walker-backed ticket said they do not plan an television advertising before the March 16 primary.

Political briefs

IVI endorses Terry Ayers

Terry Ayers, a Republican candidate for the Illinois Senate from the 2nd Legislative District, has obtained the endorsement of the Independent Voters of Illinois.

Ayers is running against State Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, in the primary.

Ayers cited his stand on several consumer issues as a key reason for the IVI endorsement.

He also announced he has received the endorsement of State Rep. Giddy Dyer, R-Hinsdale, in the campaign.

Ayers said he will have a fund-raising brunch on Sunday at the Indian Lakes Country Club, and Dyer will be a featured speaker. Tickets for the event can be obtained by calling 893-0230.

Reagan to stump Downstate

Supporters of Republican presidential challenger Ronald Reagan announced the candidate will make a three-day Downstate campaign "blitz" next week.

Included in Reagan travel plan is a visit to his home town, Tampico. Stops on the trip include Quincy, Peoria, Sterling, Dixon, Rockford and Mattoon. Reagan worked his way through several suburban Cook County appearances last week.

The Reagan group also announced the candidate's nephew Barton Hegler of Danville, will serve as the chairman of Illinois Youth for Reagan.

Howlett volunteers sought

The Elk Grove Township Citizens for Michael Howlett is seeking volunteers to work in Howlett's campaign for governor. Former Township Democratic Committeeman Chet Chesney is heading the effort. Persons interested in working on the campaign can call 392-4373 for details.

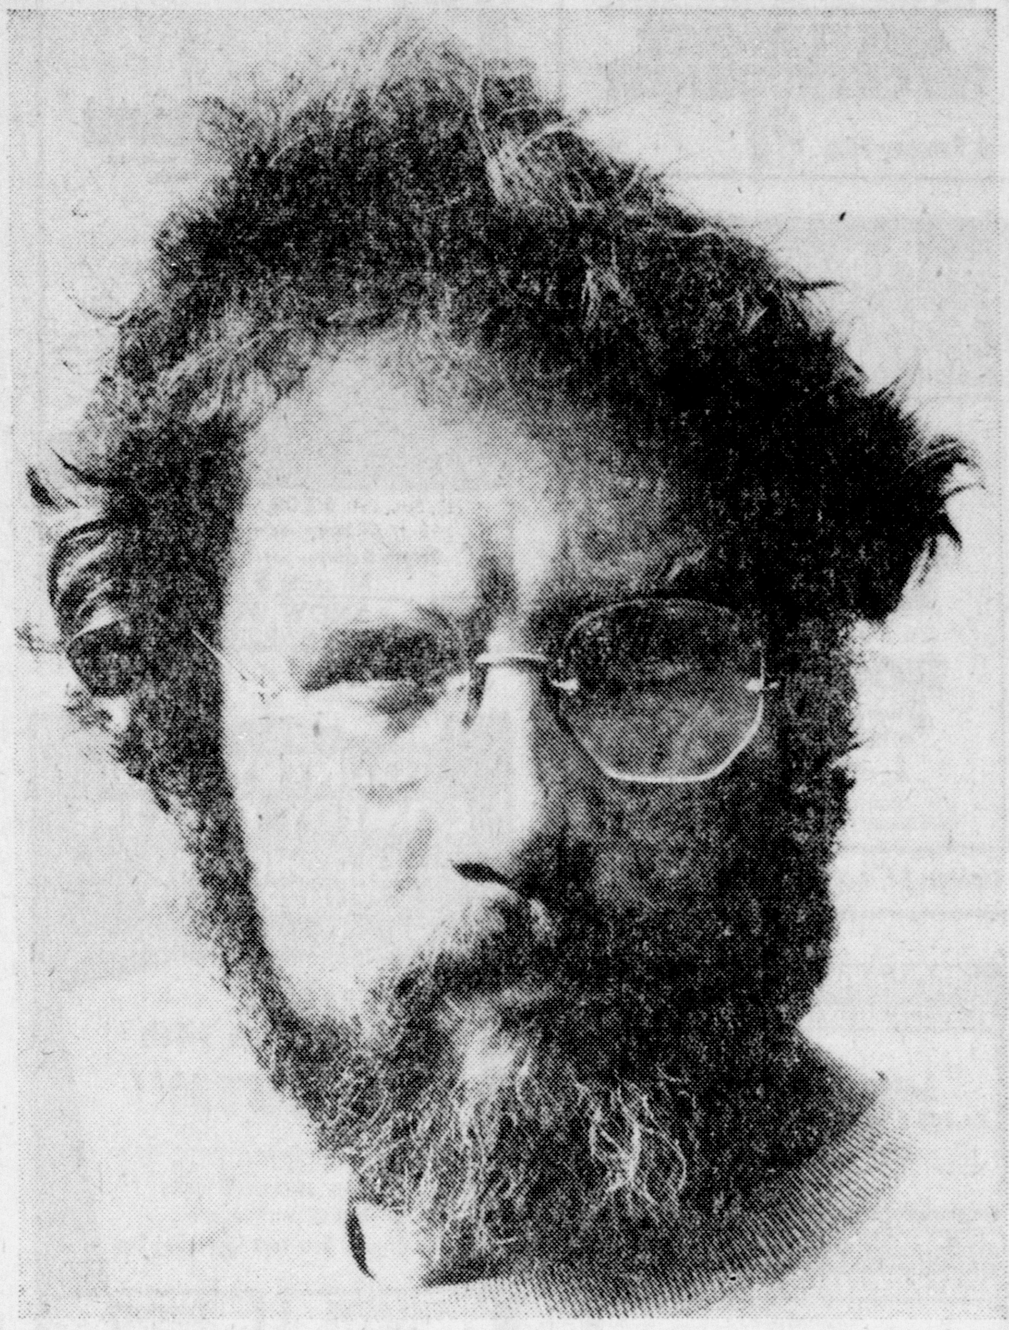
RICHARD DREYFUSS is currently in Chicago to star in August Strindberg's "Miss Julie." The play, opening tonight at Arlington Park Theatre, also features British actress Carolyn Seymour. Peter Medak is directing the dramatic one-act.

Not interested in feigning Mr. Nice Guy



by GENIE CAMPBELL

Richard Dreyfuss is noted for coming on like gangbusters, volatile, opinionated, very much his own person.

But that does not make him immune to human frailties, and Tuesday morning Dreyfuss was feeling the warning signals of the Chicago bug, loss of vigor and pep, the beginning discomfort of a scratchy throat.

It wasn't about to stop him. It did temporarily quiet him down. Not like Richard Dreyfuss at all. But then, how can one predict how the unpredictable will react?

The self-willed, exuberant Dreyfuss may intimidate the less hearty and more refined. Still, in comparison to actors who hand out pat answers to boost their own PR or crawl inside themselves and hibernate, Dreyfuss is a refreshing change, even when he isn't feeling well.

If he doesn't want to eat hot peppers on the Dinah Shore show, bully for him. On talk shows he specifically asks not to participate in "silly games." But he's not so perfunctory that he doesn't care how it looks to the viewing audience when the rest of the panel leaves him behind.

Yet, over-all, he is basking in his own overnight success.

"I'M AN egomaniac. I love being talked about and talking about myself. And that usually overrules any boredom factor. But I'll admit if someone asks one more time how I got started in the business, I'm going to stick a fork to their face."

Dreyfuss doesn't mince words. He is his own best friend and also his biggest critic. That comes of being "honest," he said.

He's confident, even cocky, but readily admits to imperfection, certainly within his own craft.

"Sure, it sounds contradictory, but contradiction is a way of life. If that's wrong, I don't know I'm being wrong."

Dreyfuss compares it with waking up one morning feeling on top of the world, and the next — "mean, misery and a son of a bitch. It's all in the way you look at it."

The 28-year-old actor opens tonight at Arlington Park Theatre in August Strindberg's classic "Miss Julie," a play he chose because it is "erotic and thought-provoking. It's about a class differential, people who are unable to see beyond their station in life."

AND IT'S A good role, Dreyfuss continues, "one in which I'll get a good workout in areas in which I need improvement." It's a reason for returning to live stage when more financially lucrative movie offers continue to besiege him, ever since "Jaws" mania made him a hot box-office attraction.

"No one could have predicted it. No way at all," said Dreyfuss about the record-breaking success of "Jaws." It is the largest grossing film in movie history.

And though marine biologist Jacques Cousteau voices concern that sharks are receiving unfavorable, unfounded publicity, Dreyfuss feels otherwise.

"The public reaction is the proper one," he said. "People have the right to know about the danger of shark attacks. Until now it's been covered up. They've been lied to," he continued, rattling off an impressive list of statistics concerning shark attacks and disappearance of swimmers.

"I won't go swimming anymore."

"But you can get hit by a truck walking across the street, too," I interjected.

"Yes, but I wouldn't walk across the street blindfolded, either," he answered. "I won't go swimming but I do scuba dive." Though asked to star in "Jaws II," he turned down the offer.

More recently Dreyfuss has been busy promoting his new movie, "Inserts," which opens next week in Chicago. It's turned into the actor's most controversial talk-show topic.

"THE RATING X in general is unconstitutional," he genuinely believes. "And 'Inserts' should never have been labled X in the first place."

Both United Artists, who released the film, and Dreyfuss hope enough noise is made to prompt people to see the movie in spite of the rating. They just won't have as many theaters from which to choose, only 1,500 compared to the usual 8,000 nationwide. And all because of the one-letter rating.

Yes, Dreyfuss' talk-show appearances and discussions are not solely publicity stunts. If so, he'd play up his own performance. Instead, he considers his role of Hooper in "Jaws" his best work to date.

"The demands were not as great, but I feel I accomplished more," he said.

In April Dreyfuss begins filming a new movie which he has made a personal pledge not to discuss.

"It's a closed set. We had a closed set for 'Jaws' too because of the shark filming. But this closed set makes the 'Jaws' set look like a sieve."

And there's no way of even guessing his new role, not when he's played everything from a straight high school kid in "American Graffiti" to a young down-and-out film director forced to try for a comeback in skin flicks, which he portrays in "Inserts."

DREYFUSS, though reinforced with scrambled eggs and sausage, was slowly running out of stem.

Does he ever lack energy?

"No, but I'm extremely relaxed now so I know there's something wrong."

He talked a few minutes more about his future plans, "Hamlet" that he some day wants to do, "Julius Caesar" that he is doing next winter, and the satisfaction of being able to pick and choose his own material.

"That's what stardom is all about," he said. "Everything else is just the accouterments."

"But there isn't much to choose from," he continued. "Most everything coming out is bad. It's only the rare thing that is good. But that's always the way it's been. Maybe now it's even gotten a little worse. Fewer films are being made.

"There should be no such thing as commercial theater," he continued. "Ballet and symphony orchestras don't have to pay for themselves. Why should live theater?"

And Dreyfuss, while in Chicago, is willing to talk about that or any subject in front of high school and college classes. Why?

"Because I just like talking with kids. They can ask the questions, I'll answer — about theater, wisdom or anything. I don't know — do they teach wisdom in school?"

And with that Dreyfuss excused himself to return to his room and fortify himself with vitamin C. After all, how can a few sniffles ever compare to a "great white?"

RICHARD DREYFUSS plays a broken-down Hollywood "boy wonder" of the early 1930s who has turned to grinding out pornographic movies in his living room in his newest movie, "Inserts," scheduled to open this week in Chicago. Veronica Cartwright plays a Hollywood bit player reduced by her drug habit to working in sex movies.

Borrow artwork for your walls at the library

It's depressing to have good taste and not be able to afford it, four blank walls and nothing to hang, an interest in art but too budget conscious to collect it.

So instead you resign yourself to sterile living quarters and art gallery tours, hoping one day the Illinois Lottery selects you. Wrong. You visit your local library.

Pick out a Degas or a Rembrandt, admire it for a month, return it and pick out another Old Master. It won't cost a thing if you're a card-carrying member in good standing at the library.

The paintings are only reproductions but that's good enough. Who these days can afford even a scribble by Monet or Chagall?

Art for the asking is a service offered by local libraries. Many persons made aware of it have become regular patrons of the arts. Some pieces are so popular they must be reserved months in advance.

ALL OF RENOIR is always in demand and "Sunlight and Surf," a seascape by Charles Vickery, appeals to a wide audience in Arlington Heights. It's continually on request at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

Prints, reproduced on heavy cardboard, are framed (not glassed), bagged and ready to be carried home and hung. On loan for two months at a time (other libraries only allow one), the print may be borrowed free except if not returned on time. Then there is a late fee charged, same as a book.

Arlington Heights Memorial Library offers a selection of some 160 prints from extreme contemporary abstracts to the photo realism of Andrew Wyeth to celebrated examples of 18th century post impressionism.

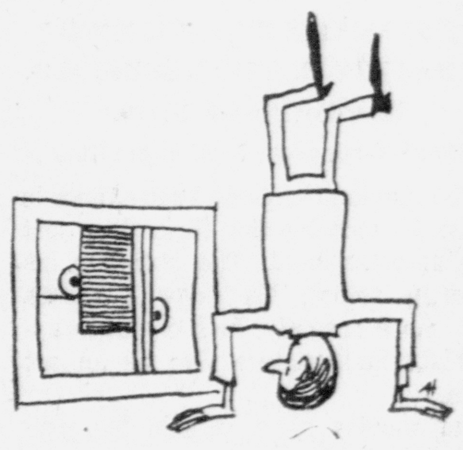
Reasons for borrowing art from local libraries is not always monetary. Many enjoy changing the mood of a room. Others find it educational. Biographical notes about the painting and artist are included on the back side of each print. Many people are interested in one day purchasing a permanent piece but can't make up their mind. They borrow to determine what type of art work they might eventually like to buy.

SOMETIMES PEOPLE borrow for a special occasion, a party or time of year. Now when winter is beginning to wear on even the most cold-blooded, cold-weather enthusiasts, "fields of daisies" landscapes are in short supply. Prints of "Madonna and Child" do well at Christmastime as do snow scenes.

The service is used quite heavily at Palatine Library where 125 prints in varying sizes and frames are checked out, one to a family per month.

Twenty-five of Schaumburg's collection are regularly traded among other members of the North Suburban Library Association so a new supply is continually featured. If you don't see something you like on a first visit, check back the following week.

Elk Grove Library, in addition to its regular collection of 145 reproductions, lends several original paintings done by students at Elk Grove High School. Table sculpture, both bronze and terra cotta, may also be checked out.



For just a small amount of money, original work matted and framed with glass may be rented from Countryside Art Center in Arlington Heights. Paintings worth up to $99 may be borrowed for two months for $5. Those valued from $100 to $199 cost $10. The fee goes up accordingly, per $100 value.

MOST PEOPLE who rent art work from Countryside are merely auditioning a piece and eventually do plan to invest. The rental fee then goes toward its purchase.

In general, library connoisseurs of art are a responsible, respectable lot. They take good care of each print and return it on time.

One Elk Grove woman did, by accident, back over a print with her car. She was on her way to return it. But the librarians were most understanding and sympathetic.

"She was more upset than we were, positively grief-stricken. It was her favorite one of all."

New 10cc album scores as humorous, inventive

Playback

by Tom Von Malder

The new 10CC album "How Dare You" (Mercury records), while not quite as brilliant as last year's "The Original Soundtrack" album, will probably rank as one of this year's most inventive.

Originality, humor and the unexpected are the keys to 10CC, a band that can play loud rock or the sweetest music one could want. The dense, lush sound of "Lazy Ways" is a good example of the yweet, althoug not as unforgettable as the earlier "I'm Not In Love."

A highlight of the new album is the instrumental title track which uses a variety of familiar and not so familiar instruments to recreate an Indian musical trip.

"I Wanna Rule the World" is the most extreme sample of the quartet's humor, although a close look at the lyrics of almost every song reveals a similar loony outlook.

Each song in the album is likable and becomes more so with each listening.

OTHER NEW releases, briefly:

"Y'Know Wot I Mean" by Speedy Keen (Island). Former Thunderclap Newman member ("Something In the Air") comes up with a solid, second solo album. Whether fun rock, with a '50s accent, or soft ballads, which dominate the second side, Keen is entertaining throughout and backed by some of Britain's best musicians. "Bad Boys," "Crazy Love," "I Promise You" and "My Love" are highlights.

"Frampton Comes Alive" by Peter Frampton (A&M). Former Humble Pie guitarist's fifth solo album is a double live set with only one song, "Shine On," not from his other four albums. Still, if the material is not new, the performance is as good or better in almost every instance. He is an exciting performer, whether on ballads like "Show Me the Way," and "Baby, I Love Your Way" or rockers like "Money" and "Jumping Jack Flash."

"A NIGHT AT THE Opera" by Queen (Elektra). Like 10CC, Queen enjoys changing the pace in mid-song. Queen, in addition, has the high, soaring harmonies that have made each of the three preceding albums as distinctive as this one. A new twist is a trio of songs with a Twenties flavor — "Seaside Rendezvous," "Good Company" and "Lazing On a Sunday Afternoon." The group's humor is found in songs like "I'm In Love With My Car." "The Prophet's Song" has an interesting a capella section.

"Live Mutha" by Black Oak Arkansas (Atco). A technically raw but powerful album from this "no holds barred" Southern group. First two songs, including hit "Jim Dandy," are disappointing but the pace accelerates from there. Four songs are repeats from "Ain't Life Grand," the group's last studio album before switching to MCA.

"Born To Die" by Grand Funk Railroad (Capitol). Typical GFR effort with loud, pounding beat and nothing new musically. There's even questionable pitch to the group's singing on "I Fell For Your Love." This effort is only for the group's fans, who probably have worn out their copies by now.

Soundings:

JOHN TRAVOLTA, of "Welcome Back, Kotter," has signed a record contract with Midland International. No album plans have been released for the former star of Broadway's "Grease."

DAVE BRUBECK begins a 22-performance tour with the former members of his quartet, who last performed as a group in 1967. The tour will mainly be on the East Coast.

NORTHWESTERN University will offer a spring quarter mini-course on rock'n'roll. Lectures will be on discos as well as other aspects of the business in the non-credit course.

ANSON WILLIAMS, of "Happy Days," will be the opening act for several Tanya Tucker concerts. He has sung on the show.

Albums in the works: "Greatest Hits" by EAGLES; "Chester and Lester," first collaboration by guitarists CHET ATKINS and LES PAUL; an EDGAR WINTER produced by Philly's Gamble-Huff; second IAN HUNTER solo effort; new ALLMAN BROTHERS and GREGG ALLMAN solo; "Sweet Harmony" by MARIA MULDAUR: and "Take No Prisoners" by DAVID BYRON, Uriah Heep lead vocalist.

In the area: PETER FRAMPTON Sunday at the Aragon, Chicago; QUEEN Sunday and Monday at the Auditorium, Chicago; 10CC on television's "Don Kirshner's Rock Concert tonight.

Psychiatrist explains how movies can play on the mind

The book stall

"THE MOVIES ON YOUR MIND"
by HARVEY M. GREENBERG, M.D.
Saturday Review Press,
$10.95 hardcover; $4.95 paperback

The movie aficionado knows there is more to viewing the flick than just idle entertainment. The buff has his favorite actors, his favorite scenes and, more recently, he's begun to appreciate and analyze film as an art form.

But movies as a vehicle for psycholanalysis?

Well, there's a lot more there than meets the eye, says Dr. Harvey R. Greenberg, psychiatrist, psycholanalyst and author of "The Movies On Your Mind."

An admitted movie maniac himself, weaned on an era of Frankensteins, Tarzans, Hoot Gibsons and Joan Crawfords, Greenberg says the cinema reaches deeply into the human psyche, a lot more than most folks realize.

SAYS GREENBERG: "We willingly surrender control over our lives, sometimes light years away to remote times and fabulous regions . . . we let the movie take up where we left off. They seem to think like we do and, therefore, it is amazingly easy to let them live for us."

And in a lively, laconic, but not overly complicated writing style, Greenberg, every bit the Freudian psychologist, plays it for all it's worth.

He commonly uses the cinema as a Rorhschach (personality) test, saying his queries about patients' favorite films invariably reveal one or more aspects of the individual's psychic "geography."

An individual's neurotic conflicts very often show themselves charging with the light brigade, smashing the opposition with John Wayne or, even in some cases, the porno movie houses.

BUT THAT'S ONLY part of it. Greenberg dissects or at least touches upon some 100 films, "The Wizard of Oz," "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," "Maltese Falcon," and "Psycho" among them, and tells how they can be applied to the patient on the couch.

For example, Dorothy's odyssey in "Wizard of Oz" exemplifies the delicate transition from childhood to adult responsibility.

The ornado-induced sojourn weakens her childhood ties to much-missed "Auntie Em" as she turns her affections in adolescent fashion to the lion, tinman and scarecrow, a range of people outside her home.

FRED C. DOBBS, protagonist of "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," suffers from a "success neurosis" of fear of failing. Indeed, in the 1948 classic, Bogart is driven to extreme lengths to ensure that he and he alone will reap the fruits of a gold prospecting expedition.

He sees the violent Alfred Hitchcock chiller, "Psycho," as a montage of obsessional hangups among its characters, even the victim of the bloody shower murder scene played by Janet Leigh.

And Hitchcock, its creator, is not immune to the specimen rack in this one as Greenberg discusses the filmmaker's inner vision for portraying the potential corruptibility of man despite Hitchcock's own orderly private existence.

Are Frankenstein movies your thing? If so, Greenberg says you may be the parallel of his conception of the monster, a typically battered child who lashes out at his "laboratory parents."

Unless you're into psychology and/or believe in Freud, Greenberg's book probably will not greatly heighten your enjoyment of film, but he does give it a new and interesting twist.

AND IF YOU ARE a buff in wonderment about what psychological conflicts and desires keep your eyes glued to the screen, Greenberg probably has the diagnosis.

Two top performers share stage for Mill Run opener

by JOE SWICKARD
(A review)

Mill Run Theater in Niles has elected to open its seventh consecutive season with class: Dionne Warwick and Isaac Hayes.

When the highest cheekbones and the deepest voice in show business perform together the result is nothing but fine.

Dionne asked the question that was on everyone's mind: "What in the world are Dionne Warwick and Isaac Hayes going to do together?" The answer is: provide great music.

Hayes' deep, breathy bedroom voice offsets Miss Warwick's clear strength, control and phrasing work. The two work so well together they are even able to bring off a moving version of "Indian Love Call."

HAYES HAS forsaken the smoke and chains he affected during his "Black Moses" period following the phenomenal success of "Shaft." Instead he concentrates on his music rather than theatrics to carry the show.

And Miss Warwick continues to sing with a touching style and grace that is only improved by seeing her in person.

They perform on a virtually empty stage set only with two stools. Yet the rapport and intimacy they are able to develop during the two-hour program warms the entire audience. The respect for each other is evident; there is no mugging or upstaging, but rather a quiet attentiveness directed from one to the other.

HAYES AND MISS Warwick work smoothly through familiar ballads, sometimes combining them with interwoven verse and chorus, a method which comes across well on "I Don't Know What to Do/Walk On By," and "I Say a Little Prayer/By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

Naturally, Hayes' "Shaft" has to be done. But it's done quickly. Then back to the ballads. They also take time for a disco number, "Get Down Tonight." The uptempo is the proper boost for the audience.

Hayes and Miss Warwick perform as equals. Both brought their own band, vocal backup chorus and conductor. The accompanists work as well together as do the headliners.

Dionne Warwick

The two will be featured in tandem
It's an evening of affection and talforming two shows daily.

It's an evening of kffection and talent. Mill Run Theatre is located in the Golf Mill Shopping Center at Golf Road and Milwaukee Ave., Niles.

Ice show a kids' treat

The annual Ice Capades has two companies in the middle of tours which are taking them to nearly every state in the U.S. between now and May. They open Thursday at the Chicago Stadium for 16 performances. Walter Logan caught the show last month in New York.

by WALTER LOGAN

Ice Capades is back and the costumes and settings appear to be more glittering than ever before. There is great skating, of course, but this show is a treat for kiddies, not for adults, unless they are true Ice Capades buffs who go back year after year.

Children were absolutely goggle-eyed and squealed with delight at a production number called "Happy Birthday Yogi Bear." Yogi sat on a throne as his friends from the world of television cartoons skated before him: The Flintstones, Scooby Doo, Huckleberry Hound and the others.

THE HIGHLIGHTS of this one came when some of the lucky children, mostly in the front rows, were taken for a ride around the Garden ice in carts designed as slices of a huge birthday cake. Some of those not so lucky yowled in frustration.

It wasn't all children. There was a spectacular number laid in the palace court of an ancient Mongolian empire, involving the love of Tsing-Tsu, skated by Sarah Kawahara, a Canadian gold medalist of Japanese descent, and Ken Shelley, winner of many gold medals. They were spectacular, but the kids appeared to like it most when the evil ruler brought the palace crashing down into the ice.

ANOTHER STAR was the beautiful Jo Jo Starbuck, who looked remarkably like a Barbie doll as she went through her byrations with Paul Guzman and Billy Chapel in a physical fitness number skated in a make-believe gymnasium.

There were two sets of comedians, and the kids loved that, too — Terry Head and Gisela as a husband-and-wife team and Johnny La Brecque and Bob Mac in some slapstick that provides for pratfalls and other lowjinks.

Greek Night an ethnic adventure

Bill o' fare

When Greek Night comes to the Pickwick House Restaurant, 10 Northwest Hwy., Palatine, there is plenty of Rhoditis wine, savory Greek dishes, enticing belly dancers and bouzouki music to last you long into the night.

Owner Jimmy Spetzos features the event about twice a year, offering his patrons a true festival for the senses and an authentic dosei of an already popular Greek culture.

Featuring:
Pickwick House

More than 200 persons who attended Pickwick's Greek Night Monday, lingered on through three belly-dancing floor shows and line dancing that began at 7 p.m. and continued until 3 a.m.

MOST GUESTS began dinner with a flaming cheese appetizer, saganaki, an excellent blend of sharp "kefaloutiri" cheese and lemon, $1.75. An alternative was a small plate of sliced gyros, a blend of beef and lamb, on a bed of onions, $2.50.

A seven-item menu featured such Greek specialties as dolmades, stuffed grape leaves in egg-lemon sauce, $5.25; pastichio, Greek-style lasagna, $4.25; roast lamb and rice pilaf, $5.50; and shish kabob, pork and lamb skewered with tomatoes and green peppers, $5.50.

A combination plate, $6.25, also offered a sampling of dolmades, pastichio and roast lamb.

Pastichio is a tasty helping of round noodles and ground beef, lightly seasoned with nutmeg and topped with a thick layer of custard. The dolmades are meaty and juicy with a zesty but thin egg-lemon sauce.

The roast lamb is sliced thick and tender, served on a fluffy bed of rice pilaf.

ALL DINNER entrees included a serving of creamy egg and lemon soup and a Greek salad with its distinctive calamata olives, anchovies and "feta," which is a white and salty cheese made of goat's milk.

A bottle of Rhoditis for $5.95 and baskets of fresh bread rounded out the meal; but only a shot of ouzo, a Greek liqueur, or a piece of baklava, a layered dessert of paper-thin dough, nuts and honey, could properly top it off.

Three belly dancers who performed in shimmering, beaded costumes to the sounds of the Kamaras Orchestra offered a lively spark of entertainment to the evening. It was a lot of "Oopa" for the money.

The Pickwick House, open daily from 11 a.m. to midnight, also offers a reasonably priced gourmet dinner menu.

HOUSE SPECIALTIES like flaming roast long island duck, $7.25, and flaming steak Diane, $9.95, are prepared tableside by maitre d' Louis Malamos.

The meat is cooked in a pleasing blend of herbs and spices and served with a unique mixture of wild rice.

Flaming lobster and shrimp cotillion, sauteed in herbs and liquor, $10.95, is a specialty of the house as is a special blend of after-dinner coffee.

Dinner entrees are accompanied by loaves of sour dough bread and a large salad that is especially good when topped with a creamy, house dressing made with oil, vinegar, anchovies and cheeses.

One can also choose from a wide selection of traditionally prepared meats, fowl and seafood. A wine list accommodates a variety of preferences from a 1971 Chateau Lafite Rothschild at $45 a bottle to a $7.50 bottle of German Zeller Schwarze Katz, 1972.

AN APPETIZER of rich, French onion soup au gratin can make the meal even more complete. The broth includes large bits of onion, bread slices and white, Italian cheese, $1.25. It is a warming way to begin dinner in contrast to an equally pleasing shrimp cocktail supreme.

And the best way to end the meal is by ordering a brandied ice, $2, an ice cream dessert which is flamed on a dish set before you.

The restaurant differs from two others that Spetzos owns: the Pickwick House in Park Ridge, which is casual family dining, and Mangam's Chateau in Lyons, offering formal dining with floor shows.

But Palatine's Pickwick House is an appropriate place for suburbanites to either take an occasional Greek fling or enjoy a peaceful meal at the end of a long day.

Twenty years of modern dance

Taylor: a brilliant choreographer

by GLENNE CURRIE
(A review)

Choreographer Paul Taylor has come up with a couple of real winning works which his dance company's countless fans across the country soon will have a chance to see.

The Taylor company probably has introduced more Americans to modern dance than any other group, constantly touring and living out of suitcases for the past 20 years. Its dozen dancers have played every big city, most towns and more campuses than they can remember, as well as 34 foreign countries.

The company celebrated its 20th anniversary with a brief Broadway season — its 12th — last month at the Mark Hellinger Theatre. Fans besieged the box office.

PAUL TAYLOR

The single program they saw consisted of: the satiric 1965 "From Sea to Shining Sea," resurrected for the Bicentennial; "Esplanade," first seen last year, and the local premiere of his latest work, "Runes."

The title of "Runes," danced to haunting piano music by Gerald Busby is described in the program notes as "secret writings for use in casting a spell." The work indeed concerns primitive magic but seems centered more on Plaines Indians than on Norsemen, as befits Taylor's constant theme of America.

IT IS DANCED on a faintly lit stage, with an orange moon inching across the sky. A medicine man raises a woman from the dead; she dances with him and his initiates in a night-long secret ritual. There is no scenery — all the visual effects are accomplished by Jennifer Tipton's superb lighting — and the costumes are simple, the only hint at time and place being the buffalo-fur shoulder-pieces worn by the men. The over-all effect is magical, with a vivid sense of centuries-old ritual.

"Esplanade" is at the other end of the dance spectrum, a mixture of isolation and joyous relationships, to excerpts from two Bach violin concerti. The first movement, full of fast walking and running movements and sharp turns, has the nine dancers touching and moving together in innocent joi de vivre. The second movement sees the same dancers reaching out to one another but unable to make contact, secretive, protective and ends with them on all fours, crawling like animals.

The third movement is an elaboration of the first, with the dancers pairing off in a series of lyrical duets, constantly exchanging partners. The final section heightens the same theme, with tossed lifts, the girls throwing themselves across the stage into their partners' arms with greater and greater abandon till the curtain falls. The combination of movement and music should make "Esplanade" a crowd pleaser wherever it is shown.

"From Sea to Shining Sea" pokes fun at American institutions and history: the Pilgrim Fathers, George Washington, amateur night, the Statue of Liberty, "Uncle Sam Wants you," the flapper age, the Ku Klux Klan. All ends with the Statue of Liberty slumping exhausted — or bored — into a chair. The individual numbers are often hilarious, but there are longueurs as Taylor sets up each joke.

One disappointment is that Taylor himself, who has created the company's entire repertory, has given up dancing for the present.

"I was sick for a while and I thought, 'Why should I be killing myself?'' he said in an interview between rehearsals.

"I miss dancing," he added. "But I'm not sad about it. I've never been really keen about a lot of people watching me. I love audiences. When an audience shows its appreciation, it's wonderful. But it makes me a little uncomfortable to be watched, both in public and private life."

A STARTLING admission for a man for whom dance has been his whole existence for more than 20 of his 45 years. But talking to him in the comfortable, somewhat fusty-Edwardian apartment in lower Manhattan which he shares with his mutt Deedee, you realize that, despite his charm, intelligence, talent and popularity in the entertainment field, Paul Taylor is a very private person.

"Touring has been my life for 20 years," he said. "I eventually did get a bit weary. I'm not dancing at all now. I just prefer not to. I like to give my full attention to the others. I've been urged to start a school, but I want to channel my energies to the performance."

A recent three-year Mellon Foundation grant of more than $100,000 may give him a chance to do just that.

Taylor is somewhat bemused by the grant. "It's very interesting," he said. "But I don't know how to spend it. What I'd really like to do is to give the dancers more money."

He's vague about where he gets his choreographic inspiration.

"I think of it primarily as a visual art. If there's a piece of music with some drama in it, there's a little direction there. Painting has a certain influence, though I use very little scenery. I like the dancers to be the main attraction. If you put too much behind the dancers, the effect gets blurred."

Scenic drawings by Martyl exhibited at Art Institute

Landscape pen-and-brush drawings of Greece, Turkey and North America by Schaumburg artist Martyl are on exhibit in Gallery 108A of The Art Institute of Chicago through March 28.

Most of the 12 selected for this show were inspired by Greek landscape and done on the spot. As strong and vibrant as if in color, the pen line serves to build areas of tone that block out larger forms, the brush creates planes with a single stroke, and washes evoke the movement of clouds and shadows.

This is Martyl's second one-artist exhibit at the Art Institute. The first, in 1947, appeared in The Room of Chicago Art.

Martyl is the wife of Alexander Langsdorf Jr., a nuclear physicist.

Children's art classes starting

A new five-week session starts Tuesday for children's classes at Countryside Art Center, 414 N. Vail, Arlington Heights.

Six class times are available for 6-10 year-olds — Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays 4-6 p.m. or Saturdays 9-11 a.m., 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. or 3-5 p.m. The class for 11-14 year-olds will be held Saturdays 1-3 p.m. The fee is $13.50 per session.

The pre-school class for 4-6 year-olds will meet Fridays 9-10 a.m. The cost is $7.25.

All class fees include supplies. The gallery is open 1-5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays for registration. Information is available at 255-3005.

Magician and singer

Two ladies steal Blue Max show

Some of the best shows I've caught in the BLUE MAX of the HYATT REGENCY O'HARE have focused on female entertainers.

Two very funny ladies, one concentrating on magic, the other singing, are currently performing. And the arrangement is working out just swell. JUDY CARTER opens the show for MARILYN MICHAELS.

How can one not appreciate a female magician who is able to gear her whole routine around a stalk of celery? And she's modern, using short circuit TV for one feat in which she guesses the numbers submitted by members of the audience.

Male magicians usually require female helpers, but Judy does it all on her own with a little aid from one man seated up close — "it's about time a man gets sawed in half by a woman," quips Judy.

Anyone who can make a parody out of magic while performing some astonishing feats is doing a terrific job. And that's Judy.

Equally pleasing to watch and listen to is Marilyn Michaels. I always judge singers by their opening number and Marilyn has a rousing, original one, "Let's Hear It for Me." She's slow and sentimental on the ballads, corny and spirited on her female impressions — Ethel Merman, Eartha Kitt, Connie Francis and Mae West. Even Dinah Shore receives a well-deserved dig.

Miss Michaels is extremely versatile. After apologizing for being nearsighted, she brings out the old glasses, sits down at the keyboard and pounds out an impressive boogiei.

Michaels and Carter are entertaining together through Feb. 28. Next on the Bill is Barbara Eden, March 1-13, followed by David Brenner, March 15-27.

During the last week, playwright JACK SHARKEY has been shuffling between his Elk Grove home and PHEASANT RUN PLAYHOUSE in St. Charles to watch how his comedy, "GENTLEMAN AND A SCOUNDREL" is coming together.

Bill Daily

BILL DAILY is playing the lead in Sharkey's fifth work, which is having its premiere at the playhouse, officially opening next Wednesday.

Night out

by Genie Campbell

Daily first read the script last year and wanted then to do the play, but he couldn't get away from television long enough. He plays the role of Howard Borden, the neighbor of Bob and Emily Hartley on the "Bob Newhart Show."

"He asked if we could hold it. I really like him so I didn't mind at all," said Sharkey, who has waited a full year but feels now it was all worth it.

A northern Italian gourmet restaurant, CAFE ANGELO, has taken over Hooligans Restaurant in Wheeling, 124 S. Milwaukee Ave. New hosts are ANGELO NICELLI, who also operates Cafe Angelo in Chicago, and BENGT NYGREN, former executive chef of the Glenview Country Club.

Also opening soon is LE CLUB, a nightclub which will feature live entertainment in what was formerly the discotheque at Hooligans.

Comedy duo CHEECH AND CHONG will appear at HARPER COLLEGE in Palatine next Friday, Feb. 27, beginning at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the program board of the college, the night of comedy will take place in the College Center Lounge. Tickets are now on sale and must be purchased in advance. General public admission is $4; those with Harper IDs will be admitted for $3. Doors will open at 7 p.m. Contact the student activities office at 397-3000 for further information.

Get ready. SECOND CITY is putting the finishing touches on its 52nd review, promising that it "differs from the first 51 in content. Only the audience is being held over."

Life, death, money and boxing are subjects of Second City's parody of a new daytime TV show called "Liberal Challenge," of the satiric comedy team of Cheecha and Costello and of a "Quickie Theater" that digests the classics and produces a 40-second Hamlet. Think you can handle it?

The cast of seven is under the direction of BERNARD SAHLINS. Cast members are MIRIAM FLYNN, ANN RYERSON, GEORGE WENDT, JIM SHERMAN, DON DEPOLLO, ERIC BOARDMAN and STEVE KAMPMANN. Most of them have been held over from the 51st review. Opening night is Wednesday.

Cacti make thrifty use of water

HOW CAN CACTUS LIVE WITHOUT WATER?

When we think of the desert, we immediately conjure up visions of flat, desolate expanses of land, dry and hot. Our vision may contain a dry barren lake or shimmering hot sand dune. Occasionally a cactus plant will appear, proud and alone, almost daring in its staunch determination to survive in such a harsh, waterless environment.

Because it is such a thrifty hoarder, the cactus plant lives with a minimum of water. Many varieties have vast spreading root systems covering large areas close to the ground's surface. When a brief rain occurs, these roots absorb the welcome water almost instantly.

The stems of cactus plants are usually plump and swollen, sometimes forming huge water stores. Often they are pleated, which allows them to stretch out, providing more room still for water storage. Some, such as the barrel cactus, are like enormous water butts, while others, like the saguaro cactus, form long tube-like columns strecthing high into the sky.

A cactus plant doesn't really have leaves through which water can be lost by evaporation. What's more, since cacti are so compact, their surface area is relatively small — another important plus in keeping water loss down. The cactus plant not only knows how to absorb water quickly in the brief instances when it is available, it also has the lowdown on how to keep it. In one laboratory experiment a cactus plant was left unwatered for several years. Guess what? — it lost only a third of its precious moisture!

The prickly cactus is a perennial plant, and some varieties can live for hundreds of years. The more than 1,300 species of cacti generally grow very slowly because of their boom or bust diets. Although the cacti family originated in America, many species are at home in other parts of the world.

We might think that the prickly thorns a cactus wears would be enough to discourage any living creature from coming near it. Not so. At the peak of the dry season, the prairie jack rabbit gorges himself with cactus stems as a plentiful source of water. Many of the large cacti serve as hotels for small birds and rodents. The tiny cactus wren, for example, knows her nest and chicks are safe from hungry predatory snakes who won't hassle the barbs and thorns.

In years past, desert Indians well knew the value of certain cacti, particularly the saguaro. They mashed its stems for nourishing liquids, ate its tasty fruit and made butter from its seeds. Even when the plant died it was useful, for its remains could be burned as fuel.

When the brief rains arrive, the desert is transformed into a brilliant display of color. As if to say thank you, the cacti put on a show of blossoms in vivid hues of red, orange and yellow. One, the hedgehog cactus, dons a gorgeous garment of pinkish-red blossoms. When these fade, a cluster of strawberry-flavored fruit remains.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Glenn A. Mandel, 10, of Monarch Alta., Canada, or his question:
WHAT ARE THE LONG, THIN WORMS INSIDE CRICKETS?

Imagine a long, thin strand of hair wriggling around and you have an idea of the almost invisible worms that sometimes live inside crickets. Strangely enough, these super-thin white worms are usually harmless to the cricket unless they are in great numbers They can be very long — the male sometimes reaching two feet in length, and the female a whopping three feet.

These worms are commonly called horse hair worms or just plain hair worms. They are related to a large group of wormy creatures called nematodes, and scientists who know about such things say their family name is gordiacae. These wiggly fellows have a very complicated life cycle, one that includes living in clear, still water and also inside crickets and cricket relatives.

ABC relies on cop to hike ratings

by JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Saturday night has been the loneliest night of the week for ABC, when its healthy weekday audiences would dwindle to unsettling lows.

The latest hope for pulling Saturday night up from the bottom of the Nielsens is a cop show, which is one way to arrest an audience.

Whether the show takes the high or low road toward audience appeal remains a question.

THE PREMISE is that you can take the cop out of New York, but you can't take New York out of Bert D'Angelo. Whether New York's Finest will have reason to appreciate the compliment remains to be seen.

"Bert D'Angelo — Superstar" tells the adventures of a New York City cop who joins the San Francisco police force. The first episode doesn't explain why he migrated West nor why he's called "Superstar" but no doubt all will come clear in a later chapter.

In the debut Paul Sarvino plays D'Angelo as an overweight, untidy plainclothes sergeant with an authentic New York mumble and an appealing combination of authority and friendliness.

D'Angelo makes an amusing contrast with his fellow San Francisco policemen, all of whom are better barbered, with creases in their trousers and a general look of middle management.

IN THE premiere episode, which airs Saturday at 9 p.m., D'Angelo is confronted with the murder of an unknown woman, and also with the disappearing wife of an old friend.

The opening show of the series was long on plot, rare in cop shows these days, but short on the humor audiences appear to like liberally sprinkled throughout their entertainment.

The story leaves no doubt whodunit. It's a question of why — thereby hangs a tale that's twisty enough to be intriguing in the telling, but distinctly unsatisfactory in the solution because it really doesn't explain all the complications.

"Superstar" in its time slot will have an uphill battle, not only because of ABC's traditional Saturday night weak spot, but also because it must compete with Carol Burnett on CBS and NBC Saturday Night at the Movies, which can pull them in for a really good show.

Game reduced to a guess

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

South looked over dummy and thought to himself, "Why does everything happen to me? Why couldn't I be allowed to play a safe and sure six spades?"

South won the diamond lead and rattled off four rounds of trumps while West chucked two hearts and East two hearts and a club. Then South cashed dummy's other high diamond, ruffed a diamond, cashed the ace and king of hearts and dummy's last trump. He discarded a club. East chucked his last heart and West the jack of diamonds.

The moment of decision had arrived. East and West were known to hold five clubs between them. The sixth card was the eight of diamonds.

Both East and West had discarded in a manner to make it impossible for South to know where the eight of diamonds was. They also had given no clues as to the location of the really important club queen.

You readers can all see that queen of clubs in the East hand. As for poor South, he went wrong and played West for the queen of clubs.

Area sends 41 wrestlers to sectional tournaments

by KEITH REINHARD
Wrestling Editor

One more mountain to climb.

That obstacle is called a sectional wrestling tournament and 41 area grapplers stand before one at this moment, their aspirations geared toward the Illinois High School Assn. state finals beyond.

For each wrestler the peak is comprised of three plateaus — the number of victories one must achieve in succession to reign at a particular weight. There is an alternate route, sometimes through the wrestlebacks, but it is not nearly as certain.

"Just getting there is the thing."

More than a few coaches have echoed this refrain and it is a meaningful message. out of seven sectional tournaments and a Chicago conference meet this weekend will emerge nearly 200 qualifiers for the state finals at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall in Champaign, Feb. 27-28.

And only a dozen of those 200 will don crowns. But to be a participant in the spectacle conducted by the IHSA downstate at the end of the month is an experience remembered for a lifetime. Just getting there may not be as exciting as winning in the finals but it is still an achievement afforded only a precious few of the thousands participating in wrestling programs throughout Illinois during each winter.

Herald area grapplers filter through three sectional sites beginning with opening round action Friday evening. Representatives from the Crown and Ridgewood districts head for West Leyden while Elgin district qualifiers travel to Naperville and Highland Park entries shuttle to Barrington.

A second session will be conducted at each meet Saturday afternoon at 1:00 with the finals slated for Saturday at 7 p.m. Here's what to look for:

WEST LEYDEN

East Leyden and Glenbrook South are the teams to watch in the Northlake showdown which perennially turns out more than its share of individual state finalists.

Eagle coach Chuck Farina will bring no less than six district champs and two more runnersup into the fray and the Titans will be represented in seven divisions, four of them coming off district titles.

Other clubs with strong collective possibilities include Dick Carlini's Maine West unit (two champs, five runnersup), Rick Mann's Hersey outfit (two and three), Maine East (three and two), Gordon Tech (three and two), Dundee (three and one), Maine South with four champs, Niles East with three and Rolling Meadows with three.

At 98 pounds, Palatine's Mike Cullen and Warrior Tom Krauser are in a barcket that Bob Porter of Niles West (26-3) figres to dominate Porter's brother Bob (26-0-2) will probably be even more of a force at 105 although this arena also includes New Trier West's Lee Goldsmith (34-1), John

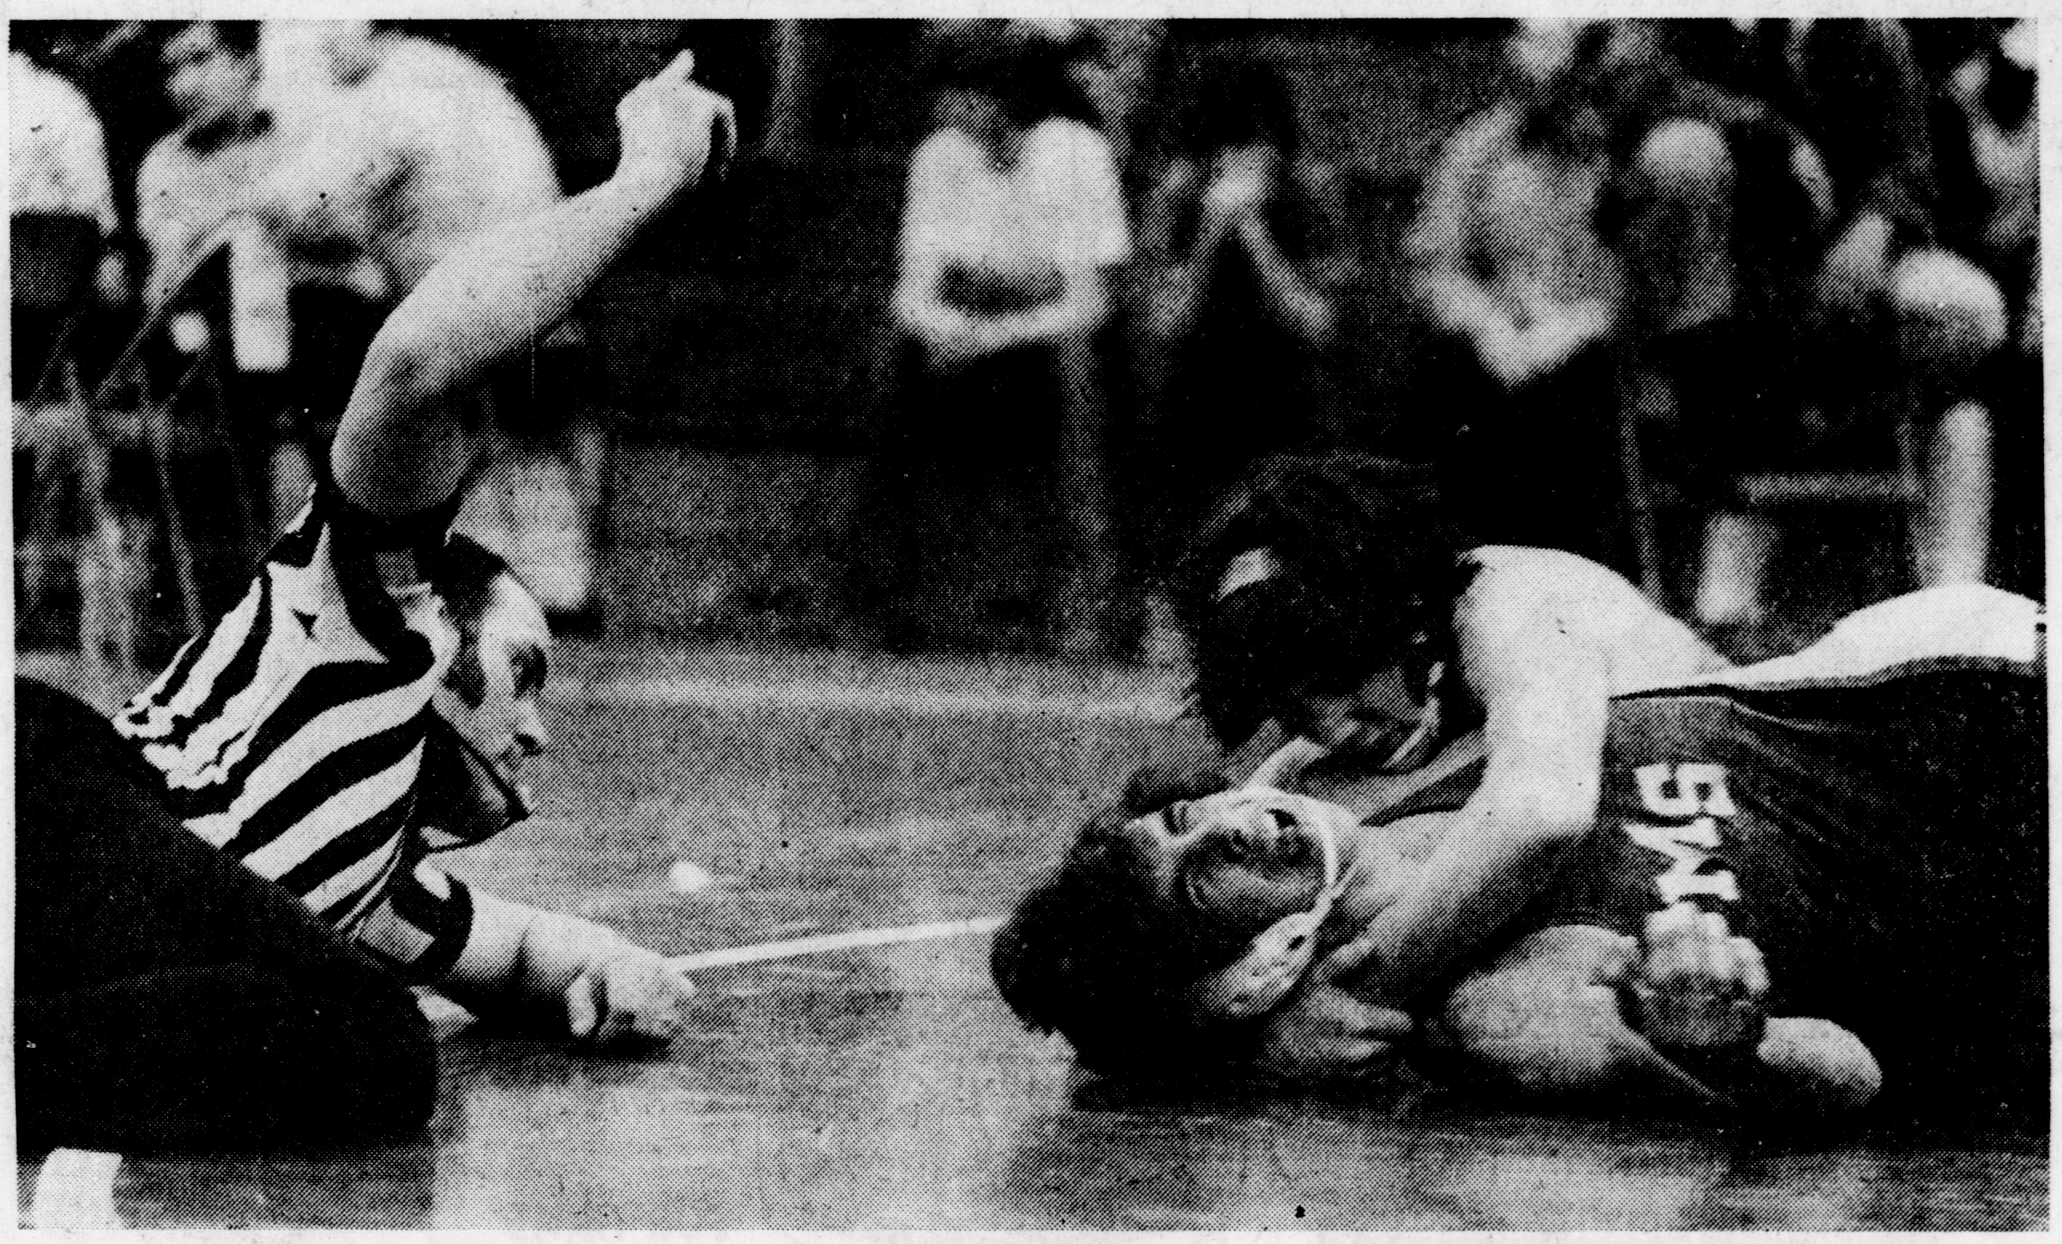
FAST-BREAKING Bill Solik of Schaumburg tries to go around Conant defender Ron Sulaski in first half of South Division showdown won by Conant, 51-49. Solik missed the layup but teammate Jon McIlraith followed up for the rebound and an easy two points. Conant wiped out an 11-point deficit for the victory that virtually assures the Cougars of a second MSL South championship in the past three seasons. Conant visits Forest View Friday in the last game in the schedule.



NEARING VICTORY. While the official signals his proximity to defeat, Adolph Yaniz of Maine South expresses more than slight discomfort over a situation applied by Don Arrigo of Maine West. Arrigo triumphed 12-2, his second win of the evening, but defaulted out of the Ridgewood district tourney the next day while his Warrior teammates went on to win the title.

Captivating

The hills were alive with sounds of 'Rosi, Rosi'

Bob Frisk
Sports Editor

I've never been on skis, my skating days ended years ago, and streaking down a hill on a luge is not my thing.

The Winter Olympics offer everything I'm not really interested in, but that didn't detract one bit from this truly spectacular show.

For someone who has become more of the indoor type, a specialist in sitting, I must admit I was sorry to see the Games come to an end.

Much has been said and written about the Olympics and the coverage on television. One Chicago sports announcer this week said ABC spent too much time on the Winter Olympics and then admitted his wife was happy to see them end.

Considering the garbage on television these days, I can't believe that extensive Olympics coverage once every four years is so difficult to accept.

For me, it was a very pleasant diversion, that daily visit via satellite to the medieval Tyrolean city of Innsbruck, and those little side trips to the village of Igls, or the Bergisel Stadium, or Patscherkofel and Lizum, or that delightful hamlet of Seefeld.

JIM McKAY

I was fascinated with the architectural centerpiece of the XII Winter Olympiad: a graceful falling squiggle of white ice used for the bobsled and luge run, streaming down the mountainside.

It's a little sad to know the 1980 Games will not be in charming Innsbruck but in Lake Placid, a slightly seedy village by comparison that hopes to transform itself into a gleaming Winter Olympic capital.

Somehow, it seems like the Winter Olympics always should be in Innsbruck, with strains from "The Sound of Music" playing in the background.

I became so accustomed to welcoming ABC's Jim McKay into my home that I felt like saying, as the television set warmed up, "Good evening, Jim. How are you? Hope everything is going well over there in Innsbruck."

I don't know about you, but I think McKay is about the best thing going in sports commentators these days, the consummate professional, the man who takes his job seriously, but not himself. You have to like his personality, as straightforward as his announcing style, and he just seems like the kind of guy you'd want to have as a friend.

McKay is in a business that is overloaded with ego and incompetence, but he's a refreshing change, a real pro. No phony.

I'm not a real fan of television, but I was hooked on the Winter Olympics. I mean, how could you not like to watch a Rosi Mittermaier or Dorothy Hamill?

"Rosi, Rosi, Rosi" was ringing through the mountains all week, and I became absolutely enamored with this charming West German woman, with the honest smile and the deeply dimpled cheeks, the winner of two golds and a silver in alpine skiing.

You could certainly understand why every commentator said Rosi was about as warm and friendly and genuinely nice a person as you could find at the Olympics, or anywhere else.

Television has truly proven a tremendous boon to something like the Winter Olympics, and this is particularly true of the figure skating event where performers like Peggy Fleming, Janet Lynn and now Dorothy Hamill have captivated audiences across the country.

The beauty of the event, and the expertise and enthusiasm offered by former gold medal winner Dick Button as a commentator give figure skating a very special place in any Winter Olympics.

Before television, such things as Winter Games had to rate very low on the interest scale. Now, it comes into your living room in depth and is a major event for many Americans.

I also discovered over those 12 days that the Olympics affected a lot of other people the same way, people who don't know a biathlon from a slalom, or a camel spin from a salchow.

It was difficult not to become totally immersed in that winter spectacular. I actually found myself rooting for a Rosi Mittermaier or Dorothy Hamill, or downhiller Franz Klammer, or American hockey goalie Jim Warden, or speed skaters Dan Immerfall and Sheila Young, or Canadian figure skater Toller Cranston, or that 46-year-old Swiss speed skater who didn't come close to a medal but has to be admired for sheer determination.

You begin to wonder why we could criticize any country for developing and subsidizing its best athletes, allowing them to train on a full-time basis without wondering — as many American athletes do — where the next dollar is coming from.

Basically, we do treat our athletes shabbily, and it is a credit to their perseverance, more than anything else, that they do so well.

Perhaps the appeal to me of the Winter Olympics is that they arrive on the scene just once every four years — thus putting them in the spectacle class rather than just another sporting event.

Whatever the reason, I really go for the whole bit, from the pomp and ceremony of the opening to the emotional final day.

Rosi, Rosi, Rosi . . . it was an incredible show.

Gym headliner matches Hersey, Prospect again

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

The Hersey High School District Gymnastics Tournament Saturday has definite possibilities of being one of the most closely contested meets in the state as the host Huskies and the Prospect Knights replay the contest they staged in last week's Mid-Suburban League conference finals.

The two teams will be joined by MSL entries Arlington, Palatine, Fremd and Wheeling. The final team in the seven team field will be Barrington.

The meet will begin at 7:00 p.m.

The Huskies and Knights finished second and third respectively in the conference meet behind Elk Grove.

Hersey trailed Prospect through the first four events then nipped the Knights 141.53 to 140.98 to take the runnerup spot.

"I'm not totally displeased with the way we looked," said Hersey coach Don Von Ebers. "We hit 140 but we didn't look good doing it.

"The important thing is we beat Prospect and have a week off to get healthy."

The rest will help Hersey all-arounder Danny Muenz, who averaged 7.98 on the all-around despite a rib separation injury.

Still rings specialist Vince Corrado also has a shoulder injury that will be helped by the layoff.

"The shoulder still bothered Vince on his cross," Von Ebers said. "He went through it without being able to hold."

Under the new alignment rules of thestate tournament, the first two teams of the Hersey District could qualify for the sectional.

Besides the champions of the three districts that feed into the Rolling Meadows sectional, the next best team score will also advance to the sectional.

It is likely that the second place team in the Hersey District will have the high score needed to move to the next level of competition.

"With a healthy Danny and a healthy Vince we should be able to get through to the sectional," Von Ebers said.

Thei Huskies also got strong performances in the conference meet from Bob Barut and Ray Peters on trampoline and free ex and Rich Stange on P-Bars.

The Knights had no individual champions in the conference meet but they were consistent.

Doug Zahour grabbed a second place medal on free ex, Dave Scheible

MUHAMMAD ALI LOOKS surprised, maybe because Jean Pierre Coopman (left) weighed in at a heavy 206, or maybe because Coopman actually showed up for their heavyweight bout tonight in Puerto Rico. Ali scaled 226.

Lounging Ali awaits Coopman

SAN JUAN (UPI) — Remember the days when heavyweight champions and their challengers went into seclusion the night before the Big Fight?

Those days are gone as Muhammad Ali proved Thursday night as he lounged in the lobby of his hotel, chatting amiably with those brave enough to come up to speak to him, and posing readily for a cluster of guests who fired their flash cameras at him incessantly.

Jean Pierre Coopman seems to feel the same as Ali, for both fighters turned up at a press party on Wednesday night. Jack Dempsey was there too and it was obvious that the 81-year-old boxing great could not believe how times have changed.

The fight may be a quick one, but CBS-TV will be on the air for two hours Friday night, leading up to, covering and looking back at this fifth title defense Ali has made.

Slated to go on the air at 8 p.m. Chicago time, the show will run for over an hour before Ali and Coopman enter the ring.

The network will employ no less than seven commentators for its coverage. Heywood Hale Brown, Phyllis George, Jack Whitaker and Brent Musberger have prepared the interviews, color features, and chats with the trainers which will, along with flashbacks, cover the first hour.

Pat Summerall and Tom Brookshier will handle the round-by-round chores, and veteran Don Dunphy will offer pre-and post-fight analysis.

Three Puerto Ricans will officate the bout. The referee will be Ismael Quinones Falu. The two judges will be Ismael Fernandez and Roberto Ramirez.

The trio, all veteran World Boxing Association officials, were selected by the Puerto Rican Department of Parks and Recreation, which serves as the boxing commission.

Falu is a veteran referee but never has worked a title bout.

And if Ali gets past Coopman . . .

Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali is scheduled to face three boxers in Memphis next month in a charity benefit program.

Officials said Thursday that former welterweight and middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson is expected to referee the bouts March 18 at the Mid-South Coliseum, but it will be next week before Ali's opponents will be named.

The 30-round program will feature Ali, who defends his title Friday night in San Juan against Jean-Pierre Coopman of Belgium, in three rounds against each of the opponents. Area fighters will be featured in the remaining 21 rounds

Proceeds from the program will go to a fund for singer Jackie Wilson, who was stricken by a stroke recently, and a local charity. Tickets will be sold for $15, $25 and $50.

Is Veeck 'short' of ideas?

The new Chicago White Sox of Bill Veeck may add a new dimension to baseball this summer — short pants.

The team recently acquired by Veeck is considering switching the uniform on hot, sultry days to include shorts instead of the conventional knickers-like pantaloons major league teams have been sporting since Abner Doubleday's game became surrounded by box-seats, grandstands and bleachers.

Veeck threw out a feeler on the shorts proposal to a couple of his players and they seem to like the idea. They were shortstop Bucky Dent and the league's leading relief pitcher, Rich Gossage.

"But we're not going to force them on anyone," Veeck said. "Right now we're having some designers make up a few. We'll look at them, take them to spring training and let the players try them. If they like them, we'll use them, especially when it's hot and humid."

Veeck recalled that many years ago teams in the Pacific Coast League used the shorts. "The only reason they didn't go over then is that they came ahead of time. Now the time is ripe for them."

Veeck said he felt the players would like them because he has heard so much about how cool and comfortable the shorts are.

"If that's the case, they figure to play better, win more and make more money, right?" Veeck asked.

Roland Hemond, team vice president speculated the shorties might add some sex appeal to the game, "especially among the younger, female set."

"A lot of those guys have nice legs," Hemond chuckled.

Veeck agreed. "But I'm not too sure about Wilbur Wood."

Snead almost shoots his age

Sam Snead, a 63-year-old relic from another era, shot a four-under-par 67 Thursday while 28-year-old Tom Jenkins took the opening day lead with a 66 in the $185,000 Los Angeles Open.

Snead, who will celebrate his 64th birthday May 27, carded six birdies and one double bogey over the demanding Riviera Country Club layout and Jenkins, a one-time tour winner, fired 31-35.

Snead was deadlocked in second place with British Open champion Tom Watson. Snead had 33-34 while Watson, seeking his first victory of the year, came in at 35-32.

Snead was runnerup in this tournament two years ago, just two shots behind Dave Stockton after an opening round 73. He hasn't won since the 1965 Greensboro Open, his 84th tour triumph.

"I just might have an outside chance," smiled Snead, a winner here in a memorable 18-hole playoff with Ben Hogan in 1950.

There was a five-way tie for fourth place at 68 among Lanny Wadkins, Hubert Green, Jim Masserio, Don January and Doug Tewell.

Prep girl ties long jump mark

Kathy McMillan, an 18-year-old Raeford (N.C.) high school student, Thursday equalled the American indoor long jump record for women during an invitational high school meet. Miss McMillan, the only female competitor in the qualifying event with 15 boys, leaped 21 feet, 4¾ inches, tying the American record set in 1973 by Martha Watson.

However, Miss Little did not make the finals of the event because she finished seventh in qualifying with the boys. Only the top five advanced to the finals at the 2nd Annual Greensboro Coliseum Invitational High School Track and Field Meet.

Miss McMillan won the bronze medal in last year's Pan-Am Games in the long jump, and she had the longest American jump of the year.

Three track squads show indoor promise

Three more Mid-Suburban League track teams opened the indoor season this week, and all three gave notice that they'll be a factor by the time the outdoor campaign begins.

Fremd inaugurated its limited indoor slate with a victory over New Trier East and Deerfield, chalking up 60 points for first place. Coach Pat Brogan's Vikings took four firsts, including an impressive win by long jumper Lawson England (20-7¼) and a shot-put toss of 48-11¾ by Doug Meyer.

Wheeling received two first places each from Darryl Stillson, Ben-Sanchez, and Mark Larson on its way to a 74-43 rout of Niles North. The Wildcats grabbed 11 wins altogether. Stillson's 38-3½ in the triple jump and Larson's 440-yard dash time of :56.6 were the more noteworthy efforts.

Hersey hosted its track opener and dropped a 72-50 decision to the Schaumburg Saxons, who were competing in their fourth meet of the year. But Hersey's Dave Komiss and Dave Koelper put their names atop the area indoor list in a couple of events.

Komiss reached 49-9 in the shot put for first place, followed by teammate Matt Zakula, who threw 49-3½. Koelper won the triple jump with a 41-1½ leap. Hersey's Tony Becker was second at 38-10.

Hersey's only other victory came in the 12-lap relay as Schaumburg dominated the individual running events. Brad Crawford swept the 50-yard hurdles, winning the highs in :07.3 and the lows in :06.8. Other Saxon winners were Mark Seltzer in the 880 (2:10.2), Steve Pace in the 440 (:56.5), Randy Lewis in the two-mile (10:25.7), and Steve Knudson in the 50-yard dash (:05.8). Knudson barely edged Hersey's Gary Modesto in the sprint event.

Schaumburg's Scott Mielke, suffering from a minor leg injury, won the long jump (19-8) and the high jump (5-10). Saxon miler Bruce Anderson took first place in 4:50.5, well ahead of his brother Steve who was second.

Fremd, which has just three more meets before the MSL indoor championships in late March, got a pair of second places from hurdler Gary Gunderson (:06.3 in the lows and :06.9 in the highs) and a second from shot putter Al DaValle (46-5¼).

Wheeling's Stillson won the 50-yard lows in :07.0 and Larson took first in the long jump (17-9). Sanchez, just a sophomore, won the mile (5:00.4) and the two-mile (10:42.4). Wheeling's MSL heavyweight wrestling champ Ken Kent tossed the shot 43 feet for first place.

Fremd 'teamwork' slaps Wheeling with 1st defeat

by PAUL LOGAN

Playing their best in the most important game so far this season, the Fremd Vikings overpowered the visiting Wheeling Wildcat basketball team en route to a convincing 67-50 victory.

Trailing 37-23 going into the third quarter, Wheeling's Sandy Rainey hit three straight baskets. Unfortunately for the Wildcats, the Vikings matched this effort with field goals by Cindy Nelson, Heidi Giesler and Kathy Pfaender to make the score 44-31.

Then Fremd ran off 11 unanswered points to take an overwhelming 52-31 lead near the end of the period.

However, Wheeling wouldn't quit. The Wildcats of Coach Donna Dubbelde cut the margin to 59-48 on Rainey's third basket of the final period. Fremd held off the rally by hitting free throws.

Fremd coach Carol Plodzien said that teamwork was the chief contributor to the impressive victory over this division arch rival. Both teams came into the game with 8-0 records.

"We played our game tonight," she said. "We played as a team. I think we played our best."

Plodzien received excellent play from two girls in particular — guards Heidi Giesler and Connie Bruns. They led their team with 18 points each. Donelda Danz and Colleen Cannon were next with seven and six points, respectively.

Giesler and Cannon shared rebounding honors with seven each and Pfaender had six as Fremd outrebounded Wheeling 33-25.

Rainey scored 22 points, all field goals, and also paced Wheeling with nine rebounds. Gina Neri had 10 points and LeAnn Paulsen seven.

"There's really nothing you can say,'' remarked Dubbelde after watching her team receive one of the most lopsided defeats ever. The past two years her Wildcats had lost by only one and two points to the Vikings. "We played a bad game."

Dubbelde said she was most impressed with the shooting of the Vikings, who hit 56 per cent of their shots through the first three quarters before cooling off. A 2-for-11 effort in the final quarter left them at 48 per cent on the night.

When asked if any team in the North could threaten the defending MSL champs, Dubbelde said, "No, I don't think so. I don't think anybody in the conference can stop them."

Plodzien said the pressure had been pretty great on her team of late. Now that Wheeling's out of the way, maybe the pressure brought about by the school's perfect 34-0 record might be lessened somewhat.

(See scoreboard for results from all games).

LEADING the Fremd Vikings to a 67-50 victory over Wheeling were Connie Bruns (15) and Heidi Giesler with 18 points each.

Mid-Suburban badminton season opens

Experienced champions make the Arlington badminton team the favorite again this season.

The Arlington Cardinals of Coach Mary Lou Hundt won their fourth straight Mid-Suburban League title last year by two points over Prospect with Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates and Rolling Meadows tying for third place.

Mary Flynn, who won third singles in the conference meet, returns. Also back are Jody Lyon and Janet Haberkorn — second doubles champs — and Leslie Grabitz and Lisa Pugsley — winners of third doubles.

When the MSL season opens Saturday, the defending champions will have a bye. The other pairings look like this:

Schaumburg at Hoffman Estates, Wheeling at Forest View and Palatine at Hersey — all at 9 a.m.; Fremd at Conant, Rolling Meadows at Prospect and Elk Grove at Buffalo Grove — at 1 p.m.

Nearly all this season's league meets will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays starting at 6:30 p.m.

The conference championship will be held at Elk Grove High School on Friday and Saturday, April 9-10.

Arlington youth program will hold second signup

Registration for the Arlington Heights Youth Athletic Assn. will be held in the Olympic Park basement, 660 N. Ridge, on Saturday, Feb. 21.

Hours for the signup will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

All boys who will be 8 years old and not more than 16 years old on July 31, 1976 are eligible. Boys must live in the village of Arlington Heights and/or the Arlington Heights Park District.

The registration fee will be $12 for the first boy and $7 for each additional brother. In addition, each boy must buy six pancake tickets at $1.50 each to be sold or used at the annual Pancake Day. A maximum of 18 tickets per family will be issued.

The fee for one boy will be $21 — two boys $37 — three boys $53 — and four boys $58.

Boys who have never played in Arlington Heights must bring proof of age regardles of the age category. A parent or guardian (not a friend or neighbor) must attend the registration and volunteer for one of the adult programs.

Girls signup will be held the same time as boys baseball.

Girls must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and must be at least 8 and not more than 18 on July 31, 1976 Proof of age is required of first-time participants.

The registration fee will be $12 for the first girl and $8 for each additional sister. In addition, each girl must buy $6 in decals, which can be sold.

The cost for one girl is $18, two girls $32, and three girls $46.

Lift with the legs

Paul Anderson was an Olympic weightlifting champion for the United States in 1956. The following year the 5-10, 300-pound strongman performed an amazing feat of strength when he backlifted a weight of 6,270 pounds.

A new Cadillac Fleetwood limousine for nine passengers weighs only 5,475 pounds.

A 24-hour machine!

If you think you're a good free throw shooter and you have 24 hours to kill, why not try for Fred Newman's record. In Cal Tech's gym back in 1974, Newman sank 12,777 of 13,097 for a record 97.5 per cent. He hit 1,418 in a row!

Guy wins outdoor title

Scott Guy of Palatine continued his wholesale acquisition of speedskating medals last weekend by taking first place in the boys intermediate division at the North American Outdoor Championships in Lake Placid, N.Y. against skaters from the United States and Canada.

Guy, a 16-year-old junior at Palatine High School, zoomed past the rest of the field to win five of the six races, which range from 300 meters to 3,000 meters. The only race he failed to win was the 3,000-meter event, in which he finished second.

Guy's time of :25.3 in the 300 and his :43.5 in the 500 were outstanding for an intermediate. The Palatine skater posted a 1:14.8 in the 800-meters, a 1:40.1 in the 1,000-meters, and a 2:23.2 in the 1,500-meter event.

The next big meet for Guy, last year's junior champ, is this weekend's Silver Skates competition in Chicago.

Also ahead of him are the National Indoor at Lakewood, O. and the North American Indoor at Wyandotte, Mich.

Forget the fast ball! How's the kid on plea bargaining?

Jim Murray

Years ago in Connecticut I had a history professor who delighted in telling us how Hartford missed out on becoming the automotive capital of the world.

"Henry Ford came to Connecticut and broke the Selden Patent, which would have kept auto manufacture exclusively here," he said.

"His University of Michigan lawyers beat the pants off the University of Yale lawyers."

I bring this up because it occurs to this writer that baseball had best get itself some University of Michigan lawyers. It's clear the ones it's got are not adequate for the purpose. Baseball is taking a clobbering in the courts.

Of course, the fact that its basic position is not tenable legally may have something to do with it, but historically, this technicality has never stopped a really good lawyer. After all, even the Selden Patent had its merits.

But what I can visualize at some future time is a phone conversation between baseball owner Moe Gull and his demon scout, Can O'Corn. O'Corn is speaking:

"Boss, have I got a prospect for you! A kid sown here in the canebrakes hits .400 left-handed and .500 right-handed, runs the 100 in 8.3, kills squirrels with rocks at 100 yards, and can catch a bullet between his thumb and forefinger.

"What's that, Boss? How is he on labor negotiation? Boss, I don't think you understand. This kid will sign for a Hershey bar. He not only can't read and write, he can't hardly talk, but he'll save the franchise.

"How's that again? You want me to drop him and get on over to Harvard? Boss, they haven't got anybody over there who can even see a game, never mind play it. They haven't got anybody over there even knows how to take a shower. It would take the whole student body just to lift one bat. Boss, I got a dream of a pitcher up in Bridgeport. Can strike you out with either hand. They tried to time his fastball but the machine couldn't find it. His curveball drops in by way of Philadelphia.

"What's that, Boss? How is he at plea bargaining? Boss, we must have a bum connection. I'm offering you Hall of Famers and you're asking me if they're Clarence Darrows. What's going on here?

"I'm to forget about guys who can make the double play and check out guys who are better at the double cross? You want me to stop checking the diamonds and check the courts? The tennis courts! Oh. The night courts.

"What's that? We're not in the market for any pheenoms with the glove any more? What we need are guys with briefcases? What we need are guys who can get the Emancipation Proclamation thrown out, who can find loopholes in the Bill of Rights? Never mind buying players, see if I can buy the Supreme Court?

"I see. You don't want a million-dollar infield. You want someone who can get Jack the Ripper off with a warning? Someone who can bring tears to the eyes of a jury trying a guy who sets fire to baby carriages? But, Boss, what about the team?! I see. There won't be any team 'less we can get some lawyers who can prove ballplayers aren't citizens, that the Mafia is just a bunch of Shriners, and that, when Lincoln freed the slaves, he didn't mean second basemen? Well, I think I know where I can find some likekthat. They're called 'consigliori.'

"What? You say Babe Ruth saved baseball last time, but it's going to take F. Lee Bailey or Edward Bennett Williams this time? OK, Boss, I'll get right on it. I'll hop up to Berkeley and the Bay Area and check out the Boalt and Hastings law school. And while I'm there, it won't hurt to look in on the Cal baseball team. I might find another Andy Messersmith for you there . . .

"Hello? Hello? Operator, operator, I think you'd better call the paramedics. I think my party just fainted . . ."

NWSRA holds wheelchair game

A wheelchair basketball fund raising game is going to be held Sunday, March 7 from 2 to 4 p.m. at Arlington High School.

The event, featuring the Chicagoland Sidewinders, is being sponsored by the Northwest Special Recreation Association.

The NWSRA is a community recreation agency serving the needs of mentally and physically handicapped individuals in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg townships.

Proceeds from the game will be used for special recreation programs.

Tickets are available to the public for $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for children five to 18 years old and senior citizens. Children under five can attend free.

Business or service agencies wishing to purchase 10 or more tickets will be given advertising space in the game program brochure.

Individuals interested in purchasing tickets, assisting in promotion, ticket sales or other areas are needed now. Please call the NWSRA for further details at 394-4948 or 394-4910.

RUSTPROOFING CHECKLIST
Before you spend one cent to protect your new car, follow this checklist to be sure you're buying real rustproof protection...
☐ Deal only with a professional rustproofer. While many car dealers sell so-called rustproofing service, very few qualify as professionals. Every Ziebart Dealer is factory trained.
☐ Check the guarantee. If the rustproofer only guarantees "those areas treated or rustproofed"—watch out! Go see your Ziebart Dealer.
☐ Ask if your make and model car is covered in the rustproofer's specifications. Your Ziebart Dealer has specifications on more than 450 different makes and models to assure coverage of all critical areas on each car he rustproofs.
☐ Be sure the rustproofer has the specialized tools and equipment required for rustproofing. Some rustproofers try to get by with 3 or 4 spray tools. Your Ziebart Dealer has 9 patented spray tools designed specifically to reach body areas that require rustproofing.
☐ Take your new car directly to your Ziebart Dealer and you don't have to worry about rustproof protection. He's the professional rustproofer with the proven ability and experience.

Conant, Buffalo Grove hope to protect leads

by ART MUGALIAN

The driver's seat has never been so uncomfortable, so itchy, so downright dangerous.

Buffalo Grove and especially Conant will be jumping from that "driver's seat" into the hot fire of the Mid-Suburban League's final week of basketball when they both try to protect slim first-place leads in their respective divisions tonight.

The Conant Cougars, 9-2 in the South, must beat the Falcons (3-8) at Forest View in order to maintain a one-game edge over Schaumburg (9-3). The Saxons, who closed regular-season play with a 51-49 loss to Conant on Tuesday, would capture the South title in the event of a tie in the standings, based on more wins by six points or more.

Buffalo Grove, meanwhile, has all but clinched the North crown, despite the Bison's first league loss last week, a 60-54 setback at the hands of second-place Hersey.

Still, if Buffalo Grove loses at Wheeling (4-5) tonight and Hersey (7-2) beats visiting Palatine (0-9), the Huskies would have an outside shot at taking the championship on statistics.

The champs of the North and South will meet in the MSL title game next Wednesday night at the North school's gym.

In other league games tonight, Fremd (2-7) is at Arlington (6-3), Rolling Meadows (4-7) is at Elk Grove (7-4), and Prospect (4-7) visits Hoffman Estates (3-8), all at 8 p.m.

But the pressure is on Conant and Buffalo Grove.

The Cougars' win at Schaumburg improved their overall mark to 13-7 and avenged an earlier 64-47 loss to the Saxons. It also gave Dick Redlinger's Conant cagers undisputed possession of first place in the South.

But before they can start celebrating, the Cougars must beat a scrappy Forest View team on their own floor.

"The Forest View gym has never really bothered these kids," said Redlinger, whose Cougars had to come from behind for a 55-50 win over the Falcons in January.

But Redlinger fears a letdown after the emotional victory at Schaumburg.

"My only concern now is the kids being up for Forest View," Redlinger said. "I've worried more about this than anything else in the last three years. I've told them if they lose to Forest View, then the game we played Tuesday means nothing."

Forest View's 1-3-1 zone hampered the Cougars the last time the teams met, and Redlinger's scouts say the Falcons will mix in a 2-1-2 alignment, too.

"We have to penetrate offensively, play smart and take good shots, and keep out of foul trouble," said Redlinger.

The pressure on Buffalo Grove won't be as stiff. The Bison command an edge over Hersey in all the tie-breaking criteria except head-to-head play, where the teams split six-point wins. So even a Wheeling victory might not be enough to unseat Buffalo Grove.

But the last statistical determinant (before the league elders throw it open to a vote) is comparative spread in offensive and defensive averages. Though the Bison hold a healthy advantage there too, the stats are subject to change, so a pair of lopsided scores could be enough to swing the title Hersey's way.

"I don't know that we've really celebrated yet," said Grove coach Paul Grady. "The goofy way the MSL has gone this year, anybody's capable of beating anybody. Personally, I prefer going into this Wheeling game knowing we don't absolutely have to win it."

The Bison dumped the Wildcats 86-56 the first time they met, but Grady expects a much closer contest tonight.

"This is a good rivalry," the coach noted. "Our kids look forward to two games especially — Hersey and Wheeling. I'm sure Wheeling will be ready, too."

The MSL scoring title will be decided tonight on separate courts. Palatine's Kevin McKenna and Buffalo Grove's Brian Allsmiller, both juniors, are neck-and-neck in the scoring derby. Allsmiller leads with a 25.5 average and McKenna has a 25.0 per-game mark.

Warriors, East meet

The Maine West Warriors return to conference basketball action tonight with a crucial matchup at Maine East.

Both clubs' are 8-4 and tied for third place in the Central Suburban League South. So to the winner goes sole possession of third, plus a shot at second place, behind 9-3 Maine South.

The Warriors were their own worst enemy in the first hookup of these two clubs. West committed 27 turnovers, but still fell by only one, 56-55, when Bill Fininis' last second shot failed.

A win tonight is a must for the Warriors, especially in light of next week's battle between first place Niles West and second place Maine South. West is still very much in the race for second place in the CSL, especially if Maine South should fall to Niles West.

The Warriors' game at Maine East will start at 8 p.m.

Tripoli of Gordon Tech and Brad Perry of Fenton.

Rob Krusinski of Maine West, St. Viator's Scott Malouf and Fremd's Bob Dean are local 105 entries.

Rick Fitzgerald of Dundee (23-3) and Eagle sophomore Randy Conrad head up a 112-pound list which also carrier Warrior Rick Gauger and Arlington's Dan Weber, along with Mark Sonshine of Niles East. At 119, Mustang Jim Carlstrom is definitely a factor while Huskie Jim Watters and Warrior Mike Tramel can't be ruled out either in a wide-open race.

Another Conrad from Leyden, Rich, along with Jim Galas of West Leyden who qualified last year at 119, are frontrunners at 126. And Arlington's John Preissing, Doug McCarthy of Fremd, Bob Levy of Niles North (21-3) and Jack Beals of Maine North (23-7-1) are other very capable possibilities.

Dan Lococo of Hersey heads up a 132-pound field that also spotlights his opening foe, Luis Ochoa of Fenton, plus Steve Krist of East Leyden, Kurt Fiech of Maine South (25-1), Card Dan Kennedy, and Seumas O'Hara of GBS (27-5-1). A rugged 138-pound class features Dave Helminski of Dundee (21-1-1), Jeff Hoss of East Leyden and Rob Roto of the Titans (28-5-1) in addition to Huskie Brett Benz.

Local entries Pete Martin of Meadows and Rick Dewar of Hersey will be dealing with standouts Bob Stout of Fenton and Brian Thomas of New Trier West at 145. At 155 Todd Whitfield of Glenbrook South (29-4) is one of the favorites to capture a title netted by his brother Drew last year but Russ Pollard of Fremd, Dan Barringer of Maine West and Jim Popp of Palatine cannot be ruled out of the picture.

The 167-pound division appears to be up for grabs. Ted Tyk of the Mustangs and Prospect's Carl Schimmelman have the potential here. Pete Christopoulos of Niles East (17-0) and Joe Battaglia of Loyola (26-1-1) take the best marks into a 185-pound runoff that also includes John Carroll of Maine South (16-5-1), John Haney of Hersey and Warrior Dave Cavazos.

Scott Zettek of the Lions will be defending the heavyweight throne. Among his many strong foes will be Warrior Bob Smith.

NAPERVILLE

DeKalb, with eight representatives five of them champs, should have little difficulty nailing down the team crown although Addison Trail (four and three) can't be ruled out of the hunt. Other challenges should come from Larkin with five district winners, Glenbard South (three and one) York (Four and one) and possibly Hinsdale South and the host Redskins.

Individually, Mike Farina of the Dukes (33-0) is an odds-on favorite to repeat as champ at 98 while Conant's Jon Gluck and Schaumburg's Dave Cooke are among a rugged field battling it our for second.

At 105 Lou Larson of the Barbs (17-2-2) is one of the top entries Saxon Al Blount must contend with. Another DeKalb entry Joe Williams (25-1-1) figures to repeat as a qualifier at 112 while Elk Grove's Steve King, Gary Varga of the Blazers (25-4) and Brian Murphy of LaGrange among others shoot for the other slot.

The 119-pound category is loaded, beginning with defening Naperville champ Tom Best (18-3), Jim Farina of York (31-3), Louis Delacruz of Larkin (24-1) and Gary Murakami of Downers Grove South. Grenadier Tim Bush will have his hands full.

Another returning Redskin sectional champ, Don Larimer (20-1) leads off a 138-pound class that is not exactly easy. Elk Grove's John Carpenter will also have to contend with John Esposito of York (31-2) and Wheaton Central's Ralph Schmuggerow among others. The 145 category is strong but reasonably balanced for Chad McCreary of Hoffman Estates. Naperville's Scott Glander (17-4), Mike McMillan of Sycamore (17-0) Jim Hensel of West Chicago (23-2), and Larkin's Gary Cochran (21-3-1) head up the show.

Defending state champ Jim Morris of Glenbard South has issued Hawk Jim Thomas his only defeat this year and he will be the strong favorite at 155. DeKalb's John Larson (20-4) and Dave Lopez of Elgin (24-3-2) are others in the race with Thomas.

Jim Graham of DeKalb (25-2) and Addison Trail's Phil Sleboda (28-2-1) are headliners at 167 for Gren Tim McGuire. At heavyweight Mike Malone of Elk Grove will probably find that returning state qualifier Kurt Becker of Aurora East (22-5) is favored.

BARRINGTON

This sectional could develop into a wide open affair for team honors and Buffalo Grove and Rockford East have the strongest post positions with four champs and a runnerup apiece. There are at least 12 other teams capable of winning the big trophy.

The leadoff Bison is Tim Foley at 112 and most of his competition is in the opposite bracket. If he can overtake Mike Jones of North Chicago (24-4) he could hook up with either Mark Marinaro of Rockford Boylan (27-2-1) or Antioch's Robin Aerne (20-5).

Rich Wilhelm is in a similar position in his quest to requalify for state at 126. Sam Simmons of Rockford East (23-6-2) is the chief foe in his bracket and Sequoit Greg Nordstrom (32-3-2) heads up a strong opposite side.

Charles Young or Rockford Jefferson (23-4) and Grant's Bob McGinn (27-5) are headliners for Bison Greg Thomson to contend with at 132. The banner name for Grove's Tim Dunn at 138 is Bart Parker of North Chicago (23-2-1) although Rich Konitsky of Rockford Harlem (30-1) sports better credentials.

At 145 the wrestler for Bison Doug Browning to watch for is Waukegan East's Mark Smith (29-0) but Browning will have to get past Eric Jones of North Chicago (22-3-1) first.

Gymnastics

trailed only Elk Grove's Tim Connelly on side horse, Jim Tangney placed third on P-Bars and Glenn Wilke tied for fifth on still rings.

Russ Klingaman was the leading Prospect all-arounder with an average of 6.83.

Wheeling should take the third place spot in the district after posting a 123.86 score in the conference meet.

The Wildcats medalists were still rings specialist Dale Brungraber and side horse man Jim Geske. Brungraber took fourth place with an 8.25 mark while Geske was fourth with a 7.45 score.

Arlington's Cardinals, which did not have a full team at the conference meet, will battle the Wildcats for third place.

Chris Smith lead the Cardinals' trampoline efforts with a 7.85 score, enough for a fourth place medal. Tom Staley's 8.35 on still rings placed him second while Kyle Chamblee finished just out of the running with a 7.95.

Fremd's main hope will rest with all-arounder Doug Smidl, who tied for fifth in the conference meet with a 6.90 average.

Smidl also picked up a third place medal on side horse witih a 7.90 score.

The quality of the competition at the Hersey District will be good enough for several individuals to advance to the sectionals without their teams making it.

Three area schools win in district gymnastics

by CHARLIE DICKINSON
Gymnastics Editor

There were only pleasant surprises for Buffalo Grove, Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove as the three Mid-Suburban League gymnastics powers breezed to district championships Thursday night.

The biggest shock came at Buffalo Grove where the young Bison pulled out all the stops to win their district with a 139.39 score.

Coach Dennis Mazur was shooting for 135 but his team put that behind them easily as they topped second place Mundelein by 27 points.

The Rolling Meadows Mustangs took six of seven individual titles as they swept to the Hoffman Estates district with their best score of the season at 146.65.

Keith Liszewski took the high bar title, with his best score of the year at 8.95, and Glenn Johnson grabbed the trampoline title with an 8.45.

Dave Bycroft swept the still rings title and Guy Owsiany captured the all-around with an average of 7.55. Conant's Bill Schanel kept the Mustangs from taking every first place medal when he won the P-Bars with a score of 8.10.

The Mustang's domination was so complete they took 20 of a possible 35 medals.

"We're starting to peak," said Meadows coach Vic Avigliano. "We do this every year. Start to hit just at state tournament time.

"This is our best score of the year and we looked as good as the score indicates."

Elk Grove's Gene Christensen was fighting the flu bug and a temperature of 102 but the Grenadier senior took individual titles in free ex, high bar, P-Bars, still rings and all-around.

The Grens total of 142.79 easily bested runner-up Maine East, who totaled 113.50. Forest View was third at 98.84.

"Once Gene started to work up a sweat," said Elk Grove coach Fred Gaines, "he started to feel better and hit well in the later events."

The Grens got support from side horse champion Tim Connelly and Dan Wudtke, who finished second in the all-around with a 6.83 average.

The Bison's Dewey Deal lost the all-around battle to Mundelein's Jeff Martin but he took the P-Bars title with an 8.35.

Buffalo Grove got individual titles from Fred Bista (free ex), Lee Battaglia (high bar) and Mark Farrington (still rings).

Hawks lose 76-69 at Waubonsee

Special to the Herald

Despite 21 points from Wally Butman and 18 more from Scott Green, the Harper Hawks dropped a 76-69 verdict in junior college cage action at Waubonsee late Thursday.

The defeat came in the Hawks' final N4C game and left their record at 5-9 in league play, including a forfeit win over Illinois Valley in a game that was played in December. Illinois Valley won the game, but an ineligible player forced them to forfeit.

"I don't think we were ready for this game mentally," said Harper cage coach Roger Bechtold, whose Hawks are already looking ahead to Monday's first-round Juco tournament contest against Wright J.C. "We just didn't play with any enthusiasm."

The Hawks, whose over-all record stands at 12-15, overcame a six-point halftime deficit and traded the lead several times in the second half. But Waubonsee controlled the boards and outshot the Hawks to pull out the victory.

"We came out not doing the things we ordinarily do well," Bechtold lamented. "We weren't thinking. We were missing those easy shots under the basket. Then we started executing in the second half."

Harper's all-time single-game scoring champ, Jim Arden (Palatine H.S.), got in early foul trouble and contributed just 10 points.

St. Viator, deSales meet

The St. Viator cagers continue their second season tonight when they visit St. Francis deSales High School for an 8 p.m. contest.

Fresh from a one point victory over third place St. Patrick's last weekend, the new Lions are now 7-5 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference, one game behind 8-4 St. Pat's.

It took a 27-point fourth quarter effort by the Lions to whip deSales earlier in the season, 78-69 in a game highlighted by Steve Notaro's 30-point performance for St. Viator.

But the win was also the start of better fortunes for the Lions on the hardcourt. Since that game with deSales, the Lions are 5-3, with two losses coming by one point each.

DeSales is 2-10 in conference play this year, and is struggling to stay out of the league cellar. The Pioneers also sport the worst defense in the league, giving up 877 points in 12 games for an average of 73 points per game.

Kingman bids for 'Superstars' title

Dave Kingman, the Prospect High School graduate now playing professional baseball for the New York Mets, will join 14 other finalists Sunday in Rotonda, Fla. for the concluding competition of ABC Sports' "The Superstars."

Key events will be televised live from Florida, starting at 1 p.m. on Channel 7, as stars of the sports world compete for total prize money of $122,000.

A total of 15 finalists, including Kingman, who qualified in earlier trials will compete in seven out of 10 events other than their sports specialty. The events are: tennis, rowing, swimming, bowling, weightlifting, baseball hitting, 100-yard dash, half-mile run, obstacle course and bicycle race.

Among the athletes who have qualifed in earlier preliminary rounds are Olympic decathlon Gold Medalist Rafer Johnson; Lynn Swann, most valuable player in Super Boxl X; world record shotputter Brian Oldfield; ABA Commissioner Dave DeBusschere; soccer Kyle Rote, Jr., the 1974 "Superstars" champ; Mike Schmidt of the Philadelphia Phillies; reigning pro-skiing champion Hank Kashiwa; Olympic track and field great Ralph Boston; Mr. Universe Lou Ferrigno; Tucker Frederickson, former pro football running back; Bob Rigby of the New York Cosmos soccer team; champion hurdler David Hemery; and water skier Wayne Grimdith.

VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT

Public Notice

PROPOSED HIGHWAY PROJECT
REQUEST FOR DESIGN APPROVAL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all interested persons that Design Approval for the improvement of the Illinos Route 83 S-Curve has been requested from the Federal Highway Administration.

The approximate limits of this improvement are on Route 83 from Shabonee Trail north to Milburn Avenue; and on Lincoln Street from Elmhurst Avenue east to Main Street. This improvement is in substantial conformance with the plan approved by the Village Board on September 16, 1975.

The improvement will consist of widening Route 83 to 48-feet from Shabonee Trail to the curve at Elmhurst Road and Lincoln Street. At Lincoln Street, the pavement will be widened to allow for four 12-foot thru lanes, one 10-foot auxiliary lane, and a 2-foot mountable median. Lincoln Street between the two curves will be 44-feet wide, edge to edge; as will the section of Main Street between the second curve and Milburn Avenue. Superelevation will be provided thru the curves. The existing one-way legs of Elmhurst Road and Lincoln Street will be removed and replaced with a new four-lane pavement. This new pavement will be 44-feet wide and will connect the Lincoln Street-Elmhurst Avenue intersection with Illinois Route 83. The intersection formed by this roadway and Route 83 will be signalized.

The proposed improvement will also include construction of new pavement, concrete curb and gutter, median channelization, new traffic and school crossing signals, sidewalk, drainage structures and appurtenances highway lighting, and all other work necessary to complete the improvements in accordance with approved plans and specifications.

No right-of-way acquisition will be required for this improvement. Maps, drawings and other information developed by the Village of Mount Prospect in conjunction with this project, and any written views received as a result of coordination with other agencies are available for public inspection and copying at the Village of Mount Prospect, 100 South Emerson, Mount Prospect, Illinois on Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m., and from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Information is also available by telephone at the Village of Mount Prospect Engineering Department at 392-6000 during the same hours.

By Order of:
DONALD W. GOODMAN
Village Clerk

Public Notice

The Federal Insurance Administrator, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 P.L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1917 (Section 1917.4 (a)) hereby gives notice of his proposed determinations of flood elevations for the Village of Mt. Prospect, Cook County, Illinois.

Under these Acts, the Administrator, to whom the Secretary has delegated the statutory authority, must develop criteria for flood plain management in identified flood hazard areas. In order to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program, the village must adopt flood plain management measures that are consistent with the flood elevations determined by the Secretary.

Proposed flood elevations (100-year flood) are listed below for selected locations. Maps and other information showing the detailed outlines of the flood-prone areas and the proposed flood elevations are available for review at the Village Clerk's office, 112 East Northwest Highway, Mt. Prospect,, Illinois.

Any person having knowledge, information, or wishing to make a comment on these determinations should immediately notify Robert D. Teichert, Mayor, 112 East Northwest Highway, Mt. Prospect 60056. The period for comment will be ninety days following the second publication of this notice in a newspaper of local circulation in the above-named community or ninety days from publication of this notice in the Federal Register, whichever is the later.

The proposed 100-year Flood Elevations are:
